The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 14, 1870.

CONGRESS:

Senate.—In executive session, Monday, the nomination of Vice Admiral Porter to be Admiral was debated; Senators Drake, Nye and Morton favored and Senators Edmunds and Trumbull opposed it. While the question was being discussed, a message from the House announced that they had passed a bill abolishing the office of Admiral. It is said the vote on the proposed confirmation of Admiral Porter would have been close. The Senate adjourned without acting on it.

House.—The bill providing for the repeal of the tenure of office act—157 to 25.

Mr. Logan's bill abolishing the rank of admiral and also the rank of vice-admiral when a vacancy should occur, came up according to notice. Mr. Logan moved a suspension of the rules and the passage of the bill. On this quite a spicy debate sprung up, which was permitted by unanimous consent. Mr. Logan claimed that this bill put the navy in the same condition as the army. He said the navy, with but 8000 men, had sixteen admirals and commodores, ranking with generals in the army.

Gen. Butler said that as allusion had been made to a letter of Admiral Porter, it was not improper that he should refer to it a moment. If gratitude were to control his vote he should give it in favor of Porter for writing that letter. He had put before the country a piece of evidence for which he (Butler) was deeply grateful. It showed that the army commander of the Fort Fisher expedition was never to succeed. Still he could not believe that it was the duty of Congress to keep open the grade of admiral even for the sake of having such good letters written as the two to which reference had been made. [Laughter] He desired to know whether it was worth while to have an admiral of the navy who could not, for two days together, utter the same sentiments; whether it was worth while to have an admiral who one day maligned and another day hugged his commander.

He could easily understand why the President took no notice of Admiral Porter's letters. They were personal to him, too; but was that the man to put in the place of the sainted, noble and brave Farragut? Was that the man to put as an example before the youth of the navy? Were they to behold that a naval officer could at one moment praise his commander, and at another moment malign him; that he might at one moment write a sycophantic letter to the Secretary of the Navy, to get promotion and power, and at the same time abuse a man not then in power; and when that letter was brought forward, to turn around and abuse the poor Secretary, who is not now in power, so as to gain the favor of a person [President] in power? Was that why men should be promoted in the navy? Was that the example they were to set before the youth of the country.

A brave, frank, open-hearted sailor, who died [referring to Farragut], had with his dying lips said to his attendants, "Never more raise that flag over me. Carry it before my coffin,—that flag which has been imposed by the man who expects to be my successor." As a friend and associate of Farragut, he [Butler] protested in the face of the country that Congress should not step aside to tax the people for the purpose of putting honor upon a man who had dishonored the President and had dishonored the navy. [Excitement.]

The bill was passed by a two thirds' vote, without a division.

THE WAR.—The French hold Brie, Champigny, Creteuil, Mont d'Adron and Ducrati. The army was at Vincennes on the 6th. The next sortie will probably be on the north side, along Soissons railway. The loss of the French was 6780 and of the Germans 8000, in the battle of the Loire exceeds 7000.

The government of the national defence removes to Bordeaux.

The French request for an armistice has been withdrawn, (one dispatch says the rumors of it were utterly unfounded,) and the French will continue to fight.

A battle has taken place at Beaugency, where the army of the Loire, recently reinforced, was defeated and driven back, losing 1500 prisoners and six guns; Beaugency a and several other towns were taken by the Prussians.

—An Illinois editor says:—"Trying to do business without advertising is like winking in the dark; you are keeping up a powerful winking, but nobody else has any idea of it.

New Hampshire Items.

Mr. E. N. Cummings of Colebrook is burning lime, an almost inexhaustible source of supply having been found less than two miles from the village.

Messrs. Davis & Thayer are putting new machinery into their gold mill in Lisbon, having contracted for fifteen hundred tons of ore. E. C. Stevens & Co. are going into the same business on the other side of the river.

A little girl named Foley was lately very painfully burned in Keene, says the Republican, and is likely not to recover. A spark caught in her clothes.

Joseph Jolly of Keene is wrongly named, for, even if he did get merry on liquor a few evenings since, he came home cross and had a row with his wife, and when his little daughter stepped in as peacemaker, seized the girl by the arm with a vice like-grasp, at the same time twisting her arm till he broke it below the elbow, making a very bad fracture. He is now in the county jail.

Snow drifts, three or four feet deep, may be seen on the Jefferson and Randolph roads.

On the 9th, in Great Falls, Adnis Doin, a French lad aged about fourteen, got caught in a belt and was drawn between the ceiling and machinery so violently as to kill him forthwith.

George Barstow, Esq., formerly a lawyer at Manchester, is mentioned as the republican candidate for governor of California.

Mr. C. E. L. Hayward of Hancock has the largest crop, in the apple line, that we have heard of this season. He has harvested twenty-five hundred bushels, over a quarter of which was grafted fruit.

At the S. J. Court, in Concord, Chief Justice Bellows delivered an opinion that the owner of adjoining land upon one side of a fence, which has been legally divided between him and the owner of adjoining improved land upon the other side of the fence, may throw a part of his land in common, and thereby discharge himself from the burden of maintaining the fence opposite that part thus thrown in in common; and that such action by one of the adjoining owners, would render a new division of the remainder of the division of fence compellable by the other adjoining owner.

The Patriot says the friends of Hon. Harry Hibbard do not regard him as afflicted with any organic mental derangement, but simply a temporary affection produced by nervous prostration arising from physical and exhausting professional labors.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS IN MASSACHUSETTS.—Boston gave Gaston, Democratic and Citizens candidate for Mayor, 11,013 votes; Carpenter, Republican, 7968. Gaston's plurality, 3045. The Board of Aldermen and Common Council are Republican. We notice the re-election of S. R. Niles, the well known advertising agent, from Ward 6. He received every vote cast, for Councilman.

Lowell chose a citizens' candidate Mayor by the following vote:—Sherman, citizens', 2249, Stott, Republican, 1733. Sherman's majority, 516.

Newburyport elected Elbridge Kelly, Democrat, for Mayor, by 20 majority over Mayor Couch, the present (Republican) incumbent.

Lynn gave Walden for Mayor, 1883; Buffum 1870.

Lawrence chose a Republican Mayor and City Council last week.

☞ John Brooks Pratt, the original "John Brooks" of Miss Alcott's "Little Women," died in Maplewood, East Malden, Mass., on Saturday last, at the age of 37 years. He had been for ten years the bookkeeper for the Central Iron Foundry, which position he occupied at the time of his death. He was a man of excellent character, greatly beloved by his employers, and all with whom he was connected. In all respects he was beyond reproach. As a business man he was conscientious almost to a fault; as a friend and a Christian, he was devoted, earnest and praiseworthy.

AMPUTATION OF THE THIGH.—Dr. John Ferguson performed the above surgical operation last Saturday in presence of Dr. G. A. Crosby and others, on a boy aged 11 years, residing in the Kidder block. The operation was necessitated from extensive scrofulous disease of the knee joint and surrounding tissues, which commenced 7 years ago, finally becoming so formidable as to require removal of the limb at the upper thigh.—Manchester Union.

☞ "Abdallah Chief," the famous stallion, owned by Peter Voorhees, of Munroe, N. J., died on Saturday night from an unknown disease. He was valued at $15,000.

—The year 1871 will begin on Sunday and end on Sunday so that there will be fifty-three Sundays.

—A gentleman from York informs us that along the sea shore the probability of a shore line, an extension of the Knox & Lincoln road and E. & N. A. road through to Boston, is canvassed. Such a line following the sea shore to Portsmouth east of Agamenticus would open the finest "watering places" on the coast of Maine. Our shore towns should consider it a financial duty to encourage the improvement of their shore attractions and advantages. Biddeford Journal.

☞ Senator Drake has been nominated and confirmed as chief justice of the court of claims.

TRANSPLANTING. — The frozen-ball method of removing ornamental trees is preferred by many to all others for some purposes. It is well adapted to evergreens growing wild, if they are of much size. In order that it may be easily and expeditiously performed, preparation should be made in autumn or before the ground freezes hard, by digging a trench in the shape of a circle about every tree a foot deep, or as far down as the frost penetrates; and then filling these trenches with dead leaves, which are always abundant at this time of year in the borders of woods or wherever these trees are sought.

The leaves will prevent the trenches from freezing in winter, and the earth within them being frozen hard, the trees are easily loosed and tipped over, and may then be readily transferred to sleds and conveyed to their place of destination, where holes, dug at the same time that the trenches were made, and similarly filled with leaves if convenient, or left open and frozen, may receive them. If holes and balls are both frozen hard, and are nearly equal in size, the first thaw will soften the ball and give it a close fit. But it is rather better to keep the hole unfrozen, so that the ball may be snugly imbedded in the mellow earth when placed there. For well rooted nursery trees this mode is not applicable: but we have found it well adapted to the removal of evergreens from the borders of woods in winter, when the work could be more deliberately attended to than during the busy period of spring. Country Gentleman.

—The Courier-Journal of Louisville says: "Two boot-blacks were passing up Jefferson street last evening, when one accosted the other with, 'I say, Jack, 'f I's you I be ashamed of myself, picking up old second handed chaws terbacker!' 'Tend to your own business,' retorted Jack. 'I guess this is good enough to learn on.'" —The measles are in Brigham Young's family. It is unnecessary to add there are not enough to go around, and several dozen are left without a measle.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Faith Well Founded.

In old times, at the commencement of every season, it was the fashion to take a strong cathartic as a safeguard against a change of temperature. It was a worse than senseless practice. The people of our day understand the matter better. Instead of depleting the system they reinforce it. In the method they adopt they exhibit a wise discrimination. Instead of resorting to the vitiated stimulants of commerce, or any of the compounds derived from them, they put their faith in the only absolutely pure invigorant procurable in the market—HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Their faith is well founded. Never has any tonic medicine been prepared with such scrupulous precision and conscientious care. It is a vegetable compound of which every ingredient is sound, wholesome, and medicinal in the true sense of the word. Now, we have three prominent national complaints. One-half of the adult population of the United States suffer more or less, either from diseases of the stomach, derangements of the liver, or affections of the kidneys. In no other land under Heaven are these maladies so general as in this country, and Hostetter's Bitters is a specific for them all, unless organic in their origin, and, therefore, beyond cure. And let those who are fortunate enough to be exempt from them at present understand one great fact, viz: that an occasional use of this vitalizing tonic will as certainly prevent them as the sun will prevent the earth from freezing where its genial beams depend. dawlwd10

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach the case, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

Communication.

THE PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY.—Owing to the very small number which have attended the Philharmonic rehearsals since it was decided to hold them Sunday evenings, it is feared the organization must disband unless there is more interest shown.—Journal.

As the above item would seem to convey the impression that the collapse of the Philharmonic Society (which I take to be fully accomplished) was due to the change of the time for meeting to Sunday evening, and as I was one of the advocates of that change, permit me, Messrs. Editors, a little space for a correction. The fact is, that the chorus has not attended in full numbers since the opening of the season, and the evening of meeting was changed from one day to another in an endeavor to get the chorus together, without avail,—the conductor, pianist, orchestra and some twelve or more singers, generally having to run the concern; and the only full rehearsal of the season was the first one that took place on a Sunday evening. Some have suggested that the music selected for practice was too difficult; but this is a poor reason for failure. Others say that personal jealousy had much to do with it; but this is a worse reason still than the former—and if true, proves that the Society had already lived too long. I have my own opinion as to the reason of the unexpected and unfortunate fizzle of the organization, but do not choose to give it here; but that reason most certainly was not the meeting on Sunday evenings to rehearse sacred music. Our Correspondence.

RYE, Dec. 12.

There was a large attendance at the Vestry Saturday evening, the occasion being an old folks' sing under the direction of Mr. Warner, who is teaching a singing school at that place. The Ancient Harmony Revived was the book used, and for a first attempt, the affair was very encouraging; and it is proposed to meet every Saturday evening until farther notice, to sing the old tunes, the sterling merit of which is so much superior to those of modern date. All old singers are cordially invited to attend, and it is proposed to have a melodeon to accompany, in addition to the orchestra already organized, and which rendered efficient service at the first sing.

For a week or two past, there has been gossip enough for everybody to talk about more or less, the most important being the case which was before your Police Court, on Friday last. So many different versions of the affair are in circulation that it is difficult to arrive at the true state of the case, but one thing seems to be pretty certain, that there was considerable of a fight somewhere, and that two or three individuals got bruised about the head more or less. Opinions differ as to the parties most to blame, but one thing seems to be certain; the parties from Boston finally got the goods they were after, which would seem to show that they had a right to them. It is such an uncommon thing among us to settle matters by resorting to knock down arguments, that the affair has naturally created a great deal of talk; but one common report, that the individual convicted of assault and battery, and fined for his display of the pugilistic art, was a professional prize fighter sent down on purpose to thrash anybody who should attempt to prevent the removal of the furniture, is undoubtedly false.

A short time before the above exciting case occurred, a little thing happened of different import; but which still furnished food for gossip. It happened somewhat in this wise. A young man, who like many other young men, goes somewhere on Sunday nights, was very much surprised on preparing to go home, to find that one of the wheels of his buggy (which he had left standing in front of the house) was missing; and a casual search, with no one to help him, (it being probably at an hour when but very few persons were stirring) failed to discover the missing article. Of course a buggy won't go on three wheels in any kind of shape, and so it was got into a place out of sight, and the young man borrowed a wagon to go home in. The report of the loss was pretty well circulated before folks had got done washing Monday morning, but a search all up and down the road, including a thorough examination of the inside of a school house failed to bring to light the lost wheel, and it was several days before it was discovered, and then by accident. Since then, the young man goes to see his lady love on foot. R.

With Fate Against Him is the title of a new book received from Sheldon & Co., written by Amanda M. Douglas. It is absorbingly interesting and is neatly printed, as are all the publications from the enterprising house of Sheldon & Co., of New York. A look at the interior of the book is sufficient to determine on its purchase. For sale by Jos. H. Foster.

—A Philadelphia man bought an elephant at auction, and she tore down $500 worth of stable for him the first night.

—"What's the difference between the North Pole and South Pole?" "Why, all the difference in the world," replied a lady unwittingly; and that's the answer.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents,—in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier

THE
CENTRAL RAILROAD
OF IOWA,
Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.
NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.
☞This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.
ONE MILLION
—OF THE—
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS
of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of 90 and Accrued Interest.
Among their advantages are—
1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.
2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.
3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.
4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.
5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.
6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.
7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.
We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.
Subscriptions will be received in PORTSMOUTH by

Treasurer Rockingham 10 Cents Savings Bank,

DR. STRAIT'S
"PATENT FLEXIBLE EDGE."
With this FLEXIBLE EDGE the suction of atmospheric plates can be made so strong, that the patient cannot remove the plate without instruction; and yet there is no irritation or soreness in the roof of the mouth. The patient can easily bite apples, pears, any fruit or meats, or any part of the plate or teeth without disturbing the suction, or equilibrium of the plate in any manner. The usual annoyance, such as lowering and dropping of the Plate by reason of sneezing, eating, &c., are entirely obviated. It matters not how flat the palate may be, or how irregular the mouth, or how few the natural teeth to articulate with, the result is the same—
Perfect Satisfaction in Every Case
Those persons now wearing Artificial Teeth, which have not proved useful or satisfactory, can have this valuable improvement added to their Plates at short notice by calling upon DR. GOODALL, who owns the entire right for Portsmouth and vicinity.
GOODALL'S "SPRING PLATE,"
For Partial Sets of teeth has been highly successful. The demand for it constantly increasing.
DR. STRAIT'S "FLEXIBLE EDGE"
Can be applied to
Goodall's Spring Plate,
With Complete Success.
DR. GOODALL will be happy to give particular information concerning the above, to his Patients and the Public, and he solicits the most difficult cases to prove what he has stated.

six or eight in number, still lingered around the dinner-table, he arose, and, as if in reply to some gay remark of his vis-a-vis, cried, jestingly:

"Hear! O, noble gentlemen, hear! William de Graiville, gentleman, of Sussex, England, hath fairly won ten guineas of me, Edward Randolph—a wager between us in the case of the King versus Fanaticism; and certes, gentlemen, his majesty may well look grave, when his royal authority, vested in the person of our excellent host here, is thus trampled upon by a crop-eared, psalm-singing knave; unless, indeed," he added, with a laugh, "the merrie monarch be more inclined to consider the crestfallen condition of our puissant selves as an especial provocation to mirth, which I think the most likely."

"Then, by the Lord that liveth!" exclaimed the governor, in a burst of ungovernable anger, "his majesty will be the only one who will care to laugh twice, at least where Edward Cranfield is concerned. As for this old priest, he shall soon find that he is not in heaven, saint though he claimed to be. I will put him where his treasonable discourses will find fewer listeners!"

For a moment deep silence followed this speech, for they felt that his excellency was in no mood of joking. Then one of the eldest of his guests, whose moderate counsels had often saved him from rash deeds, remarked:

"But we must not forget that this Puritan is also an Englishman. We must prove this treason before we punish him."

"O, that is easily enough done!" said one of the younger guests. "Here is Vane, who spent some months at his house. He can give us proof by the bushel, I dare say."

"Yes, speak out, Vane. What treasonable homilies did old Crop-ear preach to you?" cried another, laughing.

"And so betray the man to whom, perhaps, I owe my life. Never! even were he guilty of the charge," replied the young man, rising, while his beautiful mouth, in which there was a singular blending of strength and indecision, grew rigid with indignant scorn. "And, believe me, gentlemen," he added, more calmly, "Mr. Moody, when I knew him, was a kind, well-educated, generous-hearted man, though deeply imbued with the spirit of his faith, I grant. He spoke to me openly, as if I had been his own son, and, during my whole stay under his roof, I heard nothing which could be construed into treason against his majesty or the realm."

"Perhaps, among his gifts, he had that of prophecy also, and foresaw that the day might come when you would really stand in that filial relation to him. 'Tis said the old man has a pretty daughter. Eh, Vane?" said another.

"By the mass, Darcy, your shaft has hit home," cried de Graiville, seeing the mounting color on Vane's cheek. "No need to blush, Vane; I saw the damsel to-day, and she is fair enough to be worth the trouble of winning. I give you fair warning that I am going to enter the lists with you; but remember that I never woo par amours. I grave her a look to-day; and Randolph's ten guineas to a crown-piece that I succeed, notwithstanding your advantage of previous acquaintance. Your saints are never quite sound at the core."

"Rascal!" exclaimed Vane, choking with indignation, as he aimed a wine-glass at de Graiville's head. But his arm was suddenly caught back, and the voice of the gentleman who a few moments before had sought to moderate the governor's anger, whispered in his ear, as he drew him aside,—

"Rash blood, young man; though I grant you had just cause."

For some moments the room was in confusion, when the governor, as the shortest way of settling a temporary peace proposed adjourning to the drawing-room. But the syren tones and marked preference of the honorable Eleanor Meredith had lost their fascination for Frederic Vane that evening. His mind, for some weeks occupied by her, was now thoroughly roused, and his thoughts busy with the past.

Hitherto, we have said little of young Vane's personal appearance, and, perhaps, we may as well briefly describe it, inasmuch as it was a fair index to his character. His face was just such a one as ever wins the love of young and trustful hearts,—full of rich, sensuous beauty; that peculiar moulding of feature and expression which, by self-culture and careful training, may be developed into the noblest form of manly beauty, or, by indolence and self-excess, degenerate into mere sensualism. There was no lack of intellect; and, with the whole energy of his nature aroused by the events of the evening, perhaps he never looked more worthy of admiration than on the night of which we speak, as he sat in thoughtful silence by the side of the fair English lady.

As he was crossing the gallery towards his own room, late that night, a servant overtook him, saying that the governor requested a few moments' private conversation with him. He turned to his excellency's private room, and met, not the angry, baffled ruler, but the smooth, polished courtier of the reign of Charles I.

After some desultory remarks, and a graceful allusion to and apology for his own want of self-control at the dinner-table, the governor laid his hand on a pile of letters, and said:

"I have had no opportunity to speak to you of the contents of your mother's letters. She says that the death of her only male relative and guardian has left me, her distant cousin, your natural friend and adviser, and wishes me to procure for you some situation which may be adapted to your talents. I am willing to do this, as much for your sake as hers. Your natural abilities are good, my influence at court not small. With such grounds to start from, it will be your own fault if you do not reach a high round on fame's ladder. Only be wary and prudent, boy, and let me hear no more of such brawls as that we have just witnessed. Indeed, I much commend your spirit, but, as a general thing, quarrels are impolitic. If de Graiville challenges you, as most likely he will, you must meet him; but, henceforth, quarrel only when it will further your ends better than peace. And you are young and handsome,"—he added, smiling, "marry well. Methinks you had one by your side this evening who would not need much wooing. Add her wealth to my influence and your talent, and your way is clear. By Jove, boy, if you show one half the spirit in wooing my ward, Eleanor, that you did tonight in defending that old rebel, she will be yours in a fortnight! As to his daughter, let de Graiville woo her as he lists. It is naught to us."

Alas for the vanity and worldliness of the human heart! Where was the high and noble spirit that had hurled defiance at de Graiville a few hours before? Chilled by the cold breath of worldly wisdom, until long before he again sought his own room, the gentle memory of Sibyl, which had been so surely drawing him back to her side during the evening hours, had faded before the fitful glare that gleamed from the ambitious path which the governor's words had opened.

Concluded in our next.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these Bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 40 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

A HOME PICTURE.

By Albert Laighton.

The tough-drawn picture that I show to-night,
Is painted from no vague and false ideal;
And, seen by Memory's soft and mystic light,
The shadow may once more appear the real.

A somewhat curious portrait:—statue, tall;
High forehead, hazel eyes, nose slightly Roman;
Mouth large, chin sharp.—well, take him all in all,
His counterpart I think you'll find in no man.

A battered hat he wore;—Ah! in my time
I've seen all sorts, worn by all sorts of people;
Hats native-born, and hats from every clime;
High crown and low, broad brim, bell-top and steeple;

'Twas none of these—a something strange and rare;
No shape, no name, no history and no number;
No nap, of course; indeed, 'twas finished are
Some generous giver broke its attic slumber.

It had no brim; or, if a brim at all,
So very narrow, one would hardly know it;—
'Twas like the cornice over your "City Hall,"
Too fragile for the heavy frame below it.

A threadbare coat, long-tailed, cerulean blue;
What magic power held warp and woof together
Year after year, no mortal ever knew;
And yet 'twas proof against the stormiest weather.

Perchance 'twas woven in the happy days [it
When shoddy was unknown; when they who made
Gained honest bread—at least, no summer rays,
No winter blast, nor Time could tear or fade it.

Its two brass buttons, set no high behind
They seemed like longing eyes to the beholder,
Unwearied in the hopeless task to find
A perfect lookout just above each shoulder.

The pantaloons of gray, six yards or less,
Cut very short, and somewhat loose and flowing;
Half-mast they looked, a signal of distress,
The huge brogans conspicuously showing;

That trudged behind a wheelbarrow all the day;—
His only means to gain a scanty living—
'Tis ruined now—gone like the "one hoss shay,"
No semblance of its grand proportions giving.

A quiet smile played ever round his mouth;
A kindly word he had for lord or peasant;
Blow high, blow low, when floods came, or in drouth;
Blue skies or black; with him 'twas always "pleasant."

In life's mysterious chain he seemed to be
A rusty link between the past and present;—
In their philosophy men did not see
The deeper meaning of that one word, "pleasant."

Who knew what bright hopes sank in deep eclipse,
What weary hours were his, what pain and trial,
Before it fell so often from his lips—
What resignation, and what self-denial?

Who cared to know? Enough that he was poor—
And poverty is sometimes called transgression—
So, when they led him to the workhouse door,
He gave them thanks in that one quaint expression,

Quite willing there to expiate his crime,
Till flesh should fail, and spirit seek expansion;
Content to live, yet waiting for the time
When Death should lead him to the heavenly mansion!

And when the summons came, he calmly smiled,
And crossed his thin, worn hands in trust and meekness,
And fell asleep like some o'er-wearied child,
To wake no more in want, and pain, and weakness

LIFE AMONG THE SAGEBRUSH.—The boys of the sagebrush of Nevada are a rare and jovial set. They are gathered from all quarters of the globe, and seem to affiliate among themselves better than any set of men in the world—there is no aristocracy or high-toned bloods. The honest miner, with his dinner bucket in hand, greets the talented lawyer or the superintendent of the richest mining claim as his equal in every respect; and it would be aristocrat or swell come among us and put on frills, and he will find it the most disagreeable place under the canopy of heaven. A few days ago the trustees—in San Francisco—of one of the richest mines in this place, sent up one of those high-toned clerks with tight breeches, pomatumed hair, kid gloves, etc.—in fact, he was an exquisite. Some of the boys who are full of fun saw him, viewed him, and came to the conclusion that he would be a good boy to initiate. They easily got him a little tight, "kettled" him, blacked his face, took the starch out of him generally, and shipped him back to San Francisco, marked C. O. D. Moral: Big San Francisco companies had better send men who have seen more of the world—had more experience in this but partially settled portion of the globe to take charge of their affairs.—Ely Record.

TOO MUCH SO.—Speaking of election expenses, Harper's Weekly says that, if the honest man is rich and is elected, very well. He will be paid a twentieth part of what he has spent. If he is poor and is elected, and has borrowed the money for the campaign, and must leave his business, to be paid some two or three dollars at the Legislature, is not this honesty exposed to a considerable strain? If, on the other hand, he is not an honest man, and has spent five or ten thousand dollars to secure the chance of being paid three dollars a day, he will make the three dollars three hundred a day if he possibly can. Thus the small sums paid for the public service, and the enormous expenses to the candidate of a canvass, allow only the rich or dishonest to hold office.

REMEDY FOR "POISON IVY."—Dr. Griffith, of Louisiana, writes to the Boston Journal of Chemistry, giving his method of treatment for persons afflicted with the touch of what is known as "poison ivy." We give his mode of procedure, with the suggestion that it might be found efficacious in poisoning from the poison oak of California: Dr. Griffith covers the inflamed parts thickly with an ointment of sulphate of quinine and lard—as much of the quinine being taken up by the lard as possible. His success has been uniform, and as the cure is a simple one, and within the power of every body troubled with the poisoning to have constantly on hand, it is worth trying in cases of inflammation from the poison oak.

TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

THURSDAY, DEC. 15, 1870.

CONGRESS:

In the Senate, Tuesday, the great feature in the proceedings was the sensation caused by the joint resolution offered by Senator McCreery, and the remarks which his astonishing proposition called forth from both sides of the House. The subject matter of the resolutions involved the removal of the remains of 17,000 Union soldiers, in order that General Lee's widow might live on the Arlington estate! There was an exciting scene in the Senate during the debate on the resolution. That, together with McCreery's speech, aroused the hearty indignation of the whole Senate, and one Senator after another rebuked Mr. McCreery in scathing words, after which the resolution was refused admittance—59 to 4. Mr. Patterson of New Hampshire denounced the offer to rake up the bones of our valiant dead in order to prepare a home for one who fled from it, even before her husband, as an insult to the country. He said that General Lee had spit upon the nation's flag and hurled defiance in the face of the nation, and the request that was now made in behalf of his memory would, if granted, be an outrage upon decency. Even the Democratic Senators were astounded at the magnificent insolence of the Kentucky Senator's proposal.

In the House, General Butler presented the petitions of the Gloucester fisherman for protection against Canadian spoliation, and asked consent to have it read before reference; and it is an evidence of the general interest in the subject that the usual custom of the House in such matters was departed from. The postal bill came up again, and Mr. Hill's amendment abolishing the franking privilege was adopted, after being modified so as to except exchange of newspapers and the circulation of the same within the county where published, and the bill was passed.

In the House, Wednesday, Mr. Morrill of the Committee on Manufactures, reported a bill to provide for celebrating the 100th anniversary of American Independence by an International Exhibition of American and foreign arts, manufactures and products, to be held in Philadelphia.

THE ADMIRAL.—At the last session of Congress, there was a great deal of smoke to a very little fire—much talk and little action. This session (although the amount of business done before the holidays is generally but trifling,) the House af Representatives has done one good thing indeed, in the abolition of the office of Admiral by a decided vote. Whether the Senate will concur, or will confirm the nomination of David D. Porter to the position of Admiral, instead, is hard to say; but the House has done well, at all events.

The grade of Admiral was created—not to honor the gallant Farragut, (for no title could add to his honor,) but to express somewhat of the people's gratitude and affection for the man who stood firm as a rock on the side of the Union at a time when there was apparently but little to be gained by so doing, and who was ever foremost in facing danger and death in defence of his country. His honors and emoluments were well earned, and it was the will of the people that he should have them; but it is as decidedly the will of the people (judging from the general tone of the press and the action of the House of Representatives,) that Porter shall not have similar honors and emoluments—nor should he, for the haughty and over-bearing aristocrat can no more fill the place of the unassuming and simple-minded old sailor in the Navy, than he can in the hearts of the millions who loved and honored Farragut while he lived, and cherish his memory now that he has passed away. Vice-Admiral Porter may indeed be made an Admiral, but it is beyond the power of Congress to make him a Farragut.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL.—The Trustees of the State Normal School held at the State House Friday, the 9th, their second meeting to consider proposals for the location of this institution. An application was made by the city of Nashua and other towns for an extension of the time for receiving the proposals; and in accordance with this request, as larger grants were promised, it was voted to accept offers till January 10, 1871.

Proposals had been received already from Penacook Academy, at Fisherville, offering buildings, &c., valued at $20,000; from Appleton Academy, at Mont Vernon, of buildings and funds amounting to about $27,000; from Pinkerton Academy, at Derry, of buildings, &c., with an endowment of $20,000; from Walpole, of $30,000 from Levi Lyman, and from Walepole and Keene of $10,000 to $20,000, an aggregate of from $30,000 to $50,000.—Patriot.

THE REPUBLICAN CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION met at Dover Wednesday. The convention was called to order by Hon. William M. Weed of Sandwich. Col. Greenleaf Clark of Atkinson was chosen permanent chairman by acclamation; Henry Crowell of Londonderry and John Pender of Portsmouth were chosen secretaries. The following committee on credentials were appointed by the chair: Wm. P. Moses, Somersworth; Eli V. Brewster, Dover; Jos. B. Adams, Portsmouth; Jas. M. Davis, Plaistow; S. A. Haley, Newmarket; Nathaniel Hubbard, Tamworth; Geo. Marston, Sandown.

The following committee on resolutions were appointed: Geo. Marston, Sandown; Robt. C. Mack, Londonderry; John H. Locke, Portsmouth; A. S. Libbey, Wolfeboro'; A. J. Hoyt, Exeter; William B. Morrill, Exeter; John Hodgdon 2d, Portsmouth; Chas. Jones, Milton; Wm. T. Perkins, Dover; and John G. Cate, Wolfeboro', were appointed tellers, to assist in counting the votes.

Mr. Locke of Portsmouth moved that a committee be appointed to wait on Hon. John P. Hale and tender him the compliments of the Convention, and invite him to address them. The committee consisted of the following persons: John H. Locke, Portsmouth, W. S. Pillsbury, Londonderry, Henry Eastman, Derry. When Mr. Hale came the Convention went wild over the old standard-bearer as he stepped upon the platform. Mr. Hale spoke briefly, thanking the convention for their cordial greeting, and referring with just pride to his political career now brought to an end. He closed by saying, I hope we may all live honorably and pay our debt to nature with as much honor and fidelity as we do our own personal debts.

The Convention then took a recess to wait for the report of the committee on credentials, who were in session three hours. A trumped-up contest against the delegates from Ward One failed to succeed, the committee deciding that their credentials were correct. Stratham had a double delegation, one caucus having been called by the president and secretary of the executive committee, and the other by the whole committee. The committee on credentials voted to admit the latter, 5 to 2. Wm. P. Moses, chairman, presented the report of the majority of the committee, Geo. Marston of Sandown presenting a minority report. A motion to substitute the minority for the majority report was rejected, 103 to 70. The majority report was adopted, and the convention then proceeded to ballot for a candidate for Representative to Congress.

WAR NOTES.—Garibaldi has resigned his command, and will return to Italy.

A serious mutiny among the sailors of the French fleet is reported.

Several unimportant actions are reported, generally ending in Prussian successes.

There is great anxiety over the attitude of Russia, and a conflict is imminent.

Preparations are making for the occupation of Luxembourg by a Prussian army. The army of occupation is in motion and goes direct from Germany to Luxembourg. It is stated that England intends armed resistance against the encroachment of Prussia upon Belgium.

A MODEST DEMAND, indeed, was that of the copperhead Senator from Kentucky, (McCreery,) that the remains of the men who died in defence of the Union should be dug up and carted away in order that the widow of the greatest rebel general—and one of the greatest traitors—might live comfortably upon the Arlington estate, confiscated for her husband's treason,—such estate to be restored to her. No wonder that even the Deleware Senators, Saulsbury and Bayard, repudiated the "advanced democrat's" proposal, or that the Republican members gave him such a raking down.

Lee was not such a patriot nor were his services in the cause of the Union during the rebellion so great, as to entitle him to any extensive mark of regard from the government he was educated by and attempted to destroy, or from the relatives of the thousands of Union soldiers whom he did not attempt to save from being starved and tortured to death in Southern prison pens, when a remonstrance from him would have carried immense weight. After Government has restored the Arlington estate to the heirs of Lee, about all that will be left to do will be to make Jeff Davis President, give a good fat pension to John H. Surratt, brand Stanton and Lincoln as traitors, and build a noble monument to the memory of the assassin Booth,—and all these occurrences will take place at about the same time. Mercy was strained to the utmost when the rebel leaders' lives were spared; had a few hundreds of them been hung at the close of the war, it might have been quite as well for the country.

New Hampshire Items.

The late rains have only had the effect to check the falling of Lake Winnipisseogee and do not raise it a particle. It is now one inch below the Lake company's water guage, thirteen inches below low water mark, and five feet three inches lower than on April 15th.

☞ The strike of the Crispins in New York has failed. The men are returning to work, the manufacturers refusing to make any concessions, asserting that the prospects of trade will not justify them in restoring wages to the former standard.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Faith Well Founded.

In old times, at the commencement of every season, it was the fashion to take a strong cathartic as a safeguard against a change of temperature. It was a worse than senseless practice. The people of our day understand the matter better. Instead of depleting the system they reinforce it. In the method they adopt they exhibit a wise discrimination. Instead of resorting to the vitiated stimulants of commerce, or any of the compounds derived from them, they put their faith in the only absolutely pure invigorant procurable in the market—HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Their faith is well founded. Never has any tonic medicine been prepared with such scrupulous precision and conscientious care. It is a vegetable compound of which every ingredient is sound, wholesome and medicinal in the true sense of the word. Now, we have three prominent national complaints. One-half of the adult population of the United States suffer more or less, either from diseases of the stomach, derangements of the liver, or affections of the kidneys. In no other land under Heaven are these maladies so general as in this country, and Hostetter's Bitters is a specific for them all, unless organic in their origin, and, therefore, beyond cure. And let those who are fortunate enough to be exempt from them at present understand one great fact, viz: that an occasional use of this tonic regulant will as certainly protect them as the sun will prevent the earth from freezing where its genial beams depend. dawtwd10

Sold at his office for $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5, or sent by express to any part of the country. dawt2m9

NEW SUBSCRIBERS who now pay in full in advance, for the DAILY CHRONICLE or the N. H. GAZETTE, for the year 1871, will be furnished with either paper gratis until Jan.

☞ Gen. Wilson's lecture on "California," at the Methodist Church on State Street, this evening, will commence at half past 7 o'clock.

☞ The first of a series of entertainments by Osgood Lodge, I. O. of O. F., takes place this (Thursday) evening at Odd Fellows' Hall, and will consist of readings by Mr. John H. Leverton, with vocal music by a select choir under the direction of Mr. L. V. Newell.

☞ The British brig Village Belle, Capt. Thomas, arrived Wednesday from Lingan, C. B., after a month's passage. The captain reports the weather as being very heavy, and the passage the hardest he has had for twenty years; the brig was blown off the coast, and was with great difficulty saved.

☞ In another column will be found the advertisement of the New Orleans Female Minstrels, who will perform here on Monday next. There are a number of names familiar to amusement seekers in their list of members, and it is claimed that their entertainments are unexceptionable in point of character.

☞ The entertainment at the Temple this evening will no doubt draw a good audience, for Cal Wagner, as is well known, is able to give a pretty good show all by himself; in addition to which Harry Robinson and other notabilities in the comedy line will appear, and good music be discoursed by Haverly's band.

☞ We learn that as Dr. M. F. Wentworth of Kittery was riding down over Rice's Hill in Kittery Foreside, recently, the forward axle of his carriage broke, letting one side of the carriage down upon the ground and also throwing it forward upon the horse in such a manner as to cause him to run a number of rods, the doctor holding on to the carriage and the reins until he reached the foot of the hill, where he was thrown out, striking his head against the railing by the side of the road, the blow stunning him for a few moments. He kept a firm hold of the reins long enough, however, to not only stop his horse, but causing him to fall; and when the doctor recovered his senses he found his steed lying flat on his back, heels up, by the side of the road. We are glad to learn that Dr. W. sustained no serious injury, as he is attending to his duties as usual.

P. M. L. A.—James P. Bartlett, Esq., of this city, read Goldsmith's famous comedy "She Stoops to Conquer" before the Mercantile Association Lyceum, Tuesday evening; and if the closest attention, interrupted only by frequent bursts of irrepressible laughter, can be taken as an indication, it is safe to say that the rendering of the nice points of the play was appreciated and thoroughly enjoyed by every one present.

The reader very gracefully adapted expression and gesture to portray the individualism of the various persons introduced. The readiness with which he modulated his tones and changed his voice struck the listener with astonishment at the ventriloquial power displayed, the naturalness of characterization, and the ease with which he entered into the spirit of the plot; and the emphasis given to the "situations" kept the leading idea of the play clearly before the imaginations of those, even, who were not familiar with it.

The part of Mr. Hardcastle was admirably sustained, and in the laughable episode in which Tony Lumpkin figures so conspicuously one could almost see Mrs. Hardcastle issuing from the horse-pond; and her terror of highwaymen was well feigned. The interview between Charles Marlow, the bashful man, and Miss Hardcastle was truthfully presented. The scene with the Bar Maid was a decided success.

Mr. Bartlett may well feel proud of the attention and applause bestowed upon his reading, here in his native city, by an audience limited only by the capacity of the Temple. His captivating style pleases the cultivated ear, and touches the popular heart. We predict for him a brilliant career if he enters the field as a professional reader. He is especially happy in the choice of authors, and confines each evening's reading to one subject or play, thus keeping up a continued interest to the denouement. We hope to have an early opportunity of listening to the gentleman again.

☞ Wentworth Encampment, G. A. R., of Kittery, are giving a Course of Assemblies at Armory Hall in that town, in aid of their fund for assisting sick and destitute comrades. The dances are very popular with the young folks and with some of the older ones.

☞ Three boys, named John Blute, Daniel Farvey and William Sullivan, who were sent to the House of Correction on Saturday for stealing copper from the schooner J. P. Robinson, with three others, (Quinn, Gilligan, and another Sullivan,) escaped on Wednesday morning by climbing to a ventilator, which they knocked off and then got on the roof, slid down the roof to another building and then to the hog-pen, and thence to the ground. Superintendent Scott detected and captured three of the young rascals, and the City Marshal and Officer Entwistle caught the others. Blute and Quinn are two of the worst boys in the city, and the sooner they are hung the less harm they will do—for hung they are bound to be at some time, if they keep on as they are going.

WONDERFUL!—Phil Cooney has been sent to the New York State Prison for two years, for the murder of David O'Day; and Owen Hand, who murdered James O'Donnell last August, has been condemned to be hung. What is the world coming to? Soon there will be no protection for anybody in any place,—when murderers are no longer safe even in New York city.

☞ Manchester elected James A. Weston, democrat, as Mayor, on Tuesday. Three democrats and five republicans were chosen for Aldermen. The republicans have a large majority of the City Council and most of the ward officers. The contest was between free-rum and prohibition, and free rum won.

☞ The vote cast in Newburyport was the largest ever thrown at any election since the city was chartered, it having amounted on the mayor's vote, including the scattering, to just 2000, the largest in any previous year having been that of 1856, when the total was 1941.

☞ A Chinese Immigration Agency has been started in New York, to furnish cheap labor for manufacturers in the Middle and Eastern States.

☞ The Pacific Railroad robbers are on trial. Two of them have confessed their guilt, and will be used to give evidence against the others.

☞ A tobacco factory was burned on Avenue D. in New York, Tuesday morning, involving a loss of two lives and $150,000.

☞ The Chicago Times has been sued for libel by Mr. Crosby, of Crosby's Opera House. The damages are laid at $50.000.

☞ The wife of John Slidell, the rebel emissary to Great Britain during the war, died recently at Brighton, England.

☞ Robert E. Lannitz, the celebrated sculptor of New York city, was found dead in his bed, Tuesday morning.

☞ Ellen Burke, aged 105 years, was sent to Blackwell's Island by the commissioners of charities, Tuesday.

☞ The British Secretary of Legation at Pekin, China, announces that the natives are now quiet.

☞ Gen. Pleasanton was on Tuesday nominated to be Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

☞ California has had another earthquake. It didn't amount to much.

☞ Gold, Tuesday, 110 1-2.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents,—in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw some twenty or more lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but this is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly; therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my experience in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not: they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, when they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. The accomplished nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises his patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take the exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is so easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The test stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its harmful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have cramps or colic, two or four, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, or be free from bilious fever, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may drink rivers of water, and eat water-melons, pears, apples, plums, peaches, etc. without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fever. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 A.M. to 3 P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination will find it to their interest to disregard five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can really learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends very much upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, they can rest assured they bought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so much exposed to cold yet on the contrary, if lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, as a explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

CENTRAL RAILROAD
OF IOWA,
Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

☞ This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION
——OF THE——
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS
of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of 90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.
2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.
3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.
4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.
5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.
6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.
7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

Subscriptions will be received in PORTSMOUTH by

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1869.
ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,
With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 10 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.

Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of those organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

"PATENT FLEXIBLE EDGE,"
With this FLEXIBLE EDGE the suction of atmospheric plates can be made so strong, that the patient cannot remove the plate without instruction; and yet there is no irritation or soreness in the roof of the mouth. The patient can easily bite apples, pears, any fruit or meats, on any part of the plate or both without disturbing the suction, or equilibrium of the plate in any manner. The usual annoyance, such as loosening and dropping of the Plate by reason of sneezing, coughing, &c., are entirely obviated. It matters not how flat the palate may be, or how irregular the mouth, or how few the natural teeth to articulate with, the result is the same—
Perfect Satisfaction in Every Case
Those persons now wearing Artificial Teeth, which have not proved useful or satisfactory, can have this valuable improvement added to their Plates at short notice by calling upon DR. GOODALL, who owns the entire right for Portsmouth and vicinity.

A TALE OF THE COLONY TIMES.

CHAPTER V.

Day after day passed, and the light hope glimmered fainter and fainter in the heart of Sibyl Moody. The report of Frederic Vane's engagement to the lovely English lady became current among the townspeople, and, though she seldom trusted her lips with his name, she could not fail to hear it. Gradually came the conviction that she was forgotten, and with it that hour of withering anguish,—that bitter struggle when the young hearts finds, for the first time, that its cherished idols are false—its love and trust dishonored. It was a fearful trial—that feeling of utter desolation that settled upon her heart, congealing for a time its very life-blood. She met it alone, and alone she sought for strength to bear it. Though such struggles cannot be, and leave no trace upon the outward frame, her old father, more than usually occupied with the troubles of his society, happily failed to notice the growing pallor of her cheek or the unusual lassitude of her movements. They did not, however, escape the watchful eye of Aunt Merata; but she, kind soul, while she urged, nay, forced upon the maiden double doses of her syrups, could not, when she looked upon her bowed form and careworn face, bear to add to his anxiety.

One evening, as the old man turned with a heavier step than usual toward his study door, he suddenly paused and gazed for some seconds anxiously on the face of his child.

"Sibyl," he said at length, "I wish to speak with you in my study. Will you come?"

The glance and the words brought a deep blush to the maiden's cheek, as, with a mental prayer for strength to conceal her sufferings, she arose and followed him.

He took his arm-chair by the table, and, leaning his head on his hands, sat for some time as if occupied in silent prayer, while his daughter drew a low seat to his side, and, laying her head on his knee, as in the days of childhood, awaited his words.

"Sibyl," he said at length, passing his hand fondly over her hair, "thy father hath grown old and forgetful. In the trials and troubles with which it hath pleased Him to surround my age as well as my youth, I have forgotten that my child hath grown to womanhood. This day, Elder Hale hath reminded me of it, by asking thee in marriage for his son. He is a deserving youth, of a family rich in temporal blessings, but richer still, I trust, in the heavenly inheritance that awaiteth the servants of the Lord. What answer shall I make to this young man, my child?"

"O, send me not from you! Let me live and die with you, my father!" cried the poor girl, burying her face in her hands upon his knee, while every nerve in her fair neck twitched convulsively in her effort to suppress her emotion.

"I have no wish to send you from me, Sibyl; but sore trouble, imprisonment and perhaps death, await me. Listen, my child. This day the governor hath notified me that he, together with Mason and his follower Hinckes, will partake of the Lord's Supper with us next Sabbath; and, moreover, he requireth me to administer it according to the forms of the established church, with liturgy and vain repetitions. This, of course, I have wholly refused to do; therefore he hath the pretext against me which he hath long sought. Before another day he may drag me to prison, and though I know that He will not try me beyond my strength, yet thought of thee, my daughter,"—and, for the first time since he commenced speaking, the old man's voice grew tremulous,—"homeless and exposed to the snares of the spoiler, weakeneth my heart."

"Father," said Sibyl, raising her head from his knee, and speaking very earnestly, "could you be happier separated from your child?"

For a moment there was a struggle in the old man's heart, and the rigid lines about his mouth moved convulsively as he exclaimed, "Tempt me not, my child! O, tempt me not!"

"Then we part no more. This governor is human; he cannot forbid the child to share her father's fate. Let that be what it may, I will not shrink, if so be we may meet it together. But speak no more," and the enthusiasm, which for a moment had lit up her pale face, gave place to the expression of bitter suffering. "O, speak no more, I entreat of you, of this marriage!"

The old man bent over her, and for some moments his withered cheek rested upon her head, ere he trusted his voice in reply. At length he said, brokenly.

"It was not thy love nor thy devotion that I doubted; but," he added, slowly, "thou art fair, my Sibyl; thou hast thy mother's comely face, and I thought of my death, and the power of our enemies. Yet, surely, there is one among them who, forgetful as he seems, would not see thee wronged. I speak of Frederic Vane."

The quick, convulsive shudder that passed through the girl's frame shook even him, and for some moments he sat in bewildered surprise. Then the truth seemed suddenly to draw upon him. He raised her head in his trembling old hands, and gazed on her pale face for some moments, while his own grew tremulous with emotion. "My child, my poor child!" he murmured. That mournful tone was too much for Sibyl. The self-command that she had struggled to maintain gave way, and, hiding her face in his bosom, she burst into tears.

"My child, my poor, motherless child!" he murmured again, as he drew her closely to his heart. "And so I cherished a viper under my roof. Blind mole that I was, not to foresee this! So true and noble as he seemed. Heaven knows that I cherished, yea, loved him as a son, and he—I will"—

"Forgive him, father, even as I have forgiven him," whispered a voice in his ear.

"But you must tell me all, Sibyl, all."

She left the room, and after a few minutes' absence, returned and placed in his hands Frederic Vane's parting gift, the locket enclosing the lock of hair. Then, kneeling at his side, she simply and briefly related the story of her love, while, with one hand resting upon her head, he gazed thoughtfully down upon her face.

"So my thoughtlessness has darkened the light of thy young life, my daughter, and this man weds another—the ward of our bitterest enemy. He was unworthy of our love, my Sibyl."

"Blame him not, father. The lady is said to be good,—beautiful, I know her to be, for I saw her once; more fitting to be his wife than simple Sibyl Moody. Yet she can never love him"—again her hands were pressed upon her eyes, as if to force back the rush of tears. "Enough, my father," she added, meekly, "if I have sinned in setting up an earthly idol, if I have erred in withholding this matter from you, I have also suffered."

"I blame you not, Sibyl. It was but natural. Henceforth, we will part no more, and our only trust must be in Him who is both able and willing to save." And kneeling down by her side, in a voice shaken with grief, the old man laid his daughter's sorrows before the throne of Him whom he had served from his youth.

He had not miscalculated the vengeance of the governor. Two weeks after, the doors of the prison closed behind them. During thirteen weary weeks they were shut away from God's sunlight and fresh air; but no royal authority could deprive that old man of the light of a clear conscience, and he often felt that, like the saints of old, an angel ministered unto him under the form of his child.

And when those heavy doors were opened, and, under the ban of exile, he was again permitted to go forth, the angel was still by his side, for she did not vanish suddenly like those of which we read, but her cheek grew more and more white and transparent, her eye brighter and her step slower, until, with the fall of the leaves, she disappeared from his sight. But the old man looked upward with a calm smile, for he knew that in a few short days he should again look upon her in "those boundless regions of all perfection."

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, its estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security, a small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 30 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to buy at any time any of these Bonds offered us at after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All Marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the glow and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

THE NEW SLATE.

See my slate! I dot it new,
Cos I broke the other;
Put my little foot right froo,
Runnin' after mother.

I tan make yon lots o' sings,
Fass as you tan tell 'em,
T's and B's and O rings,
Only I tan't spell 'em.

I tan make a funny pig,
Wid a curly tail-y,
Little eyes and snout so big,
Pokin in a pail-y.

I tan make a elephant,
Wid his trunk a hangin'
An' a boy—who says I tan't?
Wid his dun a bangin.

An' the smoke a tummin out;
(Wid my thumb I do it.
Rabbin' all the white about),
Sparks a flyin' froo it.

I tan make a pretty house
Wid a tree behind it
An' a' little mousy-mouse
Runnin' round to find it.

I tan put my hand out flat
On the slate and draw it;—
Tickling is the worst of that!—
Did you ever saw it.

I tan draw me runnin' 'bout—
Mamma's little' posset—
Slate so dusty, rubbin' out,
Dess oo'd better wass it.

Now, then, s'all I make a tree
Win a birdie in it?
All my pictures you s'all see
If you'll wait a minute.

No, I dess I'll make a man
Juss like Uncle Rolly,
See it tummin' fass it tan!
Bet my slate is Jolly!

THE MOCKING BIRD of Florida is described as rather a dissipated character. He forages about, singing in his neighbor's vineyard while he robs him, until his berries of the Pride-of-China tree are ripe, and then he proceeds to have a regular frolic, acquire a habit of intoxication, and gets as drunk as a lord. It is curious to see a flock of these birds at this time. They become perfectly tipsy, and fly round in the most comical manner, hiccoughing and staggering just like men, mixing up all sorts of songs and interrupting each other in the most impudent manner, without any regard to the politeness and decorum that usually mark the intercourse of all well-bred society, whether of birds or men. They will fly about promiscuously, intrude on domestic relations, forget the way home, and get into each other's nests and families, just like the lords of creation. After the berries are all gone and the yearly frolic is over, they look very penitent, make many good resolutions, join the temperance society, and never indulge again until the next season comes round and the berries are ripe once more.

SAMPLES.—Last week a friend came into our office, and seeing us bucking at the "case" alone, volunteered to "help us out," assuring us that he was a good "compositioner." His first effort proved him a typographical prodigy. After sweating and fuming an hour he launched this at us:

-minanu saw zteM fo noitalupop ehT rotarjt a sa enizaB gnicnuonob suo dergae neeb dah noitalutpac the retfA.
lahsraM cieh dewollot eiqoep eht no fo stehtiqe gnilwoh steerts eht hguorbt
.seAae sih ni "rotiart!"

We assured him that our readers would have to stand on their heads to see through his trash, when he admitted that he had not set type for some time, but would do better on the next trial. We gave him another chance, and here is the result:

wheu you apn i my love beqart.
may sorrow drake my tenber hart.
I in som fean lanb may rome.
whats the uce of cryin fore you hert.

We discharged him forthwith.—Antioch Ledger.

SURRATT AND HIS OCCUPATION.—John H. Surratt is going to raise money by lecturing on the assassination conspiracy. Can't the man pick pockets at funerals; or rob graves; or take a contract for feeding an orphan asylum; or steal the widows' mite for a living without making money out of a connection that renders him a death's head among living men? Is there a man in Maryland—where Surratt proposes to commence his lecture—who can sit and listen to him without being tied to the bench? And will the girls kiss him for his mother?—Chicago Evening Post.

—"Mamma, can a door speak?" "Certainly not, my dear." "Then why did you tell Annie this morning to answer the door?" "It is time for you to go to school, my dear."

—Louisville girls eat onion lozenges to discourage young men whom they do not care to cultivate. They succeed.

FRIDAY, DEC. 16, 1870.

THE THREE-CORNERED CONTEST.—The recent struggle for the Republican nomination as candidate for Representative to Congress from this District, has been much after the fashion of the triangular duel told of by Capt. Marryatt, the British sea-writer, in which a midshipman of one of His Brittanic Majesty's vessels having quarrelled with the boatswain and steward, a pistol-fight was arranged in which the parties stood in a triangle at equal distances from each other,—the middy firing at the boatswain, the boatswain blazing away at the steward, and the steward trying his hand at the middy; by which arrangement each one was shot at by and each had a shot at somebody else—and none of the combatants were benefitted by the operation.

The late political contest appears to have been similar to the three-cornered duel among the old sailors, excepting that each political duellist fired at two antagonists and each old sailor at but one. The three most prominent candidates seemed about equally near the goal of their hopes, each hoped to blow some one else off the political track, and neither won much—except the consciousness of having defeated his opponents. The nomination of Mr. Small by the sudden fraternizing of two opposing factions, is only another proof that "for ways that are dark and for tricks that are (not in this case) vain, the" (we nearly got in "heathen,") politicians "are pecoolier." But one fact has been plainly demonstrated by this Convention, which is that the Republican party, as such, will not countenance or tolerate the improper use of money in political affairs; and it is far better for candidates to learn this lesson in a Convention, than for delegates to be taught, by a defeat of their party, that though they may sell their own votes in a caucus they cannot count on being able to dispose of the votes of their party at the polls.

Hon. Wm. B. Small is the present State Senator from this District, and is one of the ablest members of the Rockingham Bar. He was born in Limington, Me., in 1813. He has the full confidence of the Republican party of this District, and a reputation for purity of character and integrity of purpose unsurpassed by any public man in the State. Mr. Small's nomination is a very strong one and he will be triumphantly elected to Congress next March.

We conclude the report of the Convention below:—

After the nomination was made unanimous, a committee consisting of John G. Cate of Wolfeborough, John H. Locke of Portsmouth and William T. Perkins of Dover, was appointed to notify Mr. Small of his nomination, and to request his presence in the hall.

Col. George Marston of Sandown, Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, then reported the following series, which were adopted unanimously.

Resolved, That we are in favor of equal laws rights and privileges to all men, regardless of race or color, especially the poor and laboring masses of our common country.

Resolved, That we view with alarm the abolition of the national income tax, thereby depriving the Treasury of millions of dollars annually, not one dollar of which was paid by the poor or men of moderate incomes, or by any whose yearly income was below one thousand dollars per annum. The average income of the adults of the nation being only about four hundred and fifty dollars yearly, on every dollar of which they are taxed in every conceivable way, through the influence of the cowards who cried and whined like whipped spaniards until they carried enough weak and corrupt members of Congress to repeal the only real, equal and just tax that was on the statute books of this nation, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we instruct our delegation in Congress to use their utmost endeavors to pass a law taxing all incomes over $1000 and below $2000 three per cent.; all incomes over $2000 and below $5000 per annum, five per cent.; and all incomes above $5000 per annum, eight per cent.; and that the tax on tea, coffee, sugar, salt and rice be abolished; and that the tariff on all other necessary articles of life be reduced to a just revenue standard.

Resolved, That property, and not flesh and blood, should be made to pay the national debt to the last farthing.

Resolved, That we are opposed to repudiation in every form, especially repudiation by a majority of Congress, without distinction of party, of the equal rights of the poor and middling interest of our nation, by unjust and outrageous legislation in favor of banks, railroad monopolies, high tariffs and the like, from year to year and from Congress to Congress; therefore, be it

Resolved, That hereafter the people will hold every member of Congress responsible to them for each vote given, whether influenced by a corrupt and hireling press or by money paid lobbyists directly into their hands, in favor of the special legislation in the interest of a class of men about equal in number to that of the slaveholding population, three hundred thousand, who were so eloquently held up to the scorn of civilized people by members of Congress.

Resolved, That the thanks of this Convention be presented to Hon. George S. Boutwell, the honest and efficient Secretary of the Treasury, for refusing swindling railroad corporations any more money from the people's treasury for carrying mails and materials, so long as said railroads dishonor their long overdue indebtedness to the Government which has lavished her riches upon them beyond precedent, and seemingly without the least gratitude on the part of such corporations.

Resolved, That we cordially indorse the administration of President Grant as eminently wise, patriotic and honest, and believe that his conduct of public affairs has fully realized the expectations of the people.

Resolved, That we receive with satisfaction the nomination this day made of Hon. Wm. B. Small for Representative in Congress for this District, and will use all fair and honorable means to give him the largest majority ever received by any nominee of the First Congressional District.

Mr. Small then made his appearance, escorted by the committee, and was received with tumultuous rounds of applause. He was handsomely introduced by the President and spoke as follows:

Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Convention. Your committee have notified me that it has been the pleasure of the Convention to nominate me as a candidate for Representative in Congress from this district. This distinguished mark of your confidence and respect profoundly moves me.

I accept the nomination, fully appreciating, I think, the honor it confers.

I have no speech to make upon this occasion. Allow me to say, however, that I am no politician. I have had very little to do with the manipulations of party politics or the regulating of party machinery. I am the nominee of no clique or section, or division, if any there be, of the Republican party. I have no promises or pledges to redeem. If it shall be the pleasure of the good people of the district to elect me, I shall bring to the discharge of the duties of the office my best energies. There will be but one rule that will govern my action; that will be the principle of the greatest good of the whole people. I thank you gentlemen of the convention, heartily for this manifest token of your confidence, and my only hope is that my conduct may prove to you that it has not been misplaced.

A BOSTON POLICEMAN OVERDOES HIS BUSINESS.—Several weeks ago, Mr. S. Follen Lothrop, formerly of this city, while standing opposite his residence on Washington Street, was assaulted by two policemen, because he yawned. Mr. Lothrop had the policemen, Geo. S. Maynard and Joseph E. Porter, arrested and tried. Mr. L. testified that he was standing at the corner of the street above mentioned, just opposite his residence on Washington Street, and had just come out of a store where he had expected to meet a friend; not seeing him, he with another friend took up his position on the street, to wait for him, and yawned. Sergeant Maynard came up at the moment, and asked what was the matter, and advised him to go home to bed; Officer Porter then came up, struck him, knocked his hat off, swore at him, and ordered him to pick up the hat. Witness then went over to his house and stood inside the gate, and told the officers they had no right to strike him, and that there at least he was safe from them. One of them then struck him, and by the advice of his friends he went to the Fourth Police station, and on the way the sergeant pinched his wrist often and very severely. Witness asked him if that was necessary, but it was continued just the same. On arriving at the police station Officer Porter made a charge against him, but the lieutenant in charge dismissed the case and witness went home. On the next day witness was sick in consequence of the treatment he had received, and was attended by Dr. Green. Mr. Lothrop was severely cross-examined by the opposing counsel. He denied that he was in the habit of drinking, or that he had been drinking that day. Officer Maynard instructed Porter to take out the twisters (when witness refused to leave his gate, and after he had told them that he lived there and should go no farther) and twist his hands off. The blows he received were some of them severe, especially one on the throat.

Mr. Edwin C. Haven, doing business on Milk street, testified to taking dinner with Mr. Lothrop on the evening in question, and being in his company at the time of the assault. He substantiated the testimony of the complainant, adding that after the first blow, Mr. Lothrop moved on toward his house, but, not moving quickly enough to satisfy the officers, they followed him to the house, where, being naturally excited, he could not readily find the latch of the gate. The officers continued abusing him, and at last witness advised him to go to the police station. He did so, and witness went there with him, but was refused admittance by Maynard. He denied that the complainant was at all abusive to either of the officers, or that he had done anything at all, except to yawn in a natural manner.

The officers were found guilty and fined $15 and costs. They have also been suspended from duty and the city officials are to investigate the matter.

The Boston Times calls them brass-buttoned bruisers, and says:—

That velvet-pawed dictum of law has taken everybody by surprise—the more particularly that the learned Judge, in his remarks preceding sentence, declared the evidence of the atrocious misconduct of the policemen clear and satisfactory, and that their abuse of Mr. Lothrop could be in no way justified.

Reference to the evidence will show our readers how brutally a policeman may act towards a peaceable, unoffending citizen for the trifling sum of fifteen dollars, and how little intervenes between a man's liberty and personal safety and a policeman's privilege to destroy both. The decision may have been according to law: but, if so, the sooner the penalty of such law is changed to imprisonment for at least twenty years the better it will be for the public safety.

The Advertiser says:—

A gentleman yawned upon the sidewalk. When Richelieu was prime minister of France, and his own plays were acted upon the stage, we can imagine that it was a punishable offence to yawn within the theatre; but never in Boston. Even our puritan fathers never established an ordinance against gaping. Had this hardened citizen been smoking a cigar, there might have been a legal pretext for interfering with him; but not for yawning. Two passing police officers of uncommonly sensitive natures took this action, however, for an insult to themselves, there being some subtile connection between a gape and a policeman's honor which we are unable to explain. The preposterous explanation which their elicited, that this eccentric Bostonian yawned because he was sleepy, failed to satisfy the guardians of the public safety, and they ordered the dangerous man to move on. Now it is quite within the province of the police to require a knot of several men on Washington Street to desist from interrupting travel; but we cannot recognize their right to order a solitary lounger forward, especially in the comparatively clear sidewalks of the southern portion of the thoroughfare. The offender in this case did move on, as far as his own door; but this not satisfying the officers, he was pushed and hustled and roughly treated, threatened with manacles, and taunted with many sneers, when he at last yielded to being taken to the station house.

Manifestly, says the indignant citizen who reads the report, here is a case of gross outrage and misapprehension of duty on the part of the police officers, an offence to be sharply punished for the benefit of the community generally, which places itself in the hands of these men to be protected, not wrongfully abused and insulted. Indisputably, here is a case of stern rebuke from the bench. But at the end we discover that a fine of fifteen dollars is declared the proper punishment for the indiscretion. It would seem that there are others besides police officers whose understanding of their duty is somewhat vague and misty.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Faith Well Founded.

In old times, at the commencement of every season, it was the fashion to take a strong cathartic as a safeguard against a change of temperature. It was a worse than senseless practice. The people of our day understand the matter better. Instead of depleting the system they reinforce it. And the method they adopt they exhibit a wise discrimination. Instead of resorting to the vitiated stimulants of commerce, or any of the compounds derived from them, they put their faith in the only absolutely pure invigorant procurable in the market—HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Their faith is well founded. Never has any tonic medicine been prepared with such scrupulous precision and conscientious care. It is a vegetable compound of which every ingredient is sound, wholesome, and medicinal in the true sense of the word. Now, we have three prominent national complaints. One-half of the adult population of the United States suffer more or less, either from diseases of the stomach, derangements of the liver, or affections of the kidneys. In no other land under Heaven are these maladies so general as in this country, and Hostetter's Bitters is a specific for them all, unless organic in their origin, and, therefore, beyond cure. And let those who are fortunate enough to be exempt from them at present understand one great fact, viz: that an occasional use of this vitalizing tonic will as certainly prevent them as the sun will prevent the earth from freezing where its genial beams depend. dawlwd10

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT? IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.

It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.

One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yd.s 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats,—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.

The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform power and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., PRACTICAL AND ANALYTICAL CHEMISTS, LOWELL, MASS.,

NEW SUBSCRIBERS who now pay in full in advance, for the DAILY CHRONICLE or the N. H. GAZETTE, for the year 1871, will be furnished with either paper gratis until Jan.

☞ The Gordon "organ" feels sick.

☞ Charlie Wilkinson's theatrical company are coming—the 23d and 24th, and will bring out the play written for Lillie Wilkinson by G. L. Aiken, entitled "Josie, or Was She a Woman."

☞ The following Portsmouth gentleman are mentioned for candidates at the Conventions which meet week after next:—For Councillor, Hon. Joseph B. Adams; for Senator, Wm. H. Hackett, Esq. Rye presents the name of Emmons B. Philbrick, Esq., for Senator.

☞ The Committee on Streets have purchased a Stone Crusher and Engine of Rawson & Hiltinger of Cambridge. Mr. Wm. G. Miller, formerly of this city, is Fireman of the establishment. The price paid was $2400—$1000 for the Engine, $1300 for the Crusher and $100 for the connecting belts. The machine will crack from 75 to 100 tons per diem.

☞ Never since the war has business been as dull on our Navy Yard as at the present date. Not a vessel at the wharves, but two repairing, and none in process of construction. This is not the case in other yards, at least not in Charlestown or Brooklyn, both of which stations have plenty of repairing and some building going on. It seems to us that this is an unequal distribution of work, and that some means should be devised to remedy it. We think that if the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity should represent the case as it stands, by petition to the Secretary of the Navy, we might be allowed our share of the government patronage. We say, the citizens, because, contrary to a prevailing idea among us, a good supply of work at the Yard contributes just as much to those not employed there as to those who are; as nearly all the money that is received there is expended here and in towns immediately adjoining. Storekeepers, if no other class of our citizens, recognize this, and all can see that it is true, save those who are so blind that they will not. Instead then of decrying the Yard and those employed in prominent places thereon, if all concern themselves in furthering its interests, we shall benefit every one, more or less, and none suffer thereby.

New Publications Received.

The January number of Scribner's Monthly partakes of the character of a Christmas issue, in that it has a great abundance of stories and pictures. Chief among the former is an Arctic romance by Dr. I. I. Hayes, and a tale by Hans Andersen. These are illustrated; and among other engravings are a series of views in Fairmount Park, Philadelphia; pictures of birds to go with a paper by Professor Burt G. Wilder; and scenes in Strasbourg after the surrender. There is poetry by Dr. Holland, by Harriet McEwen Kimball, and a posthumous piece by N. P. Willis, "To My Wild Sis," meaning Fanny Fern. For more solid matter the number has a historical essay. "The Terms of Peace Proposed by the Great Powers" in 1815, by John Bigelow, and an account of the Lloyd Aspinwall affair, telling "How we escaped War with Spain," by L. L. Creunse.

BUTLER'S RECEPTION IN CONGRESS. The roll call was completed, when Ben. Butler appeared upon the scene. Everybody had been inquiring for him, and as he walked in there was a buzz in the galleries of "There comes Butler." The belligerent Ben took no more notice of the galleries than if they were filled with Blue Noses and Britishers. Depositing his hat and coat in the cloak room, he went directly to his seat. He was hardly settled here, however, before he espied his beloved friend Bingham, and he darted toward that gentleman's seat. The meeting was observed by the whole house, of course. It was characteristic. Butler embraced Bingham, and Bingham in turn embraced Butler. The good feeling was contagious. Bingham sits on the democratic side of the House. His neighbors are Sam Cox, Eldridge, Randall, Woodward, Niblack and other known democrats. When the fraternal meeting with Bingham was over Butler grasped Cox warmly by the hand. The same operation was repeated with the other democrats I have named. Connor of Texas, who it will be remembered, denounced Butler as a circus clown when he made his debut in the House, happened to be standing near him. The era of good feeling was so great, that he, too, came in for a shake of the hand of the Essex statesman.—N. Y. Herald.

—A near-sighted young man in Indianapolis is wretched. He went to see his girl, and found the father peeling potatoes with his wife's apron on. He got on his knees and proposed to the old man real quick, "before the old folks should come in," and was driven from the door with a butcher knife, for his pains.

—Mr. and Mrs. Sanson, of Chicago, filed cross bills for divorce. He testified that she poured a panful of boiling water over his head, and then scraped the hair off with the pan, he submitting "to see how far she would go." He now thinks she went too far.

CENTRAL RAILROAD
OF IOWA,
Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.
NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.
This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.
ONE MILLION
OF THE
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS
of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of 90 and Accrued Interest.
Among their advantages are—
1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.
2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.
3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.
4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.
5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.
6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.
7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.
We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.
Subscriptions will be received in PORTSMOUTH by

Morning Chronicle.

OLD TIME CHRONICLES, No. 25.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

RICHARD WALDRON, SECOND PROVINCIAL GOVERNOR OF NEW HAMPSHIRE. Mr. Waldron was born in Somersetshire, England, about 1609, and came to this country and settled at Dover about 1635. He was a prominent man and much in office. Before the separation of this Province from Massachusetts he was a Deputy from Dover to the General Court at Boston for 24 years, ending in 1679, and for eight years was speaker.

For some years he was Major of the militia. While holding this office an act took place which finally caused his overthrow and death by the Indians. This was in 1676. The Indians in great numbers were in Dover to trade with Waldron, when a force of militia from Massachusetts marching against the Eastern Indians came and induced Waldron, unwillingly, it is believed, to injure these savages, who were then relying on his protection. He got them into a sham fight, surrounded them, took them prisoners, and sent them to Boston, where some were hanged, some sold into slavery and others set free. The Indians swore revenge. We shall see that they finally had it.

Mr. Waldron was also Chief Justice of the Provincial Court. Two of his sentences were noted and should be recorded. In 1662, three Quaker women came to Dover and denounced woe upon the people. New Hampshire was then united with Massachusetts, and there were laws against Quakers. Waldron had these women brought before him, tried them and sentenced them to be fastened to the tail of a cart and led through eleven towns, beginning with Dover, next Hampton, next Salisbury, etc.; and in each town they were each to receive not over ten lashes upon their naked backs. It was done in the three towns named, after which they were sent out of the Province of the Court.

The other division was in 1683. Edward Gove of Hampton was indicted and tried for high treason, found guilty, and Waldron sentenced him to be hanged by the neck, cut down alive, his bowels to be taken out and burned before his force, his head to be then cut off, his body to be divided into quarters, which with his head were to be disposed of at the King's pleasure. In ages not enlightened, punishment for crime was very severe. It is gratifying to say that Gove was imprisoned long, but not executed. He finally returned to his estate in Hampton.

When New Hampshire was separated from Massachusetts in 1680 and Mr. Cutts made Governor, the king of England with his Privy Council arranged that the Provincial Governor should appoint one of the Counsellors as Deputy to preside in his absence; and in case the office of Governor should become vacant that the Deputy be acting governor. Mr. Waldron was Councillor, was made Deputy, and on the death of Mr. Cutts (March 27, 1681) succeeded to the office. He was in this office one year and six months when the British crown commissioned Edward Cranfield. Waldron still continued councillor, but Cranfield suspended him from the council, then restored him and afterwards suspended him again.

The time came for the tragical death of Major Waldron as the Indians had determined. Thirteen years had passed since he offended them as already related. On the 27th of June, 1689, they went to Dover to "cross out their accounts." His garrison was north of the upper bridge on the west side of the street where the Morrill Block now stands, or a little back of it. The Major was confident of safety, and two Indian females were allowed to lodge in the garrison, being shown how they could open the gate in case they should wish to go out after closing up. When all was still the savage warriors were let in. The Major fought them with desperation, but was overpowered and slain, at the age of 80 years. It is believed he was buried in a small enclosure still remaining in the north part of the compact portion of the city.

—The rare critics who discovered the great merit of Fechter, and by their influence managed to tack him as a fixture upon Boston, did something else besides: they converted an erratic planet into a fixed star, which still seeks to run the universe of which the "Globe" is the centre. The other planets of the system refuse, however, to become satellites of the fixed star; they kick in their spheres, and so the Globe wobbles as it revolves.—Charlestown Advertiser.

SEWING MACHINES.
"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"
It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.
THE ETNA
is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merit. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

CHARLES L. FROST, }
The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.
The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.
The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.
The Bonds have 6 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.
All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application, instead of foiling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

DON'T TELL;
OR, THE FACTORY-GIRL'S SECRET.

I've worked so very hard, Nelly,
Among the noisy reels;
(They never care a pin, Nelly,
How worn a body feels.)
But mother says
One of these days—
No; very soon—
Some afternoon
I may go to town
With Willie Brown!
(The handsome one with bushy curls—
Now, don't you breathe it to the girls.
But you wouldn't, I know;
When I like you so.
I'd never forgive.)
And Nelly, he's so good and kind,
(Now, don't you ever lisp it, mind!)
Such Sunday clothes!
And a splendid nose!
And eyes—ah! well,
I couldn't tell;
And manners quite above his station—
And he's got a steady situation.
And, oh!
You know?
Well, he's
My beau
In earnest. (You'd guess,
If I didn't confess.)
But I wouldn't have it get around
For fifty—no, nor a hundred pound.
They'll never stop it once they begin it,
I shouldn't have peace a single minute.
And oh? he's got such a head of his own—
Reads and ciphers like Jeremy Stone.
He's stouter and finer by far than Jed,
(Oh! no; I never liked him a bit—
Will thought so, and that was the fun of it.
And, Nelly, I'd just as lief say it to you,
There isn't a thing I wouldn't do,
There isn't a thing I wouldn't dare,
There isn't a trial a girl could bear,
Nor any thing on earth I declare,
That I wouldn't be glad and proud to take
For Willie's sake.
And —— There's the bell!
We must hurry. And, Nell,
Remember—I'll never, never, never speak to you again in this living world if you tell.

WINDOW PLANTS IN WINTER.—Heat, water and air are the things to be provided. Dust and insects are to be guarded against.

Heat.—Most plants will survive if the temperature gets below 40 degrees; but no healthy growth nor bloom can be looked for at a lower average daily temperature than 60 or 65 degrees. It is better that the night temperature should fall 15 degrees less than this. One difficulty with plants is that they are as hot during the night as during the day.

Water.—Give water only when the plants need it. A plant with its roots constantly in the mud cannot thrive. It is better to wait until the flagging of a plant shows that it needs water than to keep it constantly soaked. Sprinkling or showering should be done as often as possible. Take the plants to a sink or a bath tub and give them a good dousing.

Air.—Do not be afraid of opening the windows whenever the outside air is not freezing. Give air every day when it is safe to do so. Not only will the plants be benefitted, but the atmosphere will be the better for human lungs.

Dust is a great obstacle to the successful growing of plants in the house. The showering we have recommended will help remove it, but all smooth leaved plants, such as Camelias, Ivies and the like, should be occasionally sponged to keep the foliage clean and healthy.

Insects.—Don't have any. If the plants are daily looked over, and the thumb and finger properly applied, they will be kept in check. If a plant is badly infested by the green fly, put it in a box or under a barrel and smoke it thoroughly. If the red spider appears, as it will be apt to do in hot and dry rooms, smoke will not help it. Remove the plant into hospital and shower it daily. Frequent wetting and a moist atmosphere is the best remedy.—American Agriculturalist.

—Mr. Connelly, a Missouri gentleman, who had an engagement to be hanged on the 25th, is disposed to be querulous. On being informed that his sentence had been commuted, he said: "This is the d—dest country on earth and has the poorest laws. I have, been lying here in prison for months. My execution for which everything has been made ready, has been twice put off, and now am going to the penitentiary for life instead of being hanged, as I wanted to be."

—Josh Billings sums up his mortality experience thusly: "Men, if they ain't too lazy, liv sometimes till they are eighty, and destroy the time a good deal as follows: the fust thirty years they spend throwing stuns at a mark; the second thirty they spend examining the mark tu see whar the stuns hit, and the remainder iz divided in cussing the stun throwing bizziness and nussing the rumatiz."

—There are two reasons why some people don't mind there own business. One is that they haven't any business, and the second that they have no mind.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.
ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœas, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

SATURDAY, DEC. 17, 1870.

THE WAR.—Montmedy has surrendered.

Prussian prisoners assert that the losses of Prince Frederick Charles' army in its combats with Chauzey were not less than 20,000, and that the villages in the neighborhood were filled with the wounded.

Bourbaki is ready to assume the offensive.

Napoleon says he will never return to Paris by military power; that the people four times approved of his election, and they alone have the right to restore him.

Russia remains firm in her determination to regard the treaty of Paris abrogated.

A HEAVY GALE from north-northwest set in Thursday morning, continuing through the night and all day, Friday. It extended a great distance and did serious damage in many places. James McHale, a slate-roofer, was blown from the roof of a church in Brooklyn, Thursday morning, and instantly killed.

A dispatch from D. Huntington, at the summit of Mount Washington, dated 7 P. M., Thursday, reports the temperature at 5 degrees below zero. Velocity of wind, 92 miles an hour. It is fearful, but we have full confidence that the house will stand. The clouds on the mountain are dense.

At Manchester, many chimneys were blown down. The large chimney of the Sterns Hotel fell and several thousand bricks crashed through the roof and fell into the dining room, within a foot of a party of ladies. No one was injured. The damage is estimated at $600.

James Conlan, a brakeman on the freight train on the Hartford and New Haven road, was blown from the top of the train, while adjusting the brake, and fell between the cars, fourteen of which passed over him, cutting off one leg. He is not likely to recover.

The steamer from St. John, N. B., for Portland, was five or six hours late in arriving at the latter port on Friday, owing to the heavy sea along the coast.

New Hampshire Items.

The celebrated case known as the "Conant Shaker case," which has been in litigation some six years, was decided recently by a board of referees. The referees have spent 130 days on it, as several years of business accounts were involved in it and the transactions were very complicated. The Conant estate is awarded $6193.47 as debt, $1050.94 costs. The Conant heirs and the Shakers reside in Enfield, where great interest has been caused throughout the various trials.

The tannery of Messrs. Mitchell & Co. in Union was entirely burned on Wednesday night. The dry goods and and grocery store of A. F. Wood & Co. was also destroyed, with the entire contents. The village circulating library, the lodgeroom of Unity Lodge and the dwelling-house of John Prescott were burned also. Very little was saved from the conflagration, and there was not a dollar's worth of insurance upon any of the property destroyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Smith of South Newmarket celebrated their wooden wedding last Wednesday evening.

☞ A son of Dr. W. Sweat, of Cornish, Me., shot himself a few days since, under very singular circumstances. His father insistdd on his going to school, and sooner than obey, the boy inflicted upon himself a pistol-shot wound which it is feared will prove fatal.

☞ The fall of a building in New York, Thursday, caused the death of four persons and the loss of $100,000. The premature explosion of a blast in the same city killed eight men.

☞ Sheridan and Burnside are at Constantinople. Does it mean anything.

☞ The Zanesville (Ohio) Courier tells a good one of a party of men who were standing near a thermometer in that city, on a very hot day. One of the party slyly applied his cigar to the bulb of the thermometer, and sent the mercury up to 115. He then began to complain of the excessive heat. The rest dissented. He then called their attention to the thermometer, then indicating 115 degrees, when every man in the crowd began to complain of the excessive heat, and began unbuttoning vests, etc., to allow a free current of air. In a few minutes all departed for their homes, feeling it was unsafe to be upon the streets during such excessive heat.

AT WORK AGAIN.—One thing, and one thing only, the people of the country can admire in the endeavor of the "line officers," to crowd every semblance of democratic institutions out of the United States navy, and that is, the untiring energy and dogged obstinacy which which they press their evil cause forward. At the last session of Congress, the line mustered in force and fought for every inch of ground, contributing freely for the lobby and to buy up what few papers could be induced to advocate the creation of an order of naval nobility based on blue blood, and the honor of having received a gratuitous education; and hardly had the Senators time to settle themselves into their seats at the present session, before the indomitable "line" was on hand with a bill to settle at once the insolent pretensions of the staff—that they are entitled to equal rank and equal pay with the line, for equal service.

Mr. Drake introduced into the Senate, Dec. 9, a bill entitled "A bill to regulate rank in the Navy of the United States, and for other purposes." That naval rank should be regulated—and regulated in accordance with the dictates of justice,—the rules of fair play and the principles of republicanism—is what the staff ask and what the people demand; and had this bill any such object, we should hail it with pleasure as an evidence that the vexed question of staff rank was in a way to be satisfactorily settled. But the "other purposes" of the bill are only too apparent on reading it—the purpose of the line to have Congress directly legislate the staff down, that the line may no longer have any opposition to their claim that they are a class of superior beings, born to rule and be bowed down to by the rest of American mankind.

The bill provides that "commanding and executive officers, of whatever grade, shall take precedence over all medical, pay, and engineer officers on board the vessel, or at the station, to which they may be attached." This proviso is really the principal object of the bill, for by it the lowest "executive" officer,—and he may be a mere boy, whose only claim is that he is a beneficiary of the Annapolis charity,—"takes precedence" over men whose rank has been gained by thirty years of actual service in the medical, pay and engineer departments of the navy, and who entered the navy ready fitted to discharge their duties. The line wish to better their own condition, but it is not necessary to this end that they should injure others; and their endeavors to crowd the staff down, when to do so cannot benefit them in any way except by ministering to an unworthy pride, can only be due to the injurious effect of past "class legislation" in their favor. We copy from the Washington National Chronicle some remarks on this nice "bill for other purposes:"—

It is entitled a bill "to regulate rank in the navy," but is really a bill for the annihilation of the staff corps. Its offensive and misdirected intrusion is manifested by the fact that while it professes to legislate solely for the staff corps, not one staff officer has been consulted in its construction. As well might the staff corps undertake to fix the status and legislate for the interest of the line; indeed, having no dead traditions to galvanize into spasmodic life, but having their interests in the new life and spirit of progressive institutions, they are better fitted to suggest legislation for the whole than is the line for either. They have equally with the line the requisites of honor, patriotism and intelligence, and see as much of service and of war. Every proposition made by the staff corps in support of its rights has had that broad and generous comprehension which embraced the whole service and infringed upon the rights of none.

In the proposal to legislate out of office the chiefs of the staff bureaus, selected by the President and Senate, because, true to justice and the Navy, they have endeavored to protect the rights of their corps and to promote their efficiency, it asks to legislate into existence that fatal second captain, whose recent appearance in the Navy has done so much to impair the compactness and demoralize the spirit of the service.

The whole bill concentrates the illiberal prejudices of a section of the line officers of the navy, and is opposed to the spirit of our institutions. That there are line officers, and of the senior line—we believe a majority,—with too much experience, justice, and liberality to sanction the purposes of this bill, we feel convinced—men who, of their own volition and from regard to the true interests of the service, would assent to all, and more than all, the staff officers ask. At the present time it is somewhat surprising that they do not make some effort to suppress the volunteer-officious intermeddlers—for it is reported that the line intend to endeavor this session to attempt to secure an equality of pay with that of the Army, according to rank.

It is certainly a stroke of novel and brilliant policy to begin this move by striking down one half of the navy into such low rank as to make it the interest of this large body to defeat any such scheme of pay. But they say "If we can be paid by our high rank and have the staff paid by its low rank then we've got them, for when they ask for more rank we'll cry out it will cost money, increase naval expenditure."

Equal service, equal honors and record, is the demand of the staff corps, and few can see that admirals, commodores, and captains doing quiet, civil duties as light-house, members of various subordinate boards, taking charge of a few superannuated old men, (more the duty of an old medical officer than of an old admiral,) port admirals, &c., are rendering to the country any more profitable or honorable service than that rendered by the able senior engineers, paymasters, and surgeons in the navy.

BRIGHTON CATTLE MARKET.

FOR THE WEEK ENDING WEDNESDAY, DEC. 14.

[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

Prices Beef Cattle—Extra $12 75 @ $13 00; first quality $12 25 @ $12 50; second quality $11 50 @ $12 00; third quality $10 00 @$11 25; poorest grade of coarse Oxen, Bulls, &c., $6 00 @ $9 50 ℔ cwt, (the total weight of hides, tallow and dressed beef.)

Brighton Hides 7¼ @ 8c ℔ lb; Country Hides 7 @ 7½c ℔ lb.

Brighton Tallow 6¼@7c per lb; Country Tallow 6 @ 6½c ℔ lb.

Sheep and Lamb Skins $1 @ 1 37½ each; Calf Skins 16 @ 18c ℔ lb.

The quality of the Western Cattle in market this week was better than that of last week, and drovers paid higher for them at Albany, but the prices were not any higher, especially the common grades, and the trade has been dull. Most of the Maine Cattle were Working Oxen and Store Cattle, trade for all of which has been rather inactive on account of the large supplies or dead Beef brought from the West. The Beef markets for the last week have been dull. There were a very few extra Ohio Stores in market, estimated to cost 14c ℔ lb, dressed weight.

Store Cattle—Yearlings $8 @ $20; two year olds $12 @ $45; three year olds $45 @ $65 ℔ head. Most of the small Cattle that are in a fair condition are sold for Beef.

Working Oxen—The supply in market this week is full as large as the demand requires. We quote sales at $70, $100, $110, $115, $125, $140, $150, $175, $200, $210, $215 @ $220 ℔ pair.

Milch Cows—Extra $85 @ $115; ordinary $50 @ $80; Store Cows $30 @ $55 ℔ head. Most of the Cows in market from week to week are of a common quality, there being but few extra or fancy breeds offered for sale.

Sheep and Lambs—Extra and select lots $3 75 @ $5 50; ordinary lots $1 50 @ $3 50: Lambs $2 @ $4 50 ℔ head, or from 3 @ 7c ℔ lb. Most of the Sheep from the East and West were taken at a commission or owned by butchers. From the North there was a good supply.

Swine—Store Pigs, wholesale 9¼ @ 10½c ℔ lb; retail 10 @ 13c ℔ lb. Fat Hogs—5500 at market; prices 8 @ 8½c ℔ lb.

Adjourned.

In Common Council, no quorum. Adjourned to the call of the Mayor.

PRESTO, CHANGE!—Quite a change has recently been made in the conductors running the Portland trains over the Eastern Railroad, and now all conductors on the Portland trains (except the express) go through to Portland. Conductor Philbrick, who heretofore (having risen before the lark,) was accustomed to enjoy his afternoon without a care, now journeys between Portland and Boston; and on last Sabbath, instead of listening to the eloquence of the pastor of the Middle Street church, in this city, doubtless sought for consolation in some Boston church, while Bachelder of Boston found himself "confessing his manifold sins" etc. in an Episcopal church in Portland!

Conductor West takes the early morning train train to Boston and returns by the 4.45 train in the evening, and Messrs. Towle, Bachelder, Hobbs and Philbrick run the first three Portland trains in turn. The new regulation has at least the charm of novelty and variety to the "gentlemanly conductors," who have for so long time been accustomed to running continuously on one train. Mr. Horace F. Pickering of this city has been appointed baggage master on the Saugus Branch.

FIRES.—By the Western Union Telegraph Line, we learn that a fire broke out in Wiscasset, Me., at 5 o'clock Friday morning. Twenty-five stores and eleven dwelling houses were burned. Loss $100,000.

The freight depot at Yarmouth Junction and the passenger depot and wood shed at Cumberland, on the Portland & Kennebec Railroad, were burned the same day.

☞ The Biddeford Journal says Ole Bull is in Eliot, the guest of Mr. George Shapleigh.

ANOTHER BANK ROBBERY.

About 9 o'clock, Friday morning, the Cashier of the North Berwick National Bank discovered that during the night the Bank had been robbed. The building is of wood, two stories high, and is situated a half dozen rods from the P. S. & P. R. R. The Bank was on the lower floor. The burglars must have burst open the outer door and effected an entrance to the outside office,—the inner door being unlocked, they had easy access to the safe in the back part of the next room. The outside door was iron, an inch thick, and had a common fire proof lock. The door being forced by a bar, the lock was easily broken. There was a space of eight inches between the outer and inner walls of the safe, and by means of a jack and wedges the inner door, one and a half inches thick, was burst open and the interior of the vault was reached.

Nineteen hundred and fifty dollars in bills and $355 in gold, and a lot of currency was taken, making the loss of the Bank about $2375. There were five U. S. and R. R. bonds in the vault, four of which were taken. Geo. H. Snow lost a bond of $4000; Isaac Eaton, one of $925, Geo. T. Osborne, one of $250, Simeon Hamilton, one of $460. A thousand dollar bond was left, and the contents of four trunks, including deeds and other private papers, were scattered about the floor. The thieves evidently worked deliberately, taking everything they could find that was valuable. A "confederate" bill and a counfeit were found on the floor of the vault, and a fuse, forty feet long, was discovered leading from the outside of the building to the interior of the vault. The curtains of the two windows were torn down that the robbers might see to work by moonlight. Mr. Eliphalet Jones, who resides nearly opposite the bank, was awakened by an unusual noise, but supposed it came from a barn in the vicinity in which there were a large number of cattle.

A Mr. Green saw four men standing near the Bank, early Thursday evening; they walked towards the depot on seeing him. After having robbed the Bank, the burglars stole the best horse and carriage in the stable of Samuel Buffum & Co., about a quarter of a mile from the Bank, and rode off; leaving in the Bank a large wedge and three short blocks of English iron, 2 1-2 inches long and 1 3-4 inches thick. One of the robbers is supposed to have been connected with the attempted robbery of the So. Berwick Bank several months ago, as a person said to have been seen in the vicinity of North Berwick recently answers the description of the German who was seen about South Berwick before. No clue to the robbers has been found, and it is supposed they took the early B. & M. train. A reward of $500 is offered by the officers of the Bank for the discovery and conviction of the robbers.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD OF IOWA, Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul. NOW NEARLY COMPLETED. This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate. ONE MILLION ——OF THE—— FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of 90 and Accrued Interest. Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.
2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.
3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.
4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.
5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.
6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.
7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

Subscriptions will be received in PORTSMOUTH by JOHN CHRISTIE, Esq., Treasurer Rockingham 10 Cents Savings Bank, SAMUEL LORD, Esq., Cashier First National Bank, Of whom pamphlets and full information may be had. W. B. SHATTUCK, Treasurer. 32 Pine Street, New York.

After a full examination, we have accepted an Agency for the Sale of the above First Mortgage Bonds, and desire to recommend them to our customers AS A THOROUGHLY SAFE, AS WELL AS PROFITABLE INVESTMENT. JAY COOKE & CO., 20 WALL ST., N. Y. 3mdawistopcolo20

FARMING THAT PAYS.—In a recent conversation with one of the best farmers in one of the river towns in this county, he remarked that he hadn't made much money by farming for the last ten years. His neighbors had sold hay every year at high prices, had money in the banks, and government bonds "salted down." If he had pursued the same course, he could have "made money," in their acceptation of the term. "But do you mean that you have made nothing by farming for the last ten years?" "No, I suppose not exactly. I have improved my farm, and now cut twenty tons of hay more than I did ten years ago. I have rebuilt and bettered my buildings, set out a new orchard, and schooled my children—but I haven't laid up any money."

In this reply we obtained just the information we wished to get at by our question. Here was a well-to-do farmer, having as good a farm as "lays out doors." In ten years he had by liberal manuring, and judicious cropping doubled the amount of stock kept, and the means for improving and raising larger crops in the future; he had repaired his buildings at a cost of several hundred dollars; started a new orchard; obtained a good living; paid his bills, and schooled his children (and much more is comprehended in this last statement then at first appears — it doesn't mean simply that he has given his boys and girls such an education as country children obtained ten years ago; they have been sent away where they have received greater advantages, but in sending them away have come large expenses); and yet he half makes a complaint that he hasn't made much money by farming!

Is he correct or not? Isn't there evidence of more wealth than could be shown by his neighbors who have sold their hay every year, and salted down "legal tenders?" Hasn't he a better capital than they: and isn't his investment, in the single item of educating his children, paying or likely to pay a better dividend than bank stock? And are there not all over our godly State hundreds of similar instances, where farmers have bettered their condition year by year, and yet think they have made nothing?

This is the farming which pays, and when such cases come to our knowledge, as they do almost daily, we are heartily tired of seeing the question, so often asked by newspaper writers, "Does farming pay?"—Mc. Farmer.

CULTURE OF HOUSE PLANTS. — A warm room, good soil or compost, and fair attention will always hasten the growth of plants, but it will be to remember that the faster a plant grows the wider apart are its leaves, and the more spindling its general appearance both in stem and lateral branches. The skill of a gardener is shown in producing a plant in its fullest perfection of form both in stem and foliage, and when leaves and flowers, which ought to be near enough together to be covered with a half peck measure, are spread out to the size of a bushel, the plant cannot be expected to take a prize. Slower growth is obtained by lowering the temperature of the room at night when there is no danger of frost, shutting out furnace heat, and opening doors. All the fresh air possible, and care not to give too much water, will promote a slow growth and perfection of form.

Water should not stand in the saucers of any plants save calla lilies and lobelias. A good liquid fertilizer, which has no offensive smell, and which is not disagreeable for indoor use, may be prepared as follows:—Dissolve two ounces of carbonate of ammonia (common smelling salts,) in a pint of water, and then drop in sulphuric acid (oil of vitriol) until all effervescence or bubbling ceases. A tablespoonful of the solution of sulphate of ammonia, mixed with one gallon of warm water, is a most efficacious liquid manure, and not at all disagreeable to use in any parlor or chamber. It should be applied, at first once a week, then every four or five days.

Plants feed chiefly on matter taken up with water from the soil. As fast as the moisture evaporates from the leaves a new supply is taken up by the roots. If the soil in a flower-pot remains moist for an unusual length of time, it is a sign that the roots do not take up the water readily, or that the soil is not loose enough, or at any rate, that something is the matter. A soil, therefore, that does not dry fast, does not contain enough air, soon becomes unfit for healthy plant action; and drooping leaves and branches quickly appear.

Plants with a free and vigorous growth and plenty of roots, will take up almost all the moisture that can be given them in a moderately small pot, but as a general rule the hole in the bottom of the pot cannot be dispensed with, its draining powers helping to keep up a healthful circulation and succession of water and air through the soil and among the roots.—Christian Union.

—An Iowa man tried to hug a neighbor's wife, but before he got through the lady hit him with a rolling-pin and put him out doors. The husband took a revolver and went to the man for satisfaction, but concluded to settle it by taking the villiain's note for ten dollars, which he traded off for a corn-plow. The man who holds the note can't collect it, the giver of it claiming that he did not get value received. He says he will never pay that note until he gets the balance of that hug.

—Over the grave of Thaddeus Stevens, who would not be buried in either of the two beautiful cemeteries at Lancaster because colored people were not allowed to be buried in them, is a plain marble slad with this inscription "I lie here because the earth is free to all."

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the disease that claims my attention, and can accurately and cure of diseased lungs to healthy sound tissue. The important question for the consumptive to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern climes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and tracing. Melbourne and Enterprise are located there. I should prefer to spend the winter in Melbourne; it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and matters comfortable at home; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places offer various parts of Florida, as I have try recommended to consumptives in winter. My treatment for curing sick, that patients are able to take to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, as well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, 2 disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, bronchial tubes, or any other where dyspepsia, diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined more than one hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease with a torpid liver, 2 disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, bronchial tubes, or any other where dyspepsia, diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined more than one hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease with a torpid liver, 2 disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, bronchial tubes, or any other where dyspepsia, diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

In Florida, I mostly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills: for the climate is more likely to produce torpid liver than more northerly localities. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail to largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.; but they are not; they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased, and the work of ruin.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to stay in stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, when taken in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prepares for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary, in which case I give them to the weak such,—to get up a good appetite. To give a healthy a good sign when a patient begins to get a hungry I have found it best not. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, numbers by this means I do not mean the blood, by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy sweats are no longer experienced, and nature, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptive who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, is there any hope for such? I answer, there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. As I said, prevent taking a cold, and keep in the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is no easier cured in any other climate, it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by Schenck's Medicines.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should be supplied with them on hand, ready to act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit, and New Pills are good for a dose of Mandrakes, they will relieve you from your pain. You

Rev. James McLean was installed as pastor of the Congregational church and society at Hampton on Thursday.

It is expected that the Supreme Judicial Court will appoint new receivers of the Concord Railroad at the law term which begins at Dover on Tuesday.

The Mirror is agitating the subject of reclaiming the marshes at Hampton, and thinks the work can be successfully accomplished by constructing dykes, that the tide may be excluded, and the accumulating waters drained off.

Mr. Dennis Kirwin, of Piscataquog (near Manchester), was robbed of $964 one night last week by a thief, who broke a pain of glass from the window of his sleeping-room and reached for his pantaloons.

New Publications Received.

The Galaxy for January is out. A new series of illustrations is begun, "Types of American Beauty," leading off with a portrait of a New York belle, from a photograph. There is also commenced Mrs. Edward's new novel, "Ought We to Visit Her." For the rest, there are continuations of things previously begun (Mr. J. W. DeForest being now announced as the author of "Overland"), a paper on Thiers by Justin McCarthy, further historical revelations by Gideon Welles, a new department of "Scientific Miscellany," and a good supply of fun by Mark Twain.

The Atlantic Monthly, published by Fields, Osgood & Co., Boston, commences the New Year brilliantly, the January number presenting new poems form Longfellow, Whittier and Holmes, and a variety of able articles from contributors of established reputation. The contents are uncommonly varied and interesting. Senator Wilson treats of the New Departure of the Republican Party, and Mrs. Spofford, Col. Higginson, John Hay, W. D. Howells, Mr. Fields, D. H. W. William, J. W. DeForest, and others, furnish articles of more than ordinary merit. $4 a year.

Manufacturer and Builder, Western & Co., Publishers, 37 Park Row, New York.

Leavitt's Farmer's Almanac for 1871. Edson C. Eastman & Co., Publishers, Concord, N. H.

Harper's Monthly for January begins with an ancient Christmas carol: the two leading illustrated papers, "Folk-Life in Sweden" and "The Passion-Play in Oberammergau," both have much seasonable matter; and "The Voice of Christmas Past," is a remarkable tribute of pen and pencil to Dickens, with skilfully drawn portraits of nearly all his characters. There is also a contribution designed especially for the little girl readers of the magazine, and another for the boys. Mr. C. C. Hazewell fills seventeen pages with a review of the seventh decade of the nineteenth century. Mr. Curtis writes of Nilsson in his Easy Chair papers. Altogether the number must be pronounced one of the strongest and brightest the magazine has ever issued. For sale by Jos. H. Foster, Foster Shores & Co. and E. G. Adams.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1864.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

THE INCOME TAX.—The resolutions declaring the national income tax "an equal and just" one and "instructing our delegation in Congress to use their utmost endeavors to pass a law taxing all incomes over $1000," &c., which were carried unanimously at the Republican Congressional Convention at Dover, exactly express the feeling of the rank and file of the Republican party in this section—and of all the workingmen of the country, too, on this question. No laboring man, nor any workingman's newspaper, that we hear of, has ever spoken on the subject without deprecating the repeal of the income-tax law, and denouncing such repeal as a barefaced shifting of a burden from the shoulders of the wealthy, where it is but a trifle, to the backs of the poor, where it is a crushing weight.

Some leading journals have shouted long and loudly about "injustice" and "oppressive taxation," in connection with the income-tax: but every one of these journals is either owned or "run" by men of wealth, who are anxious to get rid of the "oppression" of having to pay their fair share of the national expenses, and to make the laborers and mechanics pay it for them. The income tax cannot possibly be harmful and oppressive to the great mass of workingmen, for but a very small proportion of them have incomes exceeding $1000 per year; the income tax is the only tax on the statute books of the nation which the rich man pays proportionately more of than the poor one.

One prominent Republican paper that we think of just now, because it has long harped on the "rights of property" to be exempted from fulfilling its duties in the shape of contributing its fair share towards the national expenses, has repeatedly sneered at the "morality" of a tax that takes an extra amount from a man merely because he is rich, and asks if such a tax is just. We answer, decidedly, yes. If the average income of all the people of the nation was $1000 per year, and out of every one hundred men ninety-nine received but $500 each, while the one-hundreth one received $50,000, then that one man would have gained a benefit proportionately much greater than that of any one of the others, and his tax should be proportionately greater, as well,—in other words, it is but just that he should pay a larger tax on each $500 of his excess, than should any one of the less fortunate ones pay on his bare means of subsistence.

England is aristocratic, America is Republican; but aristocratic England has long enforced the payment of an income tax, and it is the very last tax which British statesmen reduce, (as they recognize that the men who gain disproportionate advantages should pay disproportionate taxes,) while republican America has hastened to lift the extra load from those who enjoy the luxuries and powers of wealth, and place it on those who gain but a bare subsistence. A graduated income tax is the most just and equitable method of raising money that it is possible to conceive; and the opposition to such a tax does not and cannot come from "the people," but from the few who think that property only has rights.

CONGRESS.

The Senate listened to a farewell speech on Missouri affairs from Senator Drake, who has resigned. The nomination of Gen. Pleasanton of New York as Commissioner of Internal Revenue was confirmed on Friday.

The House received a communication from the Secretary of the Treasury asking for $3,851,000, being the estimated deficiency in appropriations for the year ending June, 1870. Of this amount $1,862,000 is for the army and $1,344,000 for the navy.

Mr. Ingersoll, of Illinois, introduced a bill to encourage ship-owning and ship-building in the United States, which was referred to the committee on commerce. The bill proposes to admit to American registry all ships of over 2000 tons, wherever built. Also, to admit free of duty ship-building and engine materials that may be used in the construction of ships of over 2000 tons, the latter to be admitted to the coasting trade, but the former to be excluded therefrom. Also, to allow ship stores to be supplied free of duty to vessels engaged in the foreign trade.

Punchinello expires with the last number for December. It barely paid expenses and the proprietors would not lower the tone of the paper to suit popular taste.

☞ Senator James W. Patterson reflected the opinion of his constituents in the following indignant protest to the bill introduced in the Senate, to restore Arlington to the widow of the rebel Gen. Lee:—

Mr. President, quite enough, perhaps, has been said in relation to this subject; but it seems to me there is one element of turpitude in this resolution which has not been fully considered by the Senate. We are asked, not simply to inquire into the propriety of restoring this property to the widow of General Lee, but we are to inquire also as to the propriety of removing the dead who fell in the cause of the Union from that estate, in order that the widow of the great rebel may return and inhabit her old dwelling-place. It seems to me that this is an insult to all the dead who fell in the mighty struggle for the Union, and an outrage to all the living who fought for the great cause. It is not simply asking that their estates may be restored to the rank and file of the rebel army, but that this estate may be restored to the family of the arch traitor who left Washington after having been educated at the expense of the republic; left this very capital, where, from his position, he was cognizant of all the secrets of the Administration and of its plan and policy to burl back and crush treason, and took with him that knowledge to Richmond, that he might use it to overthrow the Government which had educated, trusted, and honored him. We are solicited now to restore to the widow and children of the man who added ingratitude and the betrayal of confidence to treason, the estate which he fled from in order to disintegrate the Union, destroy this capital, and desolate the homes of the loyal States.

Sir, there is an audacity about this proposition which even excels that of Cataline when he came into the Roman senate as a traitor, and against whom Cicero pronounced that memorable oration which posterity can never forget. And yet, sir, as if the proposition itself was not enough, the Senate of the United States this morning is insulted by having a eulogy pronounced upon the leading traitor whose defection sent hundreds of thousands of the loyal sons of the North to bloody graves and laid a burden of debt upon the country which our prosterity for three generations cannot overcome—a debt which to-day is hampering the industry of the laboring poor all over the North and South alike; that man of all others upon whom the black stain of treason will rest in all the hereafter is eulogized in the Senate of the United States by an honorable Senator, and we are asked to inquire into the propriety of restoring to his widow this estate, from which the arch-rebel stole away, hurling back upon the Senate and upon the capital of the nation, and into the very face of the people, his contempt; we are called upon to entertain this proposition in behalf of the man who prostituted his large ability and his great office to overthrow the Constitution of his country and trail its flag dishonored in the dust.

We are asked to dig up bones of the dead who are sleeping upon the heights of Arlington, and to lay them elsewhere, in order that the woman who fled even before her husband from the capital may come back to dwell where our heroes fell for liberty and the nation's life. Sir, it is an outrage upon the dignity of the Senate, that this thing should be done. I am against it. Let them sleep where they are—the dead guard of the capital. I would not say one word or make one movement that would uncover the fires over which the ashes of time are settling: I would do nothing to cause a rekindling of the passions of the rebellion; but when treason itself, comes into the Senate and starts the sad and terrible memories of the past, I think it is due to ourselves, it is due to the loyal people of the country, it is due to the living heroes that fought for the Union, it is due to the dead, that we should rise up here and indignantly put our feet upon the pregnant purpose.

THE WAR.—The gas in Paris has given out.

The King of Holland refuses to negotiate for the cession of Luxembourg to Prussia.

The opinion strengthens that Prussia will take Luxembourg and Holland instead of Alsace and Lorraine, and that war will end with the restoration of the Empire.

A son of Calvin Bachelder of Raymond, ten years old, while engaged in setting traps for muskrats, espied a pickerel, for which he gave chase; capturing him with his hands, he brought him safely to land! The pickerel weighed five pounds.

—Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego would have had rather a warm time of it but for a miraculous interposition in there behalf; but theirs was a comparatively cool position, for here it is stated that in the town of Bloomington, Ind., there are sixty-seven young women ready to be married and only three marriageable young men, being an average of twenty-two sweethearts and one-third of a sweetheart to each bachelor. He must indeed be difficult to please who, from such a beautiful assortment, could not pick and choose; unless indeed, his judgment should be paralyzed by an embarrassment of riches. Eastern swains who have failed to suit themselves here might wisely make a flying visit to Bloomington, that well-named city.

—"Mr. Smith," said a lawyer to his landlord, "if a man were to give you five hundred dollars to keep for him, and he died, what would you do? Would you pray for him?" "No, sir," said Mr. Smith, "I'd pray for another like him."

Efforts are making in Keene to form a millitary company to be composed of veteran solders.

—The debt of death we all must pay, and let us so live that we can answer the demand of nature with the same honesty and fidelity that characterizes our transactions in daily life.—John P. Hale.

—It is asserted that the persistent secretion of tears will occasion congestion of the emotional ganglia, a serious damage to the structures of certain parts in the suspension of their functions. In one patient who was unable to shed a tear upon the announcement of exciting news, there followed entire loss of power and partial loss of sensation in the right arm and leg, which continued for several days. A free flow of tears will relieve the intense intra-cerebral vascular congestion, and ward off the serious effects otherwise produced on certain parts of the brain.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

POVERTY IS BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as anybody." Try it.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

An Absolute Safeguard.

Invalids, broken down in health and spirits by Chronic Dyspepsia, or suffering from the terrible exhaustion which follows the attacks of acute disease, the testimony of thousands who have been raised as by a miracle from a similar state of prostration by HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is a sure guarantee that by the same means you too may be strengthened and restored. But to those who stand in peril of epidemics, to all who, by reason of exposure, privations and uncongenial climate or unhealthy pursuits, may at any moment be stricken down, this paragraph is most particularly and emphatically addressed. You, who are thus situated, are proffered an absolute safeguard against the danger that menaces you. Tone and regulate the system with this harmless medical Stimulant and Alterative, and you will be forearmed against the maladies whose seeds float around you in the'air unseen. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are not only a standard Tonic and Alterative throughout the United States, but they are accredited by the certificates of the most distinguished citizens of the Union, to the people of all other lands. In Canada, Australia and the West Indies, they are gradually taking place of all other stomachics, whether native or foreign, and as surely as truth is progressive and demonstration overthrows doubt, they will eventually supersede every other Invigorant and Restorative now employed in medicinal practice. 1wdaw

He goes in strong for John Chinaman, and he lived among them in California nineteen years.

☞ A partial alarm of fire at about half past 1 o'clock Sunday morning, was occasioned by the partial burning of a building on Hunking Street, owned by Mr. Sampson L. Russell. The damage was not great, the alarm and the fire being of about equal size. We understand that the same building has been on fire three time previously—which looks as though somebody is bound to burn that building up, if perseverance can manage it.

☞ Frank W. Miller, Esq., late of this paper, is announced as a candidate for County Commissioner, before the Republican Convention, which meets at Exeter next Thursday. Portsmouth has not been represented on the Board since the expiration of the term of James C. Brown, Esq., although this city pays one third of the County Expenses. The nomination of a Portsmouth man should be conceded this time, we think, without a struggle, and no better man for the position can be selected than Mr. Miller. He has an extensive acquaintance throughout the County, and is just the man for the place.

☞ They have neck-tie sociables in Montana. Every lady, upon entering the door, is required to give the doorkeeper an envelope containing a necktie made of the same material as the dress she wears that evening; to be made in any conceivable shape, and trimmed as she chooses. Every gentleman pays fifteen cents at the door and receives a check for a necktie, and afterwards the neck-ties are distributed to checkholders. After receiving his new article of dress, each gentleman commences a search for the lady who made it, and with it finding her shows his gratitude by treating her to oysters, cake, peaches, etc.

☞ A gasometer at Worcester, Mass., exploded Friday evening. It contained half a million feet of gas. Nobody killed—several persons wounded.

AN INTERESTING RESORT.—Lovers of natural history will find much to gratify them at No. 486 Washington street, near Boylston street, where Mr. C. G. Brewster's "Natural History store" is now located, removed from Tremont street. A large stock of choice kinds of cage birds is to be found here—the sweetest singers, and those of most beautiful plumage—and a variety of curious birds that must delight those interested in ornithology. There are numbers of rare birds stuffed. Mr. Brewster is doing much in preserving birds and animals, a museum of which he exhibits. There are besides strange reptiles, as life-like as possible, preserved, and aquaria full of fishes of many kinds, cabinets of minerals, and shells of rare and beautiful sorts, that afford pleasure to the visitor—the whole forming an interesting point to visit, for the citizen and the stranger, to either of whom Mr. Brewster is always politely attentive, and is pleased to see them at the store.—Boston Union.

POLITICAL.—Hon. Ezra Gould has been renominated for Councillor in the 2d District, by the Republicans.

The Laconia Democrat says, "Ellery A. Hibbard, Esq., of this town, will receive a renomination for Congress in this District, by the Democrats."

The Republicans of the 7th Senatorial District have renominated Hon. Chas. H. Campbell of Nashua.

The Nashua Telegraph claims the election of eighty-seven delegates favorable to the renomination of General Stevens as the Republican candidate for Representative to Congress in the 2d district. Sixty-nine delegates are claimed for rotation, leaving forty-eight to be chosen. The friends of Gen. Stevens claim that at least one-half of these will be favorable to him, thus insuring his renomination. Glad to hear it.

CLEAR AS MUD.—The following lucid account of the result of the recent municipal election in Boston, is from the telegraphic report to the Cincinnati Morning Ledger:—

William Gaston, the Citizens' and Democratic candidate, received 652 votes against 7819 for G. A. Carpenter, his Republican opponent, and an aggregate of less than one hundred.

Alonzo Wright, the Representative of the Labor Prohibition Board of Street Commissioners, which will have the power of expending $25,000 on each or all of the streets of the city during the next three years, was constituted as follows: Joseph A. McChristopher, O'Connor and Isaac S. Barrill. The Board of Aldermen elected generally affiliate in political matters with the Mayor.

If the gentlemen composing the Boston city government can tell who they are and what political faith they hold, after reading the above, their heads are clear enough for them to become good legislators. Mr. Wright seems to be wrongly "constituted;" but the "Labor prohibition" Board of Street Commissioners will no doubt be as popular with the loafers of Boston, as a "loafing prohibition" Board of Street Commissioners—armed with ample powers for dispersing or capturing the sidewalk brigade—would be with the respectable citizens of Portsmouth.

—Touching and irresistible was that invitation of the rustic maiden to her swain: "Come and see me; we have a new lamp at our house that we can turn down, down, down, until there is scarcely a bit of light in the room." He went.

—A correspondent of the Boston Traveller says that if women were as particular in the choosing of a virtuous husband as men are in the choosing of a virtuous wife, a moral reformation would be soon begun.

Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railroad Co.
The small remaining balance of the Loan for sale
At 90 and Accrued Interest in Currency.
Interest payable May and November.
J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.
The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.
The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, at a time when the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.
The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an unmitated security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.
The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds will prevent any decline in the market, while these Bonds pay 7 per cent., current interest, while these Bonds pay 7 per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.
All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

CENTRAL RAILROAD
OF IOWA,
Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.
NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.
☞ This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.
ONE MILLION
—OF THE—
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS
of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of 90 and Accrued Interest.
Among their advantages are—
1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.
2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.
3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.
4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.
5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.
6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.
7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.
We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR.
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. This hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Morning Chronicle.

THE RISE AND FALL OF NAPOLEON III.—The history of France in the seventh decade of the century is as remarkable as her history during the decade that she was ruled by Napoleon I, (1804-1814). At the beginning of 1861 France was the first nation in Europe, and Napoleon III. was the first man in France. The success that had waited on the French arms in the Russian war and in the Italian war had stoned for the disasters of 1812-15. The hegemony of Europe had passed to France after the defeat of Russia; and though the Emperor's Italian policy had by no means pleased his subjects, it had done much to raise him in the estimation of the world at large; and France had the benefit of his action, and of the use to which he had put her means. Had he died at that time he would have had a high place in history as a great and successful sovereign, who, like Augustus, had obtained power by bad means, but had used it so well as to make men overlook its origin.

Whether he had meant to create the Italian kingdom might be a point for dispute; but it would have been clear that kingdom never could have existed but for his action. Nor was it a light thing that he had freed Europe from that odious Russian supremacy which had weighed upon its mind for forty years, and the continuance of which would have been incompatible with the independence of any European nation. Unfortunately for his fame he did not die, but lived to add to the illustrations afforded by the history of his family that "naught may endure but mutability;" and the change that came over his fortune was his own work, and can be placed to the account of no other man, nor charged upon the fickleness of the multitude. He did nothing but blunder and fail for almost ten years; so that his fall, astounding as it was, was nothing but the effect of his errors. His first great mistake was his assumption of an attitude of hostility to the United States on the occurrence of the secession rebellion. Though the French Emperor's interference in the affairs of Mexico was not caused by the secession war, it was occasioned by that event.

When the Emperor had to withdraw his army from Mexico, rather than see it driven out of that country by an American army, and disgracefully to abandon the Archduke Maximilian to his fate, the French people were not moved to anger against the American people, but they saw that their Emperor had brought disgrace upon their country, and he sank in their estimation. He blundered again in 1863 when he proposed that a European Congress should be assembled, without having first ascertained that the proposition would be acceptable to all the great powers; and the rebuff he then received from England degraded him in the eyes of his subjects, and did not elevate him in the consideration of foreigners. But what injured him most was the manner in which he was managed and outwitted by Count Von Bismarck in the interest of Prussia.—From "The Seventh Decade of the Nineteenth Century," by C. C. HAZEWELL, in Harper's Magazine for January.

THACKEREAY'S FIRST AMERICAN OYSTER.—Thackeray announced to me by letter in the early autumn of 1852 that he had determined to visit America, and would sail for Boston by the Canada on the 30th of October. All the necessary arrangements for his lecturing tour had been made without troubling him with any of the details. He arrived on a November evening, and went directly to the Tremont House, where rooms had been engaged for him. I remember his delight in getting off the sea, and the enthusiasm with which he hailed the announcement that dinner would be ready shortly. A few friends were ready to sit down with him, and he seemed greatly to enjoy the novelty of an American repast.

In London he had been very curious in his inquiries about American oysters, as marvellous stories, which he did not believe, had been told him of their great size. We had taken care that the largest specimens to be procured should startle his unwonted vision when he came to the table, although I blush at the remembrance of it now. We apologized in our wicked waywardness to him for what we called the extreme smallness of the oysters, promising that we would do better next time. Six bloated Falstaffian bivalves lay before him in their shells. I noticed that he gazed at them anxiously with fork upraised, then he whispered to me, with a look of anguish, "How shall I do it?"

I described to him the simple process by which the free-born citizens of America were accustomed to accomplish such a task. He seemed satisfied that the thing was feasible, selected the smallest one in the half-dozen, and then bowed his head as if he were saying grace. All eyes were upon him to watch the effect of a new sensation in the person of a great British author. Opening his mouth very wide, he struggled for a moment, and his mouth then all was over. I shall never forget the comic look of dispair he cast upon the other five over-occupied shells. I broke the perfect stillness by asking him how he felt. "Profoundly grateful," he gasped, "as if I had swallowed a little baby."—JAMES T. FIELDS, in the Atlantic Monthly for January.

—The Marshall County (Iowa) Times says: "Don't go back on your newspaper. A subscriber to the Times recently stopped his paper, and the next week was kicked by a horse so severely that his life is despaired of.

—An Iowa farmer going to market on a load of hay enjoyed a smoke for a while. When the hay began to smoke he didn't enjoy it any more. The iron work of the wagon was worth about five dollars.

A CARD.

A CLERGYMAN, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the Cure of Nervous Weakness, Early Decay, Diseases of the Urinary and Seminal Organs, and the whole train of disorders brought on by baneful and vicious habits. Great numbers have been cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the recipe for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it. Free of charge. Address JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, Bible House, New York city.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy. For pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patients restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the parent a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

CACOETHES SCRIBENDI;

And What Came Of It.

Miss Lucia Lammermoor was a rather nice girl, who lived in a little village in the depths of Vermont called Topknot. There was nothing in the early part of her career leading her friends to suppose she would ever be otherwise than all that was estimable to the end of her days. It is true, one thing was seriously against her at the outset. She was the oldest child, the first grandchild, and hence very remarkable as an infant. It was universally conceded—at least by all her grandfathers and grandmothers, uncle and aunts, and the more polite of the neighbors—that so precocious, so wonderful a child was never seen. Her parents endeavored to bear themselves meekly before an envious world, but it was a struggle. At the age of four months she pointed at the fire! When only ten months and two weeks old she distinctly said "Da-da" and "Goo-goo!" She stood alone when Mrs. Briggs' Tommy next door, two weeks older, was still ignominiously creeping. We spare the reader many equally wonderful testimonies to her early prowess which might be recounted, being all perfectly fresh in Mrs. Lammermoor's mind to this day.

Never did poor child have fairer prospects of being spoiled than Lucia. But the speedy arrival on this mundane sphere of Willie Lammermoor, followed in due time by that of Susan, Mary, Toppy and Poppy the twins, and James Adolphus, served to consign her to a wholesome state of partial neglect and letaloneness.

After having exhausted the resources of the Topknot district school and academy, she was sent for the finishing, ornamental touches to a boarding-school in Montpelier, whence, after undergoing the regular course in manners and morals, French and music, she was launched on an admiring world, warranted to "elevate and adorn any circle to which Providence in its wisdom should call her," as per accompanying certificate tied with blue ribbon.

For a while her life was as harmless—and, to tell the truth, useless—as could have been desired. She made tatting and tidies, loaded her friends with gratitude and embroidered pin-cushions, waged the battles of her younger sisters against Will, the common enemy, corresponding vigorously with ten of her most intimate boarding-school friends—was, in brief, quite a model nineteenth-century young lady. All might have been well, but for one of those crises in the money market which now and then literally try men's souls. Money suddenly grew very tight. Banks and business-men hauled in all extra-canvass and lay-to, prepared for squalls. Cashiers frowned on even the best paper. Flocks of "lame ducks," like seagulls in a storm, were flying madly around, offering the wildest kind of per cent. in vain. Cottons went down, down—and with them Mr. Lammermoor's funds and spirits. The strictest economy was enjoined on his family. One day this edict fell like a thunder-bolt on their devoted heads: "No new bonnets this year, girls."

The girls stared at him aghast. Then, in chorus: "You can't be serious, father; you're joking now—aren't you?"

"I wish I were," grimly responded Mr. Lammermoor, usually the most easily wheedled of fathers where his three daughters were concerned. "Why, I see in to-day's Tribune that Overall, Sheeting & Co., have just failed for half a million, and cottons are quoted 'Unsteady with strong downward tendency.' New bonnets, indeed! We may be thankful if we manage to keep out of the poor house!" and Mr. Lammermoor stalked gloomily off to put his factory running on half time.

"Oh, Lucia, what shall we do?" quoth Sue in accents of despair.

"Like the First Witch in Macbeth, 'I'll do and I'll do, and I'll do;' only I'm not quite certain what, yet!" replied Lucia.

"Perhaps our old ones may be made respectable?" suggested Sue.

"Respectable!" said Lucia, with infinite scorn. "I've no taste for being merely respectable. The bonnet makes the woman, or at least her looks, which is the same thing."

Here Will entered from the post-office with the last number of the Windboro' Family Chronicle. The girls fell on it at once, hoping for light from its New York correspondent, whose hightoned dicta on the fashions were regarded as indisputable. Skimming rapidly down the dissertations of this authority, their eyes fell on this blasting paragraph:

"Bonnets will be worn much larger the coming winter. While the crowns are entirely different in shape from those of last season, and the capes much deeper, the distinguishing and most recherche feature of the latest importations from Paris is the front, which is worn very high and projecting over the forehead imparting a truly distingue air to the fair wearer."

A solemn silence followed this destruction of their last hope, broken by Lucia. "Girls, mark me!" said she in tragic accents befitting the occasion. "For the present, I adopt as my aim in

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?
IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the
AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.
It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.
It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.
One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yd.s 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 19 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats.—Thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.
The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be supplied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.
The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine the ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the TUESDAY, DEC. 20, 1870.

THE WAR.—Great preparations are being made in Paris for another grand sortie.

Heavy fighting continues along the Loire. The Prussians attacked General Chauzy's corps in great force near Blois, on Wednesday, the 14th, about noon, when a severe engagement began, which lasted for several hours. The German forces were superior in numbers, but the French troops fought desperately, and after a bloody fight succeeded in breaking the enemy's lines. This success was quickly followed by a brilliant charge along the entire line, when the Germans, after a stubborn resistance, finally yielded and fell back to the line of fortifications in their rear.

The four Generals commmanding the main divisions of the army of the Loire, Chauzy, Bourbaki, Jaures and Jaurezi-burg, have concerted plans for a simultaneous advance, all having been largely reinforced. The Germans are retreating all along the line of the Loire.

PHILLIPS EXETER ACADEMY BURNED.

About 3 o'clock, Sunday morning, fire was discovered in the basement of the Academy at Exeter, and the building and a portion of the library were burned. The Academy was built in 1783. The total loss was $8000. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary. There were about 150 students at this term, and nine had been expelled for bad behavior—four on Friday last. It is thought that one or more of the number set the building on fire. A vacation of two weeks was to commence to-day. After the close of the vacation, the students will use the Orthodox Chapel for recitations, so there will be no interruption in their studies. The fire communicated to the club house, and burning brands were blown to other buildings, but they were saved by the fire department and citizens of Exeter.

☞ Sir Edward Thornton, the British minister at Washington, has been advised of a remittance to his address of within a fraction of $5000 for the widows and orphans of the crew of the Oneida, which was quietly contributed by seventy British subscribers headed by Earl Shaftsbury, Earl Clarendon and Rothschilds, and given to Sir Edward for distribution.

☞ The Republicans of Newcastle propose the name of John P. Cooper, Esq., of that town, as a candidate for Councillor. Mr. Cooper is well known as a man of strict integrity and of large experience in business life. He has represented Newcastle in the legislature and is every way qualified for the position for which he is named.

☞ Franklin Kettle and his wife, two of the oldest and most respected residents in Stephentown, New York, were murdered on Thursday night by their son, who is blind. The father and son had some dispute about a will, which culminated in the murder. The murderer has been arrested.

☞ Mr. Samuel Buffum, whose team was stolen by the burglars of the North Berwick Bank, has recovered the horse and buggy, and a strange harness, at Great Falls. He says the burglars left Great Falls on the 5.40 train, Friday morning, and one of them got off at Lawrence.

GETTING FRIGHTENED. — The Pall Mall Gazette, in a leading editorial on American affairs, recommends England to solve all American controversies, including the Alabama question, as quickly as possible, at any issue rather than none.

☞ Hon. James Shaw of the Selma (Alabama) Press, and formerly of this city, received the support of the Republicans in the Alabama Legislature for State Printer. A Democratic competitor was elected.

☞ The King of Holland publicly announces that he will defend the treaty of 1867 by resisting all encroachments of Prussia upon Luxembourg. Russia supports Prussia in her demand.

☞ S. R. Niles, Esq., the veteran advertising Agent, is spoken of as President of the Boston Common Council. The Boston Times says he is the handsomest member of the Board.

Charles Burnes, an employe, was burnt to death by the fire which destroyed Crane & Brothers' old red paper mill at Dalton on Friday night.

☞ Mayor Blake of Worcester died of the injuries caused by the gas explosion. He was re-elected Mayor for the sixth time last week.

New Publications Received.

Our Young Folks for January has the commencement of a new story for boys and girls, "Jack Hazard and His Fortunes." Its other contents are interesting to old and young. Fields, Osgood & Co., Publishers, Boston.

Our Poetical Favorites, by Prof A. C. Kendrick, is a selection from the best minor peoms of the English language. It embraces about three hundred pieces, secular and sacred, from the sweetest poets of England and America, and will be a treasure to every lover of poetry. It is issued in very neat style, by Sheldon & Co., New York.

The Nursery for January, a nice Magazine for little folks. Only $1.50 a year. Just the thing for a Christmas present. J. L. Shorey, Publisher, Boston.

Sam Shirk, a Tale of the woods of Maine, by George H. Devereux, is a volume published by Hurd & Houghton. The author says in his preface that the book is an outgrowth of ten years of his own life, spent in early manhood in Down East scenes. He made then many sketches of incidents which came under his observation, and now he has woven them together into a connecting story, which people in Maine, and Maine people everywhere, will read with peculiar interest. One of its chapters gives an admirably vivid picture of a log-jam, and others deal with other equally characteristic phases of Maine life.

The same publishers have issued Victor Hugo's "Napoleon the Little," written in 1852, now first published in this country. It will be read with new interest now that the author's characterization of Louis Napoleon and many of his propbecies seems to have been verified by recent events.

The same publishers have also issued a new novel by Jane G. Austin, author of "Cipher," entitled "The Shadow of Moloch Mountain." This lady has many admirers; "Cipher" established her fame as a novelist, and this new work will fully sustain it. These books are for sale by Foster Shores & Co.,

Peters' Musical Monthly for January is for sale by E. G. Adams.

Arthur's Lady's Home Magazine for January is on our table. The colored steel fashion plate is one of the finest we have seen; the rich Cartoon entitled "The Skein Winders," is a picture of high artistic beauty. "Grandpa's Darling," "Going to School," and "Coming from School," are three charming pictures. Send to the publishers, T. S. Arthur & Sons, Philadelphia, Penn., a stamp for postage and get a January number as a sample. Terms, $2 a year.

The Children's Hour, January number, has a supplement of "Christmas Carols." Mothers and fathers, take it for your little ones; send $1.25 to T. S. Arthur & Sons, Philadelphia, and get it for their Holiday present.

New Hampshire Items.

Mr. C. B. Jordon has retired from the editorial charge of the Coos Republican, which paper has gone into the hands of the Coos Republican Association, composed of twelve Republicans.

Wm. N. Blair, Esq., was renominated for Senator, at the Republican Senatorial Convention for the Sixth District, held at Alton on the 15th inst.

DISASTER TO A MAINE VESSEL.—The barque Trovatora of Searsport, Me., Captain Blanchard, which sailed from Trieste Nov. 28th for Palermo and New York, was recently capsized, and the captain, his wife and child, and fourteen of the crew were drowned. Four of the crew were saved, having been picked up off Cape Spartamento.

☞ Said a "one young" to his mother, hereabouts, recently, "Mother, don't you think God was to blame for letting the devil loose after he had him chained?"

☞ Gold, Monday, 110 5-8.

SLEEP, FAINTING, APOPLEXY.—When a man is asleep, his pulse beats, and his lungs play, but he is without sense, and you can easily wake him up. In sleep the face is natural. If a man is asleep, let him alone, nature will wake him up as soon as he has got sleep enough.

If a person "faints," he too, is without sense, but he has no pulse and does not breathe. In a fainting fit, he has the pallor of death. When a person faints, all that is needed is to lay him down flat on the floor, and he will "come to" in double-quicktime. He fainted because the heart missed a beat, failed for an instant, failed for only once to send the proper amount of blood to the brain.

Apoplexy is between the two: the heart beats, the lungs play as in sleep, and there is no sense, as in fainting, but you can't shake a man back to life. In apoplexy, it is swollen, turgid, and fairly livid. In apoplexy, as there is too much blood in the head, any one can see the best position is to set a man up and the blood naturally tends downward, as much as water will come out of a bottle when turned upside down, if the cork is out.

☞ Attorney-General Akerman has given a long decision sustaining the position of Secretary Boutwell in regard to the Pacific Railroad companies.

☞ Mr. Charles Reade is writing a serial novel, the American issue of which will appear in the pages of Every Saturday.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is no Patent Medicine humbug gotten up to dupe the ignorant and credulous, nor is it represented as being "composed of rare and precious substances brought from the four corners of the earth, carried seven miles across the Great Desert of Sahara on the backs of fourteen camels, and brought across the Atlantic Ocean on two ships." It is a simple, mild, soothing, pleasant Remedy—a perfect specific for Chronic Nasal Catarrh, "Cold in the head," and kindred diseases. The proprietor, R. V. Pierce, M. D., 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y., offers a reward of $500 for a case of Catarrh that he cannot cure. Sold by druggists, or sent by mail for sixty cents.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

An Absolute Safeguard.

Invalids, broken down in health and spirits by Chronic Dyspepsia, or suffering from the terrible exhaustion which follows the attacks of acute disease, the testimony of thousands who have been raised as by a miracle from a similar state of prostration by HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is a sure guarantee that by the same means you too may be strengthened and restored. But to those who stand in peril of epidemics, to all who, by reason of exposure, privations and uncongenial climate or unhealthy pursuits, may at any moment be stricken down, this paragraph is most particularly and emphatically addressed. You, who are thus situated, are proffered an absolute safeguard against the danger that menaces you. Tone and regulate the system with this harmless medical Stimulant and Alterative, and you will be forearmed against the maladies whose seeds float around you in the air unseen. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are not only a standard Tonic and Alterative throughout the United States, but they are accredited by the certificates of the most distinguished citizens of the Union, to the people of all other lands. In Canada, Australia and the West Indies, they are gradually taking place of all other stomachics, whether native or foreign, and as surely as truth is progressive and demonstration overthrows doubt, they will eventually supersede every other invigorant and Restorative now employed in medicinal practice. 1wdaw

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has been higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

☞ "No doubt ye are the men, and wisdom will die with ye." The only man who knows how to make a newspaper, is the egotist of the snarly organ. What a pity he don't run all the Dailies, here and in Boston. He minds other people's business more than his own—whereby hangs a tale.

☞ The contract to build the new wooden block of four stores, on the Waldron lot, on Congress, near Vaughan Street, has been awarded to Mr. Thomas J. Spinney, one of our most enterprising and energetic young master mechanics. The owners will be Messrs. Pfeiffer, Burleigh, Dr. Goodall and Alfred Stavers—the latter having declined to sell his part of the lot, even at the handsome advance offered.

Communication.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER.—Messrs. Editors:—I am glad to see a move is to be made, to have Portsmouth represented in this Board; for it is of more importance to our citizens than all other offices in the State. The County expenses are now nearly as much as those in the City, and Portsmouth pays more than one third of them. It is but right and fair that we should always have a voice in the management of County institutions and the expenditure of the money. But let our city delegation unite on a fit man to place before the Convention, and not lose the nomination entirely by offering two or more, as has been the case for several years.

PORTSMOUTH TAX PAYER.

Communication.

STREET MAKING, and especially street preserving, are very difficult arts; but we are sure our present Street Commissioner is in no wise blamable for the bad condition of Islington or other streets. Middle Street, graded last year by the old Commissioner, and Richards Avenue and other streets, on which much money has been spent, are no better,—and the statements or insinuations of the Journal, as to any incompetency or carelessness of the present Commissioner, are untrue and unjust.

Mr. Ham has proved himself a capable and efficient officer, and it is the poor quality of the material which has been used for our streets, and the lack of drainage, that are responsible for the bad condition of many streets,—and this has led the City Councils to purchase a Stone Crushing machine, in hope and full expectation of better things.

Good roads cost a great deal of money; and while the best are the cheapest, even these will wear out; and while there is so little thorough under drainage of our streets, and so many deep-rooted trees therein, and with our clayey subsoil and our level and rather low situation,—it is not to be wondered at, however much it may be regretted, that many of our streets are very bad, especially so long as we have been obliged to make them of round stones and gravel. We hope broken stone will work better, as it has elsewhere; but we do not think any blame for the present condition of the streets attaches to Street Commissioner Ham.

ALDERMANIC COM. ON STREETS.

We noticed the uncalled for "slur" in the Journal against Street Commissioner Ham, and had intended replying to it; but the communication above sufficiently explains matters. The fact of the case is that Islington Street is in a better condition than it was three years ago, and no one is better cognizant of the fact than the editor of the Journal. Why not growl at Commissioner Ham because the wind blows and the rain falls, occasionally? It would be as sensible as to blame him because another citizen chose to build a dwelling house opposite a mud puddle. If Mr. Ham was a disciple of Calvin, instead of a Baptist of the Freewill variety, perhaps his work would appear more seemly in some people's eyes.—Eds.

The Gubernatorial Candidacy.

The Republican State Convention will meet at Concord on Wednesday, Jan. 4, 1871, and a dozen competitors are in the field. There has been some talk of conciliating the temperance element, which last year threw nearly a thousand votes, by the nomination of a thorough-going temperance man, who shall be in full accord with the principles advocated by those who supported Rev. Mr. Barrows for Governor, last year. Rev. James Pike of Newmarket has therefore been prominently mentioned as an available candidate who might please the temperance men and secure the full support of the party. This hope seems useless. We are informed by a prominent leader of the prohibition faction that the nomination of Mr. Pike will not prevent the nomination of a temperance candidate, unless the State Convention shall adopt strong resolutions favoring prohibition.

This, we think, destroys all special claims of the friends of Mr. Pike for his nomination. We do not like the principle of selecting clergymen as standard bearers in politics, nor do we see the necessity of doing so in this particular instance. There are other men spoken of in connection with the nomination, who can concentrate the vote of the party. Among the most prominent is Hon. HORTON D. WALKER of Portsmouth, whose popularity in this section of the State would insure him more than the full vote of his party. As a man of integrity, business qualifications and sound principle he has no superior among the candidates named. He has an extensive acquaintance throughout the State and will receive a strong support in the Convention from Cheshire, the County of his nativity. Portsmouth and many towns in Rockingham County will support him vigorously and it is expected that he will receive a large vote. Now that Newmarket has secured the candidacy for Congress, the question of location is being discussed, and Mr. Walker's friends think that it is not necessary for the success of the Republican party to run candidates for Congress and Governor from one town. Mr. Walker is a citizen of whom Portsmouth is proud, who will, if nominated, make a chief magistrate whom the citizens of the whole State will honor and respect, and whom the temperance men can unite on as one of their number as readily as on any other candidate named.

☞ Although the supreme judical court has decided that naturalization papers issued by police courts are void, the United States circuit court for the district of New Hampshire a few years ago, held that they were valid. A large number of aliens have papers issued by the police courts of Manchester and Nashua. Judge Odell has always refused to receive applications for naturalization in his court.

CENTRAL RAILROAD
OF IOWA,
Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.
NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.
This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.
ONE MILLION
——OF THE——
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS
of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of 90 and Accrued Interest.
Among their advantages are—
1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.
2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.
3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.
4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.
5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.
6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.
7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.
We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.
Subscriptions will be received in PORTSMOUTH by

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR.
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Morning Chronicle.

lite the old man's advice to his son: 'Get money—honestly, if you can,—but, anyhow, get money.'

It has been suggested that the often quoted passage from St. Paul should read, "The want of money is the root of all evil." Certain it is, an empty purse was the sole cause of her heroine's misdoing. "Be good and you will be happy," has become an axiom. "Be rich and you will be good," might almost be another.

"Gold doth lure,
Gold doth secure
All things. Alas the poor!"

Three ways of earning money are open to women who lack strength or inclination for housework—viz: teaching, sewing, writing. The last seemed the most feasible to Lucia. Her head was slightly turned with certain marvelous stories in circulation of the immense pecuniary successes achieved in in this line. She thought of Fanny Burney and her Evelina, of Miss Phelps and Gates Ajar, of Mrs. Stowe and Uncle Tom's Cabin. Why should not she go where glory waited her? Why longer be a mute, inglorious Milton? She remembered that at school she was supposed to excel in "compos." as the girls dubbed them. Did she not, by the pathos of her last great valedictory effort, bring out the handkerchiefs of all the girls and an audible sniff from one of the audience? The die was cast. She too would become an authoress, and earn, if not fame, at least money and a new bonnet.

To work she went, with a touching ignorance of any possible disagreeable consequences that should have disarmed all cavilers. At first, she tried the high and mighty style. She shed much ink, and some real tears, over a tale of tragedy and trap-doors, called, Beauty and Booty; or, The Brigand's Bride. As the scene was laid in Italy, and her whole life had been spent in Topknot, Vermont, where brigands are by no means so plenty as blackberries, the result was not, even to her partial mind, a success. Finally, this great effort was abandoned, and she decided to perpetrate a sketch of Yankee life and character, called "Our Donation Party."

And now McGregor's foot was on his native heath. All went on charmingly. As every one, no matter of what age, sex or position, enjoys a love-story, a thread of this essential ingredient was carefully worked in. Red-haired heroes not being so common as the other well-known varieties, our hero had red hair. Tall, of course: heroes must be tall. To make a proper contrast the heroine was endowed with black eyes. All the characters expressed themselves in that Yankee vernacular — ha-ow, wa'al, dun'no, guess so, etc.—so universally spoken throughout New England, as witness the Biglow Papers, Josh Billings, Widow Bedott, the traditional stage Yankee and popular opinion generally outside of New England. Long before her story was finished she arrived at the conclusion that money is not to be earned, even by writing stories, without some hard work. But all these things come to an end, and so finally did Lucia's story, and it was furtively dropped into the post-office, addressed to her favorite magazine, The Tin Trumpet.

After two days had passed she visited the post-office daily, and made her father's and Will's lives burdens to them by her persistent determination that they must have a letter for her concealed in some forgotten pocket. One day, after she had lapsed into utter despair, the postmaster surprised her by handing out a letter, which Lucia felt instinctively was no common letter—was, in short, the letter on which hung her fate and her new bonnet. She blushed guiltily beneath the postmaster's eyes: she wondered if he mistrusted. Young people always fancy the world at large feels the same vivid interest in their affairs which they themselves do. Only by hard experiences do they learn at last the insignificance of any one person in this world of ours. As for the postmaster, who handled daily letters that meant success or failure, joy or despair, sin or salvation, life or death to some one, Lucia's little hopes and tears were of the smallest moment to him.

She hurried home, regarding the fateful missive with a queer countenance, expressive of the most mingled emotions. Once safely in a side street, curiosity triumphed over apprehension, and she tore it open, thinking, "Of course it's rejected, and I may as well get over the worst before I reach home." But what was this? Could she credit the evidence of her own eyes? Certainly this was a check, for the incredible sum of twenty-five dollars.

She walked home on air, with a beaming face that seemed to diffuse several square feet of happpiness around her into the "circumambient air." She burst wildly into the house, joyfully proclaimed the great news, and then gave vent to the exuberance of her feelings by whirling Sue with her in a waltz of triumph around the sitting-room, to the accompaniment of loud wails from James Adolphus, too young to appreciate the glory that had befallen the family. This money seemed to Lucia rather too remarkable to be expended like common greenbacks. She overcame her reluctance, however, so far as to procure for the exterior of the head whose interior had furnished the wherewithal, one of the pokiest of those poke bonnets in which the heart of woman rejoiced only a few years ago.

Concluded in our next.

—A little four-year-old was turning somersaults a few days since, and his mother cautioned him to desist, telling him he would break his neck. "No I shan't, mamma, God puts 'em on stout," was the little hopeful's assuring reply.

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "puffs" to introduce it, but upon its merit. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it appear, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably healthy state of the lungs in healthy constitutions. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold and the breeze of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend, as I spent three months there myself. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and of my medicines, grew fat. One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Sanford are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles from river mills, and is consequently impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times, but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs get healed.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly; therefore, my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average from twenty to forty patients a day. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my advice in regard to taking cold. Anyone may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and Schenck's Tonic," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third of the population are liable to die of this dreadful disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; and still there are many thousands of cases. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were so easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not: they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another cold, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

If advised to prevent these lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work for which I claim. It is established, that nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a dose of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the gratification of eating it, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs,—the whole tone of system and appetite, and creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he is careful.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. In such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. In the first place, throw away the idea that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured by many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been cured from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Pulmonic Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take one of the Mandrakes, and you will be well in from two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of climate, take one of the Mandrakes on first coming on to the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water, and eat watermelons, pears, apples, plums, peaches, and grapes, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations or are exposed to the rain. They are harmless. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, on Saturday, from 9 A.M., to 3, P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether there is any curable disease. It is distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicine, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages, accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

CACOETHES SCRIBENDI;

And What Came Of It.

And here, one would suppose, the story might end. Alas! this was but the beginning. Lucia was to learn that everything has its price. The sorrows of rejected authors have long formed a favorite theme of story-writers. No one thinks of the accepted's trials, all the harder because his lot is popularly supposed to be one of unmingled felicity. Take even the mildest form of success, that of Lucia's for instance. In the first place, there was the long waiting for the article to appear. When, finally, it did appear, she was exceedingly ashamed of it, it read so differently in print. She assured her mother confidentially: "It is the last story I ever should have read if written by any one else. How could I be guilty of such namby-pambyism? However, there's one comfort—no one knows it is mine."

Alas for the vanity of human hopes! Somehow it had leaked out in Topknot that Lucia Lammermoor had written a story for the Trumpet, to appear in the March number. All Topknot was at once on the qui vive, and an immense number of Trumpets for March was sold. The other short stories in this number being a seafaring tale and a thrilling episode in high life at Saratoga, "Our Donation Party" was easily identified as the fatal article.

It became at once the sensation of the day in Topknot. Lucia could not call anywhere without seeing the Trumpet's green cover peering out from under a newspaper. People who usually did not condescend to read stories read this, even sarcastic Dr. Paine and Rev. Mr. Graves, Lucia's minister. Lucia writhed in spirit as she pictured to herself these venerable men sitting solemnly down, deliberately donning their spectacles and gravely bring their great minds to bear on her poor little nonsense. Then every one was determined she should "mean some one" by her characters. All in vain were mean puppets of her imagination, pieces of mechanical work made to suit the market. Topknot was not to be hoodwinked by any such easily-seen-through evasion. Had there not once been a tall, red-haired young man attentive to Lucia, and were not her eyes black? How very improper to describe her own charms so fluently! At least six persons in Topknot were convinced they were "shown up" in "Our Donation Party," and accordingly treated Lucia "civilly" for ever after. And then the grammar the Topknotians considered themselves as represented to use was deeply resented. Lucia was regarded as a highly dangerous character, who might break out any day in a new spot.

In short, as Topknot was a small country town, where not more than three events happened in a year—as, moreover, differing herein from most New England villages, it had never experienced a live authoress in its midst before—Lucia found she had, with the most harmless intentions imaginable, succeeded in raising a very respectable tempest in a teapot. There is nothing like your good intentions for raising a thorough breeze.

Anna Swett gave a little evening party to exhibit her "perfectly splendid" young gentleman cousin from New York, of which fascinating being the Topknot girls had often heard glowing accounts, but for a sight of whom they had hitherto pined in vain. Early in the evening, Lucia had the pleasure of catching the following fragment of a dialogue in one of these sudden lulls that leave the unwary talking confidentially in a shout.

Miss Swett: "Introduce you? She writes for the Trumpet!"

P. S. Y. G. U: "No thank you. I've a horror of blues."

And the guest of the evening betook himself and his moustaches over to Celestia Smiler, whereat Lucia tasted the sweets of revenge, knowing but too well how Celestia would respond Yeth. No. I-gueth tho', and nothing else, to his most brilliant efforts, when the deluded mortal might have been entertained, as she could not secretly help knowing he would have been, by one of her own funniest, brightest talks.

Lucia was seized with a sudden compassion for the wall-flowers, on whom, with the usual selfishness of prosperity, she had not ordinarily bestowed many thoughts. In a certain hopeless corner were five amiable girls trying to smile and act as if, in the language of immortal Toots, it was of "no consequence." Lucia joined them. Virtue is, indeed, its own reward. They immediately selected the "Donation Party" as the topic most agreeable to Lucia, little knowing how thoroughly sick she was of the very name of the thing.

Lilly Lambkin said, "Tee, he, he! I'm really afraid of you, Lucia. Positively, I expect to see every word I say in some of your stories."

And again: "Is Sarah Sharp really yourself? Every one says so."

As the shipwrecked mariner is not usually over-particular about the barque that rescues him from his desert island just as he has eaten his last shoe, so Lucia now hailed with joy the advent of an individual not ordinarily as welcome as flowers in May. This was Mr. Webster Bolus, an exceedingly

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?
IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the
AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.
It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.
It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.
One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yd.; 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 32 square yds., 2 coats.—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.
The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.
The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the WEDNESDAY, DEC. 21, 1870.

CONGRESS.

House.—On Monday, a motion to instruct the committee on ways and means to inquire into the expediency of an immediate repeal of the income tax was defeated 71 to 64.

The post-office appropriation bill was reported, and a bill introduced authorizing the issue of postal cards.

Mr. Jenckes introduced a bill to punish bribery in the election of members of Congress, and a resolution of inquiry into the corruption in the last election in Rhode Island.

☞ Hon. D. T. Jewett of St. Louis has been appointed U. S. Senator by Governor McClurg, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Drake.

☞ The British steamer Clotilde, ashore on Well's Beach, is said to have settled 15 feet into the sand. The cargo is being discharged shoreward.

☞ Steamer San Francisco, from New York, while entering Bermuda on the 5th inst., struck on a rock and was foundered. All hands saved.

☞ Luxembourg says she didn't mean to violate her neutrality and Prussia thinks it best to accept the apology.

Mr. Fechter's Last Row. — Mr. Fechter's regular programme has been at last carried out. A row has occurred at the theatre which he undertook to manage. We don't pretend to say that Mr. Fechter is responsible for all the trouble at the Globe, but it is very unfortunate that innumerable theatrical emeutes should form a part of the history of the great actor's life. His London experience was fraught with "unpleasantnesses;" his first experience in New York was a "row" with Jarrett & Palmer; and his experience in Boston has been a series of "rows," culminating at last with one grand row, in which the whole Globe is seen to roll from his shoulders.

We do not doubt that Mr. Fechter has all his life been surrounded by "mean and petty jealous circles." Otherwise he could not be so worked upon as to lose his temper and self-command. Perhaps, however, the philosophical Sam Weller might deduce from the close association of Mr. Fechter with theatrical rows, something which would not leave the great actor entirely blameless. "Wherever I see sassingers," said Samuel, "I don't see no dorgs."

It was a noble act in Mr. Fechter to come to Boston solely in the interests of art, and the public will appreciate the sacrifices he made. We hope his "pecuniary losses" will be made up to him.—Boston Times.

The Galaxy for 1871 promises even greater attractions than heretofore. One distinctive feature of The Galaxy is, the bright sharp way in which it is edited. Every subject of popular interest is at once seized upon and written up by the most competent person.

The Galaxy has gathered around itself a staff of the most popular writers in every department.

Among the attractions for the coming year, The Galaxy has engaged Porte Crayon to furnish a series of sketches of life and adventure, which will revive the old interest in his pictures of American scenes.

Mrs. Edwards, the author of "Archie Lovell," "Steven Lawrence," and "Susan Fielding," will begin a new novel in the January number, entitled "Ought We to Visit Her?"

In the January number a department of science will be under the charge of a distinguished writer in that field, remarkable for his skill in bringing within popular apprehension even the more abstruse investigations of modern science.

The remarkable series of papers by distinguished public men, to which Messrs. Thurlow Weed, J. S. Black, Horatio King and Gideon Welles have contributed during the year now closed, will be continued during 1871, and will include contributions from other public men of high position and wide experience.

Each number will have humorous articles by Mark Twain, which are a constant source of delight to the public.

Mr. Richard Grant White will, early in the year, begin his series of articles on "Americanisms," a continuation of the popular series on "Words and Their Uses."

Mr. Justin McCarthy has returned to the United States, and will contribute regularly to The Galaxy as heretofore.

Of other writers who will have articles in the numbers of The Galaxy for 1871, may be named; Bayard Taylor, Ik Marvel, Parke Goodwin, Dr. J. C. Draper, Carl Benson, Laure d'Haurerive (author of the Havana Letter,) Prof. J. M. Hart of Cornell University and others.

The regular departments of The Galaxy will be continued. "Driftwood," by Philip Quilibet, treating of current events, is always interesting and instructive. The "Nebula" is bright and attractive.

Short stories and sketches, by the best writers, in abundance,

The conductors of The Galaxy intend to make it even better and more attractive than it has heretofore been. No expense will be spared to secure articles of the greatest interest to its readers. 1tdawd21

Guide to the Union Pacific Railroad Lands. "In presenting to the public a new edition of the Descriptive Pamphlet, it may be stated that the Office of the Land Department was opened for business and the sales of land commenced, July 28th, 1869. During the first year, the sales were restricted to a tract included within the ten mile limits on the first two hundred miles of the Road. The lands offered have been eagerly taken by settlers. Some two hundred and fifty thousand acres have been sold, amounting to upwards of One Million Five Hundred Thousand Dollars. At the same time the intervening section of rich government lands on the line of the Railroad are rapidly settling. Thousands of industrious, enterprising citizens have availed themselves of the splendid opportunies presented to men of limited means, to acquire homes in a rich, productive State, with a delightful climate, on the line of the Great Union Pacific Railroad, where, in connection with cheap lands, are enjoyed all the advantages of civilization. A large, additional amount of land has been placed in market, greater facilities are offered, and the terms of payment rendered still more favorable. Other lands in Wyoming, Colorado and Utah will be placed in market from time to time as the United States Surveys are extended. The present edition of the pamphlet has been revised and enlarged. New and improved maps have been made, and much additional and valuable information given, intended to aid persons contemplating emigration."

☞ The similarity of the lines of the poets Whittier and Holmes in their poems in the January Atlantic has been frequently remarked. The genial Doctor undertakes to tell us that his grandmother's mother, with whom his acquaintance must have been at least limited, had "lips that lover had never kissed;" while the honest Quaker insists for the Cape Ann sister that she vowed "never by lover my lips be kissed." Showing that even if the girls of Annisquam bore love for the fishermen, they had no regard for "smacks." Coming down to the present day, we find one of Miss Alcott's Boston heroines in the Old Fashioned Girl, complained of by her lover, who said, "she will never let me kiss her on the cheeks, nothing but an unsatisfactory peck at her lips." Fortunately this Puritanical weakness has not reached New Hampshire, and that may be one of the reasons why so many Massachusetts men come to the Granite State and marry our daughters.

☞ Mr. James T. Fields retires from the firm of Fields, Osgood & Co., the extensive Boston publishers, on Jan. 1st. Mr. Fields has been in the business 30 years. He will continue as editor of the Atlantic Monthly. The new publishing firm name will be James R. Osgood & Co.,—the partners being J. R. Osgood, J. S. Clark and B. H. Ticknor.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Poverty is Bad, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as anybody." Try it.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

An Absolute Safeguard.

Invalids, broken down in health and spirits by Chronic Dyspepsia, or suffering from the terrible exhaustion which follows the attacks of acute disease, the testimony of thousands who have been raised as by a miracle from a similar state of prostration by HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is a sure guarantee that by the same means you too may be strengthened and restored. But to those who stand in peril of epidemics, to all who, by reason of exposure, privations and uncongenial climate or unhealthy pursuits, may at any moment be stricken down, this paragraph is most particularly and emphatically addressed. You, who are thus situated, are proffered an absolute safeguard against the danger that menaces you. Tone and regulate the system with this harmless medical Stimulant and Alterative, and you will be forearmed against the maladies whose seeds float around you in the air unseen. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are not only a standard Tonic and Alterative throughout the United States, but they are accredited by the certificates of the most distinguished citizens of the Union, to the people of all other lands. In Canada, Australia and the West Indies, they are gradually taking place of all other stomachics, whether native or foreign, and as surely as truth is progressive and demonstration overthrows doubt, they will eventually supersede every other Invigorant and Restorative now employed in medicinal practice. 1wdaw

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a protection against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes exposed to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the sake of your children. Direct your to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

☞ Crispins' Assembly at Congress Hall, this (Wednesday) evening.

☞ Advices from St. Domingo state that the United States vessels Swatara and Nantucket are to sail in January for the Portsmouth Navy Yard, to refit for repairs.

☞ The owners of the slaughter house on South Road have determined to remove it, early next spring. This is good news to all who reside or ever chance to be within a quarter of a mile of the nuisance.

THE CHRISTMAS FAIR opens at the new Chapel on Middle Street this afternoon. Lots of goodies will be for sale and supper may be had at convenient hours. Mr. Jarley's wax work will be exhibited at 8 and 9 o'clock. Doors open from 3 to 9 P. M.

☞ The New Orleans Female Minstrels had a fair audience at the Temple Monday evening. The programme was long and every piece performed as advertised. The violin solo by Prof. Prosho was artistic, and the aerial slack wire, by Maggie Nichols, was well done, but the managers did not do as they advertised, exclude everything objectionable, and the whole entertainment was of the Concert Hall stamp.

MASONIC.—At a special meeting of St. Andrews Lodge, No. 56—held at Masonic Hall on Monday evening, Dec. 19th, the following officers were installed for the ensuing year by M. W. John R. Holbrook, G. M. of the state of N. H. Philip S. Mizener, W. M.; Robert O. Dennett, S. W.; James L. Parker, J. W.; Wingate N. Ilsley, Treasurer; D. Webster Barnabee, Sec.; Wm. A. Ashe, S. D.; Clarence B. Mason, J. D.; Sylvester Ham, S. S.; Timothy J. Trafton, J. S.; Henry G. Tanton, Marshal; Wm. H. Sise, Dept. Marshal; Charles W. Gardner, Chaplain; Wm. B. Randall, Tyler.

DELEHANTY, HENGLER AND BLOODGOOD give one of their unique entertainments at the Temple, this evening, and their programme is a nice one. Delehanty and Heugler are the best dance men travelling, and have a new song and dance—Apple of My Eye. Bloodgood furnishes fun enough for an entire company, and there will just be fun alive. Willie and Tommy Daley are nice little dancers. In fact there is more life, more genuine jolly good fun in the troupe, than in any other male combination company that ever appeared here. Bloodgood's balloon act is worth the price of admission. We hope a large audience will attend.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS.—Any one in search of a present suitable for the season, can tell where to procure one of almost any kind by looking through our advertising columns. Those well off as to the world's goods, who desire to purchase good things to bestow upon less fortunate mortals, will find an assortment to choose from at Butler & Laighton's, Market Square, or Lafayette Laighton's, Market Street; the husband who wants a sewing machine with which to make glad the heart of his spouse, can get one at Joy's, Goodwin's, Montgomery's or Fessenden's; the aspiring youth who desires to present a Christmas gift to the young woman he sits up with, will find muffs (very appropriate) and fur goods at N. K. Walker & Son's, rich dress goods of all kinds at C. H. Mendum & Co's, Henderson's and H. W. Mason's, fancy goods at Adams', C. H. Joy's, Stavers' and Foster Shores', jewelry at Hutchinsons and Burtt's, skates and sleds at Sweetser & Clark's, shoe-and-leather ware at Shedd's, Pettigrew's or Hill & Carr's—and anything else he may want, at other places

And by the way, we (the associate "we") are open to receive the gift of a pair of nice slippers from almost any young lady who will do herself the honor to present us with a pair, as our present ones are awful, and we have in vain tried to procure the necessary quantity for 75 cents; the dealers take one look at our feet, and instantly charge us a dollar for as much of the article as we need, which is an extortion we will not submit to.

N. B. We only want one pair of slippers—we'll take all the rest of our presents out in neck ties, paper collars, shirts, or anything else except muffers, of which latter article we still have six, left over from last year.

BAD STREETS—SOME MORE.—We have received a communication from an old and respected business man of this city, who has never been engaged in politics,—in which he says: "With such material as Portsmouth has been using to repair the streets, they cannot be other than muddy in wet weather,—and in dry times the clouds of stifling dust are worse than the mud on other occasions. Islington Street, of which so much has been said, has been too much repaired with this kind of material, which I think has been the trouble, rather than by whom the work has been performed—and this is the reason why that street has been complained of so much more than many others that have been cared for and have cost far less. In the course of my daily walks from the West End, I have noticed the improvements carried out by Street Commissioner Ham, of which grading streets is but a small part, and, by the way, does not require much extra ability,—I mean under draining and the better construction of crosswalks, which seem to me to have been well and quickly done. I think a man who works for the city as well as the present incumbent has, should be appreciated."

GHOST REDIVIVUS.—The Kittery ghost, after having kept himself hidden from mortal gaze for some time, reappeared last Friday evening. A lady of that town had occasion to go for a doctor at a late hour that evening, and on her return, when just in the hollow near the Methodist church, the ghost made his appearance at her side, seemingly in no wise alarmed at the flame in the lantern which the lady carried, probably being used to fire where he came from. The doctor was some little distance behind, and saw the ghost quite plainly; but as soon as the latter saw the doctor he disappeared—jumped over the wall just as a man would have done, the doctor thinks. Whether there is any natural repugnance to or fear of medical men among departed spirits, or whether this particular ghost was afraid the doctor would make him take pills and rhubarb if he caught him, we cannot say; we only know that the spectre retreated before the presence of the "medicine man" and his terrible wares.

PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY.—A meeting of this Society was held Monday evening, at which it was unanimously resolved to keep up the organization, and to meet regularly for weekly rehearsals, as heretofore. The Mass (Mozart's Twelfth) which was studied last winter, and portions of which were performed at the Society's concert last spring, was selected for rehearsal at the next meeting, which will take place on Monday evening, Jan. 2, 1871,—and Monday evening was selected as the time for all future meetings of the Society. Miss Agnes E. Plumer will continue to preside at the piano, and it was unanimously voted to request Mr. A. Pearson to continue with the Society as Conductor, and to invite the Orchestra to still contribute their valuable aid towards the proper rendering of the music and making the rehearsals interesting and profitable. There is no reason why the Philharmonic Society should die, but many why it should be sustained; and we hope to hear of a succession of full and satisfactory meetings for the rest of the season, notwithstanding the unfortunate hitches which have recently occurred in the working of the machinery.

THE BILLIARD MATCH between Mr. Daniels of Boston and Mr. Dignon of New York, at Congress Hall, Tuesday evening, was an interesting affair. Mr. Dignon led until near the close of the game, when by careful nursing Mr. Daniels made the extraordinary run of 267 and took the lead, which he maintained to the finish. Both are skillful players, and the difficult shots they made drew hearty applause from the audience. After the close of the game, the billiardists gave an exhibition of masse shots, and manipulated the balls in a manner wonderful to the uninitiated.

CENTRAL RAILROAD

OF IOWA,

Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

☞ This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION

—OF THE—

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of

90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.

2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.

3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.

4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.

5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.

6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.

7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Government, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Government must decline also.

Subscriptions will be received in PORTSMOUTH by

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Morning Chronicle.

Concluded from first page.

profound—not to say heavy—young man, studying medicine with Dr. Falce; a youth so weighed down with a sense of the importance of the science of medicine, and himself as a disciple of that science, that he never descended to those trivialities in which common minds delight. He never unbent—was improving to the last. Born in Boston, he trembled not even before a woman who wrote. On the contrary, he evidently regarded Lucia as a kindred spirit, and attached himself to her for the rest of the evening, entertaining her with well-worn platitudes on woman's rights, the conservation and correlation of forces, Confucius, the subjective Me, and other light topics suitable to evening-parties.

Lucia cast agonizing glances of appeal at Tom Briggs? Why didn't he come to her rescue? Did he not know how she detested Bolus?

But Tom, usually Lucia's speciality, was, for some unaccountable reason, obstinately blind to all hints—in fact, decidedly shy of her—and at the close of the evening actually went home with Celestia Smiler, leaving Lucia to the tender mercies of Bolus.

Lucia went to bed a miserable being, feeling that she should soon be able to depict a broken heart, with full particulars, from her own experience. "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown," even if it be only imitation laurel. Lucia said to Sue the next morning. "You didn't lose much by your cold. It was, without exception, the stupidest party I ever attended."

Odd how people's opinions differ! For instance, Miss Smiler's verdict on this same party was exactly the reverse of Lucia's—nothing short of "Thplendid!" in fact.

The very last of the winter—to be exact, the third week in March, when winter begins to show signs of yielding, even in Vermont—the event of the season occurred in the shape of a grand sleigh-ride. All Lucia's set went. She did not, because she scorned going with Bolus, and no one else invited her. From behind the parlor blind her feelings were still further harrowed by seeing Tom Briggs dash by with Celestia Smiler, who wore a provokingly becoming new hood, and whom—such is the strength of human nature, even in authoresses—she instantly hated.

A long standing neighborhood-and-school-day flirtation had been waxing, of late, into something suspiciously more tender, when Lucia's story, like a bombshell, burst in on Topknot, shaking that quiet village to its centre, and rudely dissipating Love's young dream. Tom's idea of literary woman were the usual vague but damaging ones of inky fingers, untidy hair, neglected families, henpecked husbands. Besides, supposing he so far forgot himself as, for instance, to tenderly press Lucia's hand, how did he know it might not all figure in her next story? 'They' said she went deliberately around experiencing things as so much raw material for stories, even the calamities of her best friends being not wholly unwelcome from this point of view.

In short, he was rather afraid of Lucia, and took refuge in Celestia Smiler's society as an antidote. Celestia might be dull, but she was at least perfectly safe. One might be quite sure she would never, under any possible combination of circumstances, do anything out of the commonplace. She would never give way to impulses, because she never had any. Because her temperament was of this dull, lethargic order, leading her to talk little but smile a great deal, displaying thereby some not unpleasant dimples, Tom, with the fine discrimination of his sex, pronounced her 'a womanly woman: nothing strong-mind and unfeminine about her.' Which dictum having been uttered one evening in Mr. Briggs' store, where a group of young men were amusing themselves by discussing the girls with the cigars, Will brought it home as something likely to interest Lucia.

"That's all young men know about women," said Lucia. 'We girls all know that Celestia lies in bed till noon, that her room generally looks as if there had been a small hurricane in it, and her stockings always have holes, in the heels. I wish you could see some of her sewing. But of course we cannot speak of these things. It would be considered all our jealousy.'

"And not far from right, I imagine: hey, Lu?" said this aggravating Will, who, being a man and a brother, could not resist teasing his sister a little now and then.

"I don't understand your allusion in the least. I'm sure that Celestia Smiler is nothing to me—or Tom Briggs, either for that matter."

With which highly veracious and logical remark, and, as the novelists say, a 'haughty mein,' Lucia swept out of the room in a high tragedy manner not unworthy of Mrs. Siddons' best days, injuring the effect somewhat, perhaps, by the slight bang of the door in which her wounded feelings found vent.

There was nothing remarkable about Tom Briggs. He was eminently one of those fish of whom there are plenty more, equally desirable still swimming in the sea. But hearts are such queer, contrary perverse pieces of property! They never feel as they ought to. Here was Lucia's blindly fastened on this undeserving Thomas. Other men might be as virtuous and agreeable, but she would have none of them. He was practically, for her, the only man the sun shone on, or, as Mrs. Browning puts it,

"All other men were to her but as shadows."

She might have fame, wealth, everything the world could offer, and still be unsatisfied so long as this one Mordecai of a denied and wasted love sat in the gateway of her life.

Authors and authoresses are very much like the rest of the world, after all. They can do more 'feed upon the empty wind' than other people. If you tickle them, they laugh; if you poison them they die; they are fed with the same food, hurt with the same weapons, warmed by the same summer and cooled by the same winter, that other Christians are. Their fame, the world's applause or blame, is all something extrinsic, outside of their real life. In the privacy of their homes, in the secresy of their own souls, they must still share all human weakness, feel all human wants.

Things drifted along without much change until summer—Lucia still writing for the magazines, miserable in private, defiantly gay in public. Tom flirted spasmodically with Celestia, but subject to relapses, during which he drove past Mr. Lammermoor's door altogether an unnecessary number of times in a day, and might have been detected in church gazing pensively across at the crown of a certain poke bonnet gracing the Lammermoor pew—when finally a pink lawn dress brought matters to a crisis. On such threads are the Fates pleassed to hang mortal destinies.

Young ladies with black eyes look well in pink lawn. Lucia did—uncommonly well. Tom thought so; only, being merely an ignorant man-creature, he didn't know it was the pink lawn. He simply felt the effects, the deadly effects. It was at singing-school. At the close, when the girls began to stroll homeward in a markedly unconscious manner, as if they did not dream of any one's accompanying them, accidentally—such accidents will happen so long as 'all the world and love is young'—Tom found himself in his old place by Lucia's side, with her hand—the wicked lit tle hand that made all the trouble—resting on his arm. And then, somehow, whether it was the moonlight, or the pink lawn, or the shy way in which Lucia wouldn't look at him, the question, the momentous, the dreadful question, popped itself!

As for Lucia, she blushed and fluttered, and stammered, out her 'Yes' just like an ordinary woman.

So they were married, and Lucia darned Tom's stockings and sewed on his shirt buttons, and never, never wrote for the magazines any more, and they lived happily for ever afterward. But it was a very narrow escape for her, and her example should none the less serve 'to point a moral and adorn a tale.'—P. Thorne.

7 PER CENT. GOLD FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, COUPON OR REGISTERED, AND FREE OF U. S. TAX, Principal and Interest Payable in Gold, ISSUED BY THE Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railroad Co.

The small remaining balance of the Loan for sale At 90 and Accrued Interest in Currency.

Interest payable May and November.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 125 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. The small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to enhance them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at the price of these Bonds sold, if, at any time after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

LITTLE-BREECHES.

I don't go much on religion,
I never ain't had no show;
But I've got a middlin' tight grip, Sir,
On the handful o' things I know.
I don't pan out on the prophets,
And free-will, and that sort of thing—
But I b'lieve in God and the angels,
Ever sence one night last Spring.

I come into town with some turnips,
And my little Gabe came along—
No four-year old in the county
Could beat him for pretty and strong,
Peart and chipper and sassy,
Always ready to swear and fight—
And I'd learnt him to chaw turbacker,
Just to keep his milk-teeth white.

The snow came down like a blanket,
As I passed by Taggart's store,
I went in for a jug of molasses,
And left the team at the door.
They scared at something and started—
I heard one little squall,
And —— to split over the prairie
Went team, Little Breeches and all.

—— to split over the prairie!
I was almost froze with skeer;
But we rousted up some torches;
And searched for 'em far and near.
At last we struck hosses and wagon,
Snowed under a soft white mound,
Up sot, dead beat—but of little Gabe
No hide nor hair was found.

And here all hope soured on me,
Of my fellow-critters' aid—
I jest flopped down on my marrow-bones,
Crotch-deep in the snow and prayed.

* * * * * *

By this, the torches were played out,
And me and Israel Parr
Went off for some wood to a sheep fold,
That he said was somewhere thar.

We found it at last, and a little shed,
Where they shut up the lambs at night,
We looked in and seen them huddled thar,
So warm and sleepy and white.
And THAR, sot Little-Breeches and chirped,
As peart as ever you see,
"I want a chaw o' terbacker,
And that's the matter of me."

How did he git thar? Angels,
He could never have walked in that storm,
They jest scooped down and toted him,
To what it was safe and warm.
And I think that saving a little child,
And bringing him to his own,
Is a derned sight better business,
Then loafing around The Throne.

[From the Chelsea Fair Record.]

A PASSING THOUGHT.

The violets are dead,
And faded is the rose;
The Autumn leaves are shed;
High drift the winter snows,
And no flower blows.

O why complain, sad soul?
Life may be verdure-crowned
How'er the seasons roll;
And Love's sweet flower be found
The whole year round.

ALBERT LAIGHTON.

THE RIGHTS AND WRONGS OF CHILDREN.—Mrs. Geo. Vandenhoff was greeted with a large audience at the Music Hall, Boston, last week, to listen to a lecture on her favorite subject, the "Right's and Wrongs of Children." In her remarks, Mrs. Vandenhoff said that in this age of progress, of reform, State rights and woman's rights, all have had their exponents, but one larger class have been neglected, and that was our children.

In reply to a query which she said might be made in regard to what she knew more about children than others, she said that she had not the presumption to say that she did more, but having witnessed the wrong inflected on the children of the present day, she was not going to look on with indifference, but if by raising her voice in their behalf she could in any way ameliorate their conditions and pave the way for a better course of action in the future, she would be conferring a blessing upon them and upon society at large. She said that children have a right to good food, and clothing, and a good education. They have a right to that higher right—a heart education—a good home.

She considered that the mother's duties to her children begin when she stands before God's altar. Men in choosing among all others to govern their children, should choose good health, not small feet, a pinched waist, or a good complexion; but good health, good sense, and fair accomplishments; and if such was the case there would be much less of divorce and the usual domestic troubles.

After referring to the bad physical training to which American woman are subjected, by reason of fashion, the cramming system of education, and the insufficient hours for recreation and sleep, she said, it is no wonder that the American race is dying out.

We have grown rich; we are too luxurious; our children are so clothed that they do not know the use of their legs and arms, or as if money and riches were the object of life.

Let us be careful that in this luxury of the 19th century the Moloch of the period, our children are not sacrificed.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT
SEWING MACHINES.
"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"
It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.
THE ÆTNA
is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

THURSDAY, DEC. 22, 1870.

THE WAR.—Manœuvring is the order of the day, consequently there are more exhausting marches than hard fighting. The army of the Loire was created to relieve Paris, which necessity has been kept in view in all its operations. It is practically nearer Paris now than when it evacuated Orleans, and the vast accumulation of supplies it guards is ready to be thrown into the city at the propitious moment.

The force which draws Prince Frederick Charles toward Lyons is only part of the army of the Loire, and the far greater portion of that army is moving on Paris constantly as he moves away from the city.

The Herald correspondent telegraps that there has been a second change of base. This diffusion of the army of the Loire is successful strategy, as it brings the fighting near Paris. The immense stores accumulated at Blois and Orleans, designed for revictualling Paris, were all saved. Reenforcements are arriving rapidly, about 5000 daily.

The guardianship in Germany of the 350,000 prisoners has been entrusted to the landsturm, who are now called out with the exception of boys and old men. The whole manhood of the Fatherland is under arms.

Neither of the armies of Chauzy or Bourbaki numbers less than 100,000 men, and both can draw re-enforcements to nearly double that number.

CONGRESS.

Senate.—On Tuesday, the San Domingo resolutions were debated.

House.—A general amnesty bill was debated, and Messrs. Bingham and Butler got excited.

New Publications Received.

On the Hypothesis of Evolution; Prof. Edward D. Cope, author. Chas C. Chatfield & Co., Publishers, New Haven, Conn.

The Duel between France and Germany; an address by Hon. Charles Sumner, published by the American Peace Society, and for sale at their office, No. 36 Bromfield St., Boston, at 15 cents a copy.

With the issue of the January number, Merry's Museum enters upon its thirty-first year. It has been enlarged, and in every respect made a first class magazine for boys and girls. It contains about one-third more reading matter than is given in any other periodical of its class and price, and claims to be the cheapest and the best, as it is the oldest illustrated magazine for youth published in the United States. Terms, $1.50 a year. Horace B. Fuller, publisher, Boston.

☞ A California editor, warned by recent events, turns over a new social leaf in these words:—"All men's wives who have hitherto enjoyed the advantage of our acquaintance, are hereby notified that this ceases, to-day, never to be renewed. Somebody perishes ingloriously every day for being upon speaking terms with married women, and we do not care to have our term come around. Deeply gratified for the past forbearance of aggrieved husbands, we make our bow and retire. Hereafter our nods and smiles will be lavished upon girls and widows exclusively; no others need apply. Whoever shall attempt to introduce us to his own wife or that of any other man's, will be regarded as a conspirator against our precious life, and subjected to abuse in the columns of this journal."

☞ The Democrats have 1345 majority in the First Pennsylvania senatorial district, which the Republicans carried in October, by over 1000 majority. Dissension among the Republicans was the cause. The State Senate is now Democratic by one majority, in consequence.

☞ A gas-holder, containing 450,000 cubic feet of gas, blew up in Cincinnati, making a terrible noise, but doing little damage to any other structure.

☞ By the caving-in of an embankment on a railroad near Utica, twenty men were buried, and only six have been extricated alive.

☞ Kit Burns died on Monday night. He commenced the week well. But we should like to know how many more times.

☞ Wednesday was Forefather's Day, the 250th anniversary, and was duly celebrated at Plymouth, Mass.

☞ The Georgia election returns are meagre, but indicate that the Democrats have carried the State.

☞ Rear Admiral Breeze and Commodore Gardner, of the U. S. Navy, have died recently.

New Hampshire Items.

Dr. John N. Buckman, an eminent physician of Great Falls, died suddenly on Sunday last. He was surgeon in the Fifth N. H. Regiment.

At a Concord town-meeting, in 1797, it was voted, in prospect of a war with France, "That the selectmen give persons who enlist a handsome treat at the expense of the town."

William Davis, son of Elisha Davis, of Keene, committed suicide on Sunday, 18th, by shooting himself through the head. He was about eighteen years of age. He was a fast youth.

PUBLISHERS AND PRINTERS MEETING. A meeting of the New Hampshire Editors, Printers and Publishers' Association was held at Phœnix Hotel, Monday afternoon and evening. The sessions were mainly occupied with business relating to the interests of the Association and in social converse. A committee to consider the subject of collecting and preserving, in a permanent manner, the history of the Press of New Hampshire, reported a resolution authorizing a standing committee to secure, edit and print such history, and naming for said committee Messrs. Moore of Nashua, Hill of Concord, Wallace of Canaan, Libby of Dover, and French of Keene, which resolution was adopted.

The committee on time and place of next business meeting reported the following: That the meeting be held in Concord, January 17, 1873, Franklin's birthday; that sessions for business be held at 11 o'clock A. M. and 2 o'clock P. M.; at 4 o'clock P. M. the reading of historical papers relating to the press of the State; at 7 o'clock P. M. a banquet, open to all members of the Association, with their ladies, and such printers of the State as desire to attend—an address to be made by the President with sentiments by a toastmaster; and the banquet to be followed by a reception; the whole arrangements to be left in the hands of the Concord members of the Association. The report was adopted, after which the meeting adjourned. Monitor.

A STRONG HINT.—A little boy, who had been told that the he must never ask for anything to eat when away from home, went into a neighbor's house when the lady chanced to be frying doughnuts.

'Ah,' said he, 'you are cooking.'

Aware that he had been well-trained, and anxious to see whether his appetite would get the better of his manners, the lady did not offer him any of the doughnuts.

'Well,' said he returning to the charge, 'your cakes look nice.'

'Oh very nice,' said the lady, 'they are the best I ever cooked.'

After playing with the cat a few minutes he remarked:

'And they smell nice.'

'Oh, yes, they smell nice,' was the lady's tantalizing answer.

'Well,' said the boy, 'I suppose if any little child that was hungry should come in here when you are cooking you would give him something to eat?'

'Well, yes, I think I would.'

'Well,' said he after another turn with the cat, 'I guess I must go home, for I am very hungry.'

It is needless to add that he got a doughnut.

—We think it must have been an American doughface who, a few years ago, was so much astonished to learn that Alexander Dumas was a quadroon that he called upon him to verify the fact.

"I am told," began the visitor, "that you are a quadroon, Monsieur Dumas!"

"Yes," answered Dumas.

"And your father?"

"Was a mulatto! the distinguished General Dumas, of the army of Italy—and a mulatto," roared the author in tones that left no doubt of the quality of his lungs.

"And his mother—?" continued the intruder interrogatively.

"Was a negro," shouted Dumas, rising to his feet.

"And who, may I ask, was her mother?" continued the enterprising and indefatigable bore.

"An ape, sir, an ape!" thundered the indignant author. "My family begins exactly where your ends—waiter, show that monkey the door."

—Two ladies were talking about the sparrows, and their usefulness in riding the city of the cankerworms which used to be such a nuisance. One said that the noisy chirping of the sparrows early in the morning, when she wanted to sleep, was as great an evil as the worms. The other lady disagreed. Just then a gentleman came in, and he was appealed to: "Mr. A——, which do you think the worst; sparrows or worms?" He answered, "I don't know; I never had sparrows."

—Bump, Tumbledown, and Tummecake—three naughty little fairies who beset the paths of childhood.

☞ Lynn elected six women on the School Committee on Monday of last week.

☞ The Fenians held by the British government hav elease d.

☞ John Bright has resigned his seat in the English Cabinet.

—The elegant rug contributed to the Universalist Fair at Chelsea, has been purchased by subscription and presented to our friend B. P. Shillaber. As he is, unfortunately, liable to attacks of gout, (inherited from the family of his father-in-law), this rug will just be the thing to place his twitching and throbbing toes upon, should his enemy ever overtake him again, which, we trust, may be a far-off thing with feeble effect. Boston Times.

SALT FOR THE THROAT.—An exchange says: "In these days, when diseases of the throat prevail, and particularly a dry, hacking cough, which is not only distressing to ourselves, but to those with whom we are brought in business contact, those afflicted may be benefited by trying the following remedy: Last Fall we were induced to try what virtue there was in common salt. We commenced by using it three times a day—morning, noon and night. We dissolved a large teaspoonful of common salt in a tumblerful of cold water, and with this we gargled effectually just before meal times. The result has been that during the Winter we were not only free from the coughs and colds to which, as far as our memory extends, we have always been subject, but the dry, hacking cough has entirely disappeared. We attribute it entirely to the salt gargle, and do most cordially recommend it to our readers who are subject to diseases of the throat."

—Prof. James De Mille, who won his first fame four years ago by the "Dodge Club" in Harper's, is a rapid worker. He is under contract to furnish four serial stories to various magazines the coming year, and it is related that one of his books, "The B. O. W. C. Club," was finished in six days; and he completed, in six weeks, a manuscript which he sold for $2000. All this in addition to his regular occupation as Professor of Dalhousie College, Halifax, and the use of his leisure in preparing a text book on rhetoric.

— The Army and Navy Journal thinks if we cannot afford to incur the expenditures necessary to preserve our valuable archives, by the erection of a new building for the War Department, we had better sell the Capitol and the White House, board the President out, and send the members of Congress home.

—The Brownsville (Tenn.) Bee says:—"All that the Southern people can see, or are likely to see while this generation lives, is to raise cotton at thirty cents a pound and sell it at 12 1-2 cents."

☞ The correspondent of the Associated Press states than an unknown man, in attempting to enter the house of Joseph Pettigrew, Wednesday night, fell through a skylight covered with snow, but escaped in the confusion which he caused.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is no Patent Medicine humbug gotten up to dupe the ignorant and credulous, nor is it represented as being "composed of rare and precious substances brought from the four corners of the earth, carried seven times across the Great Desert of Sahara on the backs of fourteen camels, and brought across the Atlantic Ocean on two ships." It is a simple, mild, soothing, pleasant Remedy—a perfect specific for Chronic Nasal Catarrh, "Cold in the head," and kindred diseases. The proeristor, R. V. Pierce, M. D., 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y., offers a reward of $500 for a case of Catarrh that he cannot cure. Sold by druggists, or sent by mail for sixty cents.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

An Absolute Safeguard.

Invalids, broken down in health and spirits by Chronic Dyspepsia, or suffering from the terrible exhaustion which follows the attacks of acute disease, the testimony of thousands who have been raised as by a miracle from a similar state of prostration by HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is a sure guarantee that by the same means you too may be strengthened and restored. But to those who stand in peril of epidemics, to all who, by reason of exposure, privations and uncongenial climate or unhealthy pursuits, may at any moment be stricken down, this paragraph is meet particularly and emphatically addressed. You, who are thus situated, are proffered an absolute safeguard against the danger that menaces you. Tone and regulate the system with this harmless medical Stimulant and Alterative, and you will be forearmed against the maladies whose seeds float around you in the air unseen. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are not only a standard Tonic and Alterative throughout the United States, but they are accredited by the certificates of the most distinguished citizens of the Union, to the people of all other lands. In Canada, Australia and the West Indies, they are gradually taking place of all other stomachics, whether native or foreign, and as surely as truth is progressive and demonstration overthrows doubt, they will eventually supersede every other Invigorant and Restorative now employed in medicinal practice. lwdaw

Life of Beethoven—Oliver Ditson & Co.

NEW SUBSCRIBERS who now pay in full in advance, for the DAILY CHRONICLE or the N. H. GAZETTE, for the year 1871, will be furnished with either paper gratis until Jan.

☞ Are the City Government going to appoint a City Missionary this winter, and if not, who is to take the place of one in dispensing private and public charity, and as far as possible relieving the necessities of the deserving poor? Cold weather is not far distant, and many of our citizens have charity to bestow on the needy, if they had some convenient agency that could assure them that their gifts would go in the right direction.

☞ Every man his own printer, is coming to be literal in this city. Besides the very numerous paper and regular offices, (more numerous than in almost any similar city) young Mr. Robinson has quite a complete establishment at his residence, several storekeepers have portable presses, and now Mr. Albert W. Ham has fitted up a room in a building near his residence at Christian Shore, to do private work of a well-known literary man here; and Mr. Wm. H. Foster is building a new office in his garden on Summer Street.

☞ The Fair of the ladies of the North Parish, at the new Chapel on Middle Street, opened Wednesday afternoon, and continued through the evening. A large number of visitors were present, and from appearances the Fair will be a pecuniary success. The usual variety of fancy and useful articles were offered for sale, the refreshments were nice to look at and to take, and Mrs. Jarley's Waxwork created a very favorable impression on the beholders. The Fair continues this afternoon and evening, and Mrs. Jarley will hold another reception. See adv't.

☞ The Delehanty, Hengler & Bloodgood Combination gave another of their A 1 performances last evening, and it was up to their usual style. We hear that they will return in January, and offer a new programme to their many patrons. With such a "team" as they have, there is no fear of any dullness of performance. The managers understand well how to cater to the popular taste without a resort to indecency, and with that very necessary knowledge, they win respect from the public whom they please so well. They may always expect large audiences in Portsmouth, where their novelties are thoroughly appreciated.

Communication.

PAUPER EXPENSES.—Messrs. Editors: Can anybody tell us how long Portsmouth is going to maintain the poorhouse on our City Farm, and pay two-fifths of the cost of the County institution at Brentwood? One or the other ought to be sold; and as the County House has been imposed upon the people against their expressed will, and almost all the towns in the County have sold their Town Farms, the sooner Portsmouth shall follow suit the better for our pockets,—and none the worse for our humanity, either, for the poor are at least as well off at Brentwood, and all there are content.

There has been much talk of retrenchment and reform; and I know of no way to readily promote this, so effective as to sell the City Farm, which is now but a bill of expense to us, and of no benefit to anybody. TAXPAYER.

☞ We yesterday gave the young man who wants to procure a holiday present for his idol, a list of places where he might find a goodly variety, but lest he might not be able to suit himself at any of the places named, we add a few more. If he thinks a duck of a head-gear—for there are no bonnets now-a-days—would please her, he will find an assortment at C. N. Shaw & Co.'s; he can get a bust of Dickens of Clark, Plympton & Co.; a bell-topper at Dearborn's or a whip at Larrabee's, if he thinks either of those articles will win her; he can procure a curl or braid for her or a wig for himself (if she catches him gallivanting with any other young woman) at Mrs. Lovell's or Mrs. Moran's; and if none of these things will charm her, he had better go to Treat's or Philbrick's stone-yards for something, or to Marvin Bros. & Bartlett for some of the genuine deodorized cod liver oils which always satisfies everybody who knows enough to try it. As a last resort, we refer him to our advertising columns; from which he may learn where to procure anything, from a bottle of patent medicine to an anchor or wagon, or from a steam engine to a needle or a million acres of land.

Communication.

NAVY YARD, PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Dec. 20th, 1870.

Editors of the Chronicle:—Gentlemen:—Many persons take much interest in the matters before Congress relating to the annexation of the Dominican, or Eastern division of the Island of San Domingo. I spent sometime at the Island in 1867. Mr. Hatch, a well-known American resident, gave me, at that time, some specimens of the mineral productions of the country, and amongst them a specimen of rock, or mineral salt. He stated that on the south side of the Island, about 4 miles from the sea, this salt was bedded near the surface of the ground in inexhaustable quantities. It was his opinion, that if a railroad was built, less than 5 miles in length, this article could be put on board ship at 5 cents per bushel, paying a handsome profit to the miners. He believed, from the purity and cheapness of the article, it would supersede the Turk's Island, and all other salts sent from the West Indies.

I send you a specimen of that in my possession for your inspection, and that of any of your readers who may be interested in this matter.

Very respectfully, &c.,
O. C. BADGER,
Commander U. S. N.

The specimen of rock salt referred to above can be seen at this office. It is very hard, free from all impurities, and transparent as glass; and if found in as large amount and so easy of access as was represented to Comdr. Badger, the mine would be a source of wealth to any enterprising possessor.—Eds.

☞ A large assortment of fine goods in gold and silver, suitable for Christmas and New Year's presents, may be found at the store, corner of Market Street and Market Square, where Mr. J. H. Hutchinson will be pleased to exhibit his fine wares to his friends and the public.

☞ Charlie Wilkinson's Dramatic Company give an entertainment at the Temple to-morrow (Friday) evening.

☞ Dearborn S. F. Engine Co., No. 1, have their third annual Ball at Congress Hall to-morrow night,

EXACTLY SO!—The following paragraph we clip from an exchange. It contains a truth in every sentence:

"It is strange how closely the people read the papers. We never say anything that anybody don't like but what we soon hear of it, and everybody tells us about it. But, if once in a while we happen to say a good thing, we never hear that—nobody seems to notice that. We may pay some man a hundred compliments and give him a dozen puffs, and he takes it as a tribute to his greatness and never thinks anything about it—never thinks it does him any good. But if we happen to say something that this very man don't like, or something that he imagines reflects on him or his character, see how quickly he flies up and gets mad about it. All our evil is duly charged to us, but we never, apparently, get any credit for what good we do."

SHEET MUSIC.—We have received Mille Fleurs, a polka redowa, written by the popular pianist and composer, Albert H. Fernald, dedicated to Mrs. A. C. Cary, and published by O. Ditson & Co.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents,—in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1865.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebedings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely supersoding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

CENTRAL RAILROAD
OF IOWA,
Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION
OF THE
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of

90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.
2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.
3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.
4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.
5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.
6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.
7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

Subscriptions will be received in PORTSMOUTH by

JOHN CHRISTIE, Esq.,
Treasurer Rockingham 10 Cents Savings Bank,

SAMUEL LORD, Esq.,
Cashier First National Bank,

Of whom pamphlets and full information may be had.

W. B. SHATTUCK, Treasurer.

OLD TIME CHRONICLES, No. 26.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

EDWARD CRANFIELD, THIRD PROVINCIAL GOVERNOR OF NEW HAMPSHIRE. Cranfield arrived from England in October 1682, and entered upon the duties of his office. His residence was on the Island, then a part of Portsmouth, now Newcastle. Mason, an original proprietor of the Province, had induced Charles II. to appoint Cranfield with an offer that certain income of rents would flow into the British Treasury.

The Colonists felt there was not much to hope, and their worst fears were soon realized. The Governor proved himself unjust, haughty and oppressive, and withal so avaricious that the betterment of his fortune was plain to be seen. He suspended two leading Counsellors from their seats, and removed the commander of the fort. Finding it very unpopular he restored the two Counsellors, but afterwards suspended both again, and one other, and filled their places with those of his own views; and then changed the officers of the courts in the same manner. The legislative acts were all to his mind, or if they were not, as in one case, he hastily dissolved the Assembly.

It would be tedious as well as painful to narrate all the oppressive and unjust acts of Cranfield during his administration of about two and a half years. Suffice it to add, that when the Assembly did not impose taxes to his liking, it was attempted by himself and Council. This was unauthorized by his commission; the people resisted and some were imprisoned. At Exeter he who came to collect taxes was beaten; and at Hampton had his sword taken from him. The Governor ordered a troop of horse to enforce the demand, but not one appeared, and Cranfield was obliged to yield the point.

Cranfield pleased himself with a quarrel with Rev. Joshua Moody, the first pastor of the Congregational church in Portsmouth. One of his members had been found guilty of perjury in some transaction at the Custom House. Discipline was attempted, but the Governor spread himself over the way and forbade it. Mr. Moody knew his duty and did it. The Governor then sent to Mr. Moody that himself, Mason and others would be at his meeting the following Sabbath, and wished to partake of the sacrament of the supper, and he must administer it according to the liturgy of the church of England. Mr. Moody refused, as Cranfield knew and probably desired he would. He had him tried, brought a portion of the justices (who were for the right) to his interests, and Mr. Moody was fined and sentenced to imprisonment for six months. He was confined in Newcastle thirteen weeks and then released.

During Cranfield's arbitrary rule what was called the Gove rebellion took place. This was originated by Edward Gove of Hampton,—we think of the part now Hampton Falls. He was Representative in the Assembly, and was so incensed at the Governor's arbitrary measures that he sounded a trumpet, went from town to town, armed, declaring Cranfield a traitor, and that he would not lay down his arms till the government was overturned. A few joined him, but the people were not ready for rash measures. Gove was seized, tried and sentenced to be hung. That sentence was afterwards changed to imprisonment in the Tower of London. After three years he was released and returned to New Hampshire.

In the midst of the commotions, Nathaniel Weare of Hampton, (that part now Hampton Falls,) had been sent to England to complain of Cranfield to the King, and request his recall. On the 10th of March, 1685, a hearing was had, and the Governor was condemned. Cranfield anticipated the result, and left the Province, to the great joy of the people.

Cranfield was of the family of Lord Monteagle. That gentleman was a member of the British Parliament when there was a conspiracy to destroy the whole government by gunpowder, in 1605. Percy, one of the conspirators, wished to save the life of Monteagle, and wrote him a letter to be away when the Parliament met. That letter led to the discovery of the treason and prevented the plot.

Governor Cranfield died at Bath, England, about 1700, and was buried in the Cathedral in that city.

—This paragraph from a Colorado paper is worthy of preservation as a skilful blending of historical information with great view. "Half of a majority is 1,392, or just one hundred less than Christopher Columbus discovered America.

—The late Mayor Blake of Worcester had an insurance of $60,000 on his life.

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healthy influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reason for saying so is, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, go where you can, in this State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1859, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, and I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may have the vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious fevers than northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely live to consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What is that percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.? but it is not so; they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond the power of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to go to a store and get Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, when they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, patients will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a liver use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more of health, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there any place for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The best medicines adapted on comparing that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find one or more consumptives who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its harmful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and the pain will disappear in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrake Pills, and go to bed and sweat then drink water, and eat water-melons, pears, apples, plums, peaches or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are purely vegetable. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9, A.M., to 5, P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

BALLOON VOYAGE.

A Splendid View.

That very successful voyager, Professor S. A. King, made a splendid balloon ascension from Ellenville, Ulster county, N. Y., a short time since, and his description of his trip is so interesting that it is worth publishing:—

Soon after rising from the starting point the whole of Ulster, Sullivan and Deleware counties, the Catskill Mountains, the boundaries of Pennsylvania and much more, were brought into view. The Professor's companion grew enthusiastic, and his exclamations were wildly in accordance. Three-fourths of the way to the top of the Shawangunk Mountains they noticed a long, steep precipice, and when they reached the top they found there a wide plateau, on which was a pond of water. Higher and higher rose the balloon, the blood of the aeronauts coursing through their veins at tremendous speed, till suddenly the aerial ship entered the clouds seven minutes and a half after its departure from earth.

Suddenly the air became stinging cold, and the voyagers were compelled to turn up their coat collars, and to rub their ears and noses to keep them from freezing. Their cheeks reddened, their eyes sparkled, and their whole frames seemed to be singularly affected. They were hidden from everything earthly entirely. The cloud itself seemed to be quite dry and light, and, as the balloon floated upwards and through it, prismatic colors flashed and wavered before the optics of the daring voyagers. For full five minutes were they thus singularly surrounded, during all of which time they were of course unable to ascertain towards which point of the compass they were steering. As they emerged from their pure white and fleecy surroundings the good ship of the air broke from its close confinement into the most glorious sunlight, and above it as far as the eye could see the blue arch of heaven was visible, while below the white rolling clouds, tinged with the rays of the sun, added to a scene at once so grand as to defy description. It was majestic! It was wonderful! On all sides towered mountains of snow-white clouds so brilliant that the eye could scarcely gaze upon them, while between them lay, apparently, dark gulfs, and long, deep ravines. Then did the cold relax its hold upon the voyagers and the temperature rose to a genial warmth, so that it seemed like a sudden transit from winter to summer.

While looking at one of the mountains of vapor before them, one of which seemed to tower hundreds of feet above all the others, and whose broad white velvety side appeared to be extraordinarily beautiful, the voyagers exclaimed, simultaneously, "Look!" "See!" A change was taking place upon the surface of the cloud alluded to—a picture of some kind was coming to light upon it, like a painting from a dissolving view. Gradually it became more distinct, till finally a fac simile of the balloon and its occupants lay against the broad white bosom of the floating cloud—a shadow cast by the sun. From it radiated a halo of light in rainbow colors, forming a circle larger than the balloon itself.

It was a beautiful, yet strange phenomenon. But the balloon feels the rarefying power of the sun, and from this cause begins to mount more rapidly, soon leaving the clouds far beneath it.

Then came pictures of mountains, dark shadowy valleys and chasms, as far as the eye could reach. Currents of air ran in different directions, all clouds moved to the eastward, and higher up the air currents ran the same way.

There was not a sound of any description to be heard. It was painful, and was only broken as the balloon passed the neighborhood of the Walkill Valley Railroad, when the voyagers heard a train of cars passing beneath them. Shortly after another train of cars was heard, and the balloon had passed over the Hudson River Railroad.

The highest point reached from earth was two miles. In a few moments after, the noise of a third railroad train seemed to inform the Professor that they were in the vicinity of the Harlem Railroad, and just after this a break in the clouds revealed to the southwest the Hudson River at Cruger's Point. Then the clouds broke away and revealed a beautiful country below, covered with farms and villages, and as the balloon sunk below the clouds the sun followed down and showed himself again between the horizon and the under surface of the clouds. At five o'clock in the afternoon the voyagers landed at West Norfolk, having made the distance of about seventy-five miles in an hour and twenty-two minutes.

FRIDAY, DEC. 23, 1870.

THE WAR.—Prussia has stipulated that no other topic except the treaty of '56 shall be introduced in the coming conference of the great powers, in London.

The war feeling in Russia runs high, and the press is defiant in its tone. The St. Petursburg Galos explains that in discarding that portion of the treaty which neutralizes the Black Sea, Russia only cancelled a compact which all the parties to it regarded as obsolete.

The Germans have captured Nuits, on the Paris & Orleans railway. The French loss is reported to be between 2000 and 3000 in killed, wounded and missing, many horses and two batteries of artillery. German loss small.

Later dispatches say the French loss is not nearly so large, as at first reported.

Gen. Manteuffel is marching on Havre again, but the French are confident of their power to resist him.

At the siege of Thionville 50,000 heavy shells were thrown into the city. 5000 French troops were paroled after the surrender.

Heavy reinforcements are daily arriving for the Prussian armies near Paris.

It is reported that the Prussians have occupied Tours, without serious opposition.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, Wednesday, Mr. Sumner made a vigorous attack upon the San Domingo annexationists, and was replied to by Mr. Morton and others.

The bill to abolish the income-tax was kept out in the cold, but the House bill regarding the classification of sugar was passed.

In the House, the consideration of the amnesty bill was postponed till Jan. 11, 1871.

The bill extending to aliens serving in the United States Navy the same rights of naturalization as aliens serving in the army, was passed.

The Senate on Thursday morning passed Mr. Morton's joint resolution concerning San Domingo by a vote of 32 to 9.

Gen. Robert C. Schenck of Ohio was confirmed as Minister to England.

S. J. COURT, law term, at Dover.—Divorces were decreed to James W. Blake vs. Mary S. Blake; to Ella M. Clark vs. Charles W. Clark, with custody of child and $300 alimony—Wm. H. Hackett for libellant; and to Mary Jane Cavenden vs. Moody Cavenden, with $500 alimony—W. H. Y. Hackett for libellant.

THE CONCORD RAILROAD CASE.—On Wednesday, at Dover, Judge Smith delivered the order of the Supreme Court in the case of the Northern vs. Concord Railroad. Hon. William P. Wheeler, of Keene, Jas. W. Emery, of Portsmouth, and Samuel W. Bell, of Manchester, are appointed new receivers, each to give bonds in the sum of $50,000, with sureties satisfactory to some member of the court, the books and accounts to be kept open to the inspection of all stockholders of the Concord Railroad. This order is to take effect when said Wheeler, Emery and Bell have accepted the trust and furnished bonds, and the present receivers are then to transfer the property to the new receivers.

☞ The latest news from Yokohama, Japan, says that there has been nothing further of a quarrel between the Prussian and French ministers. The Japanese government were purchasing American steam engines for the Yeddo fire brigade. Burglaries were very common, and Minister De Long's residence had been twice plundered. The Damios have surrendered their serviceable ships of war to the imperial government, which now controls the entire navy.

☞ Sixteen heathen Chinee have been executed for their participation in the Tien-tsin massacre.

NAVAL.—The U. S. S. Idaho is at Yokohama, the Monocacy is overhauling at Shanghai, the Alaska is at Hong Kong, and the Ashuelot at Tien-Tsin. The Benecia has left Nagasaki for Kobe.

☞ The entire northwest has been visited by a furious snow storm, and routes of travel are partially blockaded. The snow was twelve inches deep on the level.

☞ The dissolution of the Spanish Cortes has been voted by that body. This measure looks very much like a coup d'etat.

☞ The Spanish minister who came over to settle the Cuban hash, has given up the job, and will return to Europe at once.

TEMPERANCE LECTURE.—The third of the series of lectures on temperance, to be given by the clergymen of this city, was delivered at the Christian church, Sunday evening last, by the pastor, Rev. C. P. Smith. The house was well filled. The subject was treated, first scientifically, showing the evil results of ardent spirit upon the stomach, the liver, the heart, the brain, and other parts of the body. The speaker acknowledged that ardent spirit might in some cases, be a good medicine if skilfully used; but it should never be carelessly used by ignorant people, any more than other poisons. Total abstinence is the only safe rule, except when it is administered by a skillful physician.

The subject was then treated statistically, showing an annual loss to the country of more than sixty thousand persons by death. These are mostly taken from the strong young men. The spirit drank costs more than five hundred millions of dollars, for which we reap poverty, shame, misery, crime, death.

The oft repeated question, "What can we do?" was answered. We should practice total abstinence,—ought not to encourage the sale of liquors by buying our groceries at rum stores. We can talk total abstinence, educate the people and raise public sentiment until a good law can be enforced. We ought to encourage the temperance societies. The subject was ably and interestingly handled.

THE INCOME TAX.—Recent investigations show that the annual gain to this country by immigration exceeds the amount of this unpopular tax, and that its abolition would not affect the reduction of our national debt. The people in every section of the country want Congress to abolish this tax, with the immense cost of assessment and collection, its inquisitions, its inequalities, and its solicitations to fraud.—Exchange.

The annual gain to this country by immigration may exceed the amount of the income tax, but it is rather hard to see why that is any reason for abolishing the latter, or what it has got to do with the question, anyway. As well say "the tax on whiskey yields more than the income tax, therefore the latter should be given up." And that the abolition of the income tax "would not affect the reduction of the national debt,"—the investigations must be very recent which can prove that the loss of one or fifty millions to the treasury will make no difference in the amount therein.

If "the people in every section of the country want Congress to abolish this tax," some of them take a very queer way of making known their wants; as for instance, the action of the recent Republican convention at Dover, which unanimously declared that the people of this section of the country wished the tax to be a permanent one, and advised that our delegates in Congress be instructed to work for that end. Our exchange must have accidentally omitted the little word "rich," having intended to say that the "rich people want the tax abolished."

As to the "solicitations to fraud" of the income tax, the inducements to evade the payment of this tax are no greater than in the case of any other. We are not of those who believe that a rich man is necessarily dishonest, and we do not believe—what the above paragraph implies—that many wealthy men would deliberately commit perjury to escape paying their income tax; but if they should, that is their own look out, not "the people's," and to argue that the tax should be given up lest the rich men's honesty should not be found sturdy enough to save them from perjury, is looking at the question from a height of morality to which we have not yet attained.

☞ The steamer Nick Wall, from St. Louis for Vicksburg, struck a snag on Sunday night, at Grand Lake. Her cabin fell in and floated four miles away from the hull. The steamer is a total loss, and her freight is badly damaged. She had 125 deck and 15 cabin passengers. 17 dead bodies have been recovered, and many others are supposed to have been lost.—Later accounts state that thirty-nine lives were lost.

☞ Earl Russell urges the enrolment of 100,000 militia to meet the United States. He says that "envy and hostility pursue wealthy commercial nations, and that the steps of England are dogged by Prussia and America; and it behooves England to be prepared for these foes."

☞ A boiler in the Boston Brick Company's works exploded Tuesday morning, knocking things around somewhat, but injuring nobody.

Republican Conventions.

State, at Concord, Wednesday, Jan. 4.

Senatorial, at South Newmarket, Wednesday, Dec. 28.

POLITICAL.—The New York Republican State central committee received a petition on Tuesday, signed by ten thousand republicans, asking a reorganization of the party in that city, on the ground that the present republican general committee is under the control of Tammany.

A formal notice has been served on Colonel Campbell by General Schenck's friends, that the right to a seat in the next Congress would be contested.

☞ The boiler on the tug-boat David C. Cox, of Jersey City, exploded on Tuesday night, killing the fireman and scalding the engineer. The boiler was in a particularly decayed condition.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. MARRIAGES.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

POVERTY IS BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as anybody." Try it.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

An Absolute Safeguard.

Invalids, broken down in health and spirits by Chronic Dyspepsia, or suffering from the terrible exhaustion which follows the attacks of acute disease, the testimony of thousands who have been raised as by a miracle from a similar state of prostration by HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is a sure guarantee that by the same means you too may be strengthened and restored. But to those who stand in peril of epidemics, to all who, by reason of exposure, privations and uncongenial climate or unhealthy pursuits, may at any moment be stricken down, this paragraph is meet particularly and emphatically addressed. You, who are thus situated, are proffered an absolute safeguard against the danger that menaces you. Tone and regulate the system with this harmless medical Stimulant and Alterative, and you will be forearmed against the maladies whose seeds float around you in the air unseen. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are not only a standard Tonic and Alterative throughout the United States, but they are accredited by the certificates of the most distinguished citizens of the Union, to the people of all other lands. In Canada, Australia and the West Indies, they are gradually taking place of all other stomachics, whether native or foreign, and as surely as truth is progressive and demonstration overthrows doubt, they will eventually supersede every other Invigorant and Restorative now employed in medicinal practice. 1wdaw

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.

It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.

One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds. 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 30 square yds., 2 coats,—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.

The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen, and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.

The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in bulk and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the MONDAY AS A HOLIDAY.—When Christmas comes on Sunday, it has been customary to observe the Monday following as a Holiday. The Boston daily papers do not issue editions on Monday afternoon or Tuesday morning, and the Banks, Custom House and Insurance Offices do not open. And we presume our Banks, Store-keepers and friends generally, will quit business and take the day to themselves. So say we,—every one of us. ***

Our correspondent's suggestion is a good one, and we hope it will be acted upon by our citizens. To observe Monday as a holiday may be the general intention, but we have not heard it generally mentioned. The very small number of holidays taken by Americans is wondered at by by all other nations, and the highest authorities in physiology tell us that the constant strain on our energies is a fruitful source of many troubles, bodily and mental, which an occasional rest would prevent. We do not have so many play-days during the year that we need snap at a chance to steal one from the meagre list, just because Christmas happens to come on Sunday. Shall Monday be a holiday with us,—as it would be were next Sunday the 4th of July instead of the 25th of December? We hope so.

☞ We have one or two more articles to mention to the young man who wants to select a gift for his bright particular star. A very effective present, and one which would satisfy her that he "means business," would be a life insurance policy, for a few thousands, drawn in her favor—this would show him to be a proper young man, worthy the honors of matrimony and with a prudent care for all its possible and probable contingencies.

But if all else is unsatisfactory, there are two things of which neither ever fails to give satisfaction, and of which either is a most appropriate New Year's gift for any person of whatever age or either sex—the Daily Chronicle and the New Hampshire Gazette. A year's subscription to either paper handed in to our counting room, with the name of the person who is to be pleased, will ensure to the latter a daily or weekly token of regard, and one that will both instruct and amuse the recipient as well as keep the donor ever fresh in his or her memory. Of all the Holiday presents, none is more sure of giving lasting pleasure to the receiver than the last one we have named.

Communication.

"Why does not the city of Portsmouth choose a City Missionary?" Any one asking such a question, ought to have known that the city never yet chose one, nor paid for their support. Mr. Medbery, and all previous Missionaries have been chosen by individuals or religious societies, and paid by them; but in my opinion there is no need of any. It is quite unnecessary to pay a man $800 or $900 per diem, who disburses hardly $200, and this is principally drawn from the Howard Benevolent Society. Persons anxious to help the poor can send their amounts to John Stavers, Esq., Treasurer, or Hon. Ichabod Goodwin, President; and from an experience and knowledge of that Society for more than thirty years, can be assured that it will be well disbursed and without any expense. The city of Portsmouth, as well as the religious societies of said city, are never backward in relieving their own members, or others they think worthy of assistance.

CHARLIE WILKINSON'S THEATRICAL COMPANY are advertised for two evenings at the Temple. The Company have been improved during their trip and our exchanges speak commendably of Lillie Wilkinson's acting. She will appear this evening as "Capitola" in "The Hidden Hand." Mr. Wilkinson as "Wool" is well known to our theatre goers. The management have secured the services of Harry Tighe as advance Agent. He is well known here as one of the most faithful men of the profession.

☞ The annual Ball of Dearborn S. F. Engine Co. comes off tonight at Congress Hall. Turner's Quadrille Band is to furnish the music, and those attending will doubtless have a good time. Floor tickets $1.50; to the gallery 25 cents.

CENTRAL RAILROAD

OF IOWA,

Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION

——OF THE——

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of

90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.

2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.

3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.

4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.

5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.

6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.

7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most efficient remedy can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the parent a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the calamities that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, we do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

HOW TO MAKE GOOD BUTTER.—A few hints, gathered from experience, may benefit persons who encounter difficulties which accompany the management of milk for churning in the warm season. Heat hot persons who complain you to add saltpetre, alum, and other things. If possible, it should be put upon tables free from all admixture, excepting the required seasoning of salt. But where the quantity of cream is so small that it cannot be churned daily, the skimmings must be collected until a sufficient amount warrants the labor of churning; and all this must come in with the household work. The question then arises, how shall we keep the cream sweet, perhaps a week or more with the mercury above 90 degrees? When setting a fresh stone jar for the cream, put a large handful of table-salt in it, and then skim the cream and put it into the jar, which must stand in a cool place in a good cellar, well ventilated. The cream should be stirred every day. More salt may be added if necessary. The salt will keep butter from becoming strong. Sometimes a piece of charcoal may be added, well washed in cold water; and when ready to put in the next skimming, remove the charcoal carefully, and put it on a plate, and, when through with the operation, return the charcoal again. When the cream is ready to churn, put the charcoal in the fire, and next time start with a fresh piece. After the butter has come, put in some salt, and, if the well be an open one, let the butter down in the evening, and in the morning take it out and work it while hard. Butter made in this manner will be as delicious as sweet cream, and the butter-milk will make a fine pot-cheese.—Boston Cultivator.

LAY IN YOUR CIDER.—At the risk of being set down an anti-prohibitionist, an exchange advises people to lay in cider this fall, now that it is so plenty and cheap. Last year it was from $8 to $12 per barrel. Next year we shall not in all probability have many apples, and for vinegar purposes it will be high. But cider, if well prepared, can be kept several years, for drinking as well as for use as vinegar, and if most people would manage to drink a barrel or two of cider during the winter, they would come out in better health during the spring than if confined exclusively to cold water. Dyspepsia was a disease unknown among our fathers, who used to make cider a common drink in winter. Now about every fifth man is in trouble with the liver complaint or indigestion, Vegetable acid is just what the stomach craves at times, and nothing suits it better than a good draft of cider. Indeed it is often recommended by some physicians and about the only thing that will cure some diseases. Few men drink cider in excess; in fact, it is not often plenty enough for that, and people who have a taste for something that intoxicates do not stop to drink cider. No doubt somebody will be horror-stricken with this idea of cider; but so long as cider can be obtained, and people can be induced to drink it just "for stomach's sake," we go for it, and shall fortify our argument with a barrel or two.

HOW GOOD FARMERS SAVE MONEY. They take good papers and read them.

They keep account of farm operations.

They do not leave their implements scattered over the farm, exposed to snow, rains and heat.

They repair their tools and buildings at a proper time; and do not suffer a subsequent threefold expenditure of time and money. They use their money judiciously, and they do not attend auction sales to purchase all kinds of trumpery because it is cheap.

They see that their fences are well repaired, and that their cattle are not grazing in the meadow, or grain fields or orchards.

They do not refuse to make correct experiments in a small way of many new things.

There plant their fruit trees well, care for them, of course get good crops.

They practice economy by giving their stock good shelter during the winter; also good food, taking all that is unsound, half rotten or moldy out.

They do not keeb tribes of cats or snarling dogs around their premises, who eat more in a month than they are worth in a whole lifetime.

Lastly they read the advertisments, know what is going on, and frequently save money by it.

Successfully farming is made by attention to little things. The farmer who does his best, earns his money with best appreciation, and uses it with best results. Such men are the salt of the earth.

☞ The Portland and Kennebec Railroad Company has offered a reward of $1000 for the discovery and conviction of the scoundrels who recently placed obstructions on the track at Bath and Farmingdale, or $500 for conviction of either of them.

☞ Nelson P. Stanstedt was on Wednesday convicted of manslaughter, for the murder of his wife, in Boston, and sentenced to 20 years in the State Prison.

—At a late "tournament" in Fayetteville, N. C., the lady who was crowned as "queen of love and beauty," served in the same capacity a decade before. Most young ladies become "decayed" themselves after that time.

—A Philadelphia lawyer was rebuked by the court for badgering a witness, and was told that witnesses should be treated in the same manner as any gentleman would treat a visitor to his house.

Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railroad Co.

The small remaining balance of the Loan for sale

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as a desirable investment, and undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 5½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the glossy and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found equal to it. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

CHRISTMAS CAROL.

BY J. G. HOLLAND.

I.

There's a song in the air!
There's a star in the sky!
There's a mother's deep prayer
And a baby's low cry!
And the star rains its fire while the Beautiful sing,
For the manger of Bethlehem cradles a King!

II.

There's a tumult of joy
O'er the wonderful birth,
For the Virgin's sweet boy
Is the Lord of the earth.
Ay! the star rains its fires and the Beautiful sing,
For the manger of Bethlehem cradles a King!

III.

In the light of that star,
Lie the ages impearled;
And that song from afar,
Has swept over the world.
Every heart is aflame, and the Beautiful sing,
In the homes of the nations that Jesus is King.

IV.

We rejoice in the light,
And we echo the song
That comes down through the night,
From the heavenly throng.
Ay! we shout to the lovely evangel they bring,
And we greet in his cradle our Saviour and King.

One lot of 47 extra Western Steers averaged over 200 lbs each, and cost at Albany from 10 @ 12c ₱ lb live weight. Prices remain unchanged, and there are more common Cattle in market than the demand requires. W. Scollins & Co. brought in one Illinois Steer which was very handsome and fat, besides being the largest Fat Ox ever brought to Brighton Market, and pronounced by competent judges to be one of the nicest Steers ever brought from the West. A. N. Munroe had some very nice Cattle—two year old Steers, weighing over 1800 lbs live weight.

Store Cattle—Yearlings $8 @ $21; two year olds $12 @ $45; three year olds $45 @ $65 ₱ head. Most of the small Cattle that are in a fair condition are bought up to slaughter.

Swine—Store Pigs, wholesale 9¼ @ 10½ ₱ lb; retail 10 @ 13c ₱ lb. Fat Hogs—9000 at market; prices 7½ @ 7½c ₱ lb.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.
ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœas, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway N. Y.

None are Genuine unless done up in steel engraved wrapper, with fac-simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed H. T. HELMBOLD.

DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL, AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.—This medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous depositions, and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

THE INCOME TAX.—Messrs. Editors: You back up your article supporting the income tax, by referring to the resolutions proposed at the recent Congressional Convention at Dover. Now it is the general opinion of the thinking part of the Republican party hereabouts, that a more ridiculous set of resolutions were never passed—and the only excuse to be offered is that they were acting on hurriedly and without consideration. Fortunately for the party that convention acted with more judgment in selecting its nominee, and gave us a candidate so universally approved and unobjectionable that he can undoubtedly be elected in spite of them.

This tax which you so zealously advocate is by no means so just to persons of small income as you suppose, for several cases and within the writer's knowledge—and such instances must be very numerous—of incomes of less than one thousand dollars having paid tax on every dollar; and under the new law such cases will be vastly increased, every one whose income, however small, if from railroad bonds, for instance, having the tax deducted from every dollar of it. Now it may well be questioned whether, taking this into view, with the inquisitorial and objectionable nature of the tax, together with the fact which recent analysis of the returns has developed, that out of the large centres the tax won't pay for collecting, it would not be better to have it repealed. X.

[Our contributor we think is mistaken in regard to general opinion concerning the resolutions, for we have spoken on the subject with quite a number of Republicans—and many of them thinking ones—and all have spoken of them with commendation; but it is true that not many of the men we refer to have any income tax to pay, being working men—which perhaps makes the difference.

As to the tax bearing unequally upon some men of small fortunes,—it is quite likely; but if that is a valid reason for repealing this tax law, then all legislation should be thrown aside—for no law of any kind, human or divine, ever yet bore equally on all men, nor can such a law ever be framed until all men are alike in tastes, desires and circumstances—until every man is a fac simile of every other man in every respect—and then laws will be needless. That the income tax cannot be adjusted so as to bear exactly alike on every one is not a sufficient reason for abolishing it.

We advocate the retention of the income tax, because it is the only method of making the rich pay as much in proportion to their wealth as the poor men do. The laborer or mechanic who expends all his earnings for food and clothing for himself and his family, pays a tax on every dollar of it to support the national institutions. The wealthy man who spends one-tenth of his income for family expenses, pays no more tax per centum on that one-tenth than does the working man on his smaller means, and (barring the "odious income tax") nothing at all on the remainder; so that the laboring men of the country, whose whole income goes to provide for their daily wants, really have to pay a much greater proportion of the national expenses than do the wealthy classes. The burden of taxation may not bear on all alike, but it will not mend the matter much to take the light weight from the shoulders of those best able to bear it, and place it on the backs of those already overburdened.—Eds.]

☞ Messrs. Clark, Plympton & Co., of Boston, say most truly in their advertisement of the Best of Charles Dickens, that it will make a most suitable gift for the Christmas Holidays, which the great novelist has done so much to make a cherished season throughout the civilized world.

☞ Two ex-officers of the Massachusetts State Constabulary have been convicted of libelling Major Jones and C. C. Dean. The libel was published in the Saturday Evening Express, against which a suit is now pending on exceptions.

☞ Four New York roughs have been sent to prison for 18 years each, for the murder of a police officer. The murderers were not ward politicians, which accounts for their being punished.

☞ The managers of the Atlantic Cable Company despair of successfully repairing the broken ocean lines till next June, when the work can be again persecuted with a smooth sea.

THE WAR.—Accounts from Versailles state that another battery constructed on a slope below Mont Valerien tried to throw a shell across the Seine to St. Germain, and others to the bridge connecting Vesinet forest with St. Germain, and Versailles now is under fire when the French choose. If the army of the North acts with the army of the Loire, Paris may be saved.

Trochu has ordered the Prussian officers whom he held as prisoners of war, to be sent back to Versailles. He previously had them conducted through the immense stores of provisions and munitions of war which are collected in the city, in order that the enemy might be disabused of the idea that further resistance was impossible.

There was a severe engagement near Tours, Tuesday. The French, 6000 strong, fought against 10,000 Prussians with 24 cannon for seven hours. The French finally retreated. The Prussians followed and commenced to bombard Tours, when the Mayor went to the headquarters of the Prussian General and surrendered the town, as there were no troops to defend it.

Gen. Bourbaki, with 150,000 men, successfully formed a junction with Gen. Chanzy on Tuesday night in the rear of the German army, who had evacuated Tours. The French captured 2000 prisoners and a vast amount of ammunition. Prince Frederick Charles' lines were severed.

A general sortie was made from Paris, Tuesday. General Vinoy took La Malson Blanche, beyond Gagnay, six miles east from Paris, and General Ducrot fought a battle near Bromay.

THE ST. CLOUD BALL.—The ball at the St. Cloud hotel in New York, kept by Rand Brothers, formerly of this city, is highly spoken of by the New York papers. The Sunday Mercury heads nearly a column with the statement that:

"A noticeable feature of our annual winter festivities is the ball of the St. Cloud Hotel. It is composed of guests with long purses, with their friends, and of outside individuals, judiciously selected by the proprietors for their pockets, their beauty, their reputation, or their influence."

The Evening Express thus commits itself:

"The guests at the St. Cloud Hotel have opened the season with one of the splendid entertainments which distinguished this elegant establishment last year. The success which has followed all the previous balls was more than equalled in this. The assembly was select as any private house could have desired, and the arrangements far superior to anything we remember in any hotel. The ball room itself was a scene of brilliant enjoyment. The toilets were splendid; outside of the Charity balls, we have seen nothing to equal them, and a more beautiful crowd of ladies is seldom found in one ball room."

The Telegram, of the evening following, launches out in a column or so of high praise, prefaced thus:

"Last evening, in the palatial St. Cloud Hotel, Forty-second street and Broadway, a decidedly unsurpassed evening's glittering pleasure was extended by the guests and proprietors of the hotel to their friends. The unequalled success of the entertainment in every respect was the theme of every tongue. The proprietors, guests and managers were the constant recipients of congratulations, and all seemed repaid by the undoubted satisfaction evoked. Owing to the recherche character of the assemblage, the perfection of the arrangement, and the liberality of the host, we have decided to give a lengthy description."

Our Society, an elaborate fashion sheet, devotes a deal of space to the "St. Cloud Hop," saying:

"St. Cloud Hotel, under the management of Messrs. T. B., J. H. and G. W. Rand, brothers, has assumed the standing of a first-class hotel and that of one of the most popular houses of the metropolis. Under the auspices of the guests of the house a series of receptions were given them last winter, which were most excellent in all the arrangements and most discriminate, as regards the invited guests. Again, this winter, another series has been inaugurated, the first of which was given with eclat there on Tuesday evening, and the second of which will be given on the evening of January 16th. There were in attendance, as the list of names demonstrates, a large number of not only fashionable but representative society ladies and gentlemen. Graffula's orchestra, always unrivaled, furnished the music, and the collation, seldom equaled and more rarely excelled, was pronounced superior to any spread yet seen this season, and was wholly prepared by the steward of the house, Mr. Edward Brazill."

The Rand Brothers are ever attentive to those who visit them from old Portsmouth, and the high character of their house is only fairly exemplified in the rank so readily accorded to the hops held therein.

The first number of Gleason's Home Circle for the new year has stories beautifully illustrated. Sample copies will be sent free to any one who wishes to see the paper, by addressing F. Gleason, 47 Summer Street, Boston, Mass.

☞ The existence of the Ku-Klux is at last admitted by the Democratic papers of Kentucky. They contend, however, that the Democracy are not in any way responsible for their acts, asserting, in the words of the Louisville Courier, that they are law-breakers who prey upon society generally, and not upon the loyal people exclusively, and that they should be hunted down and punished.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is no Patent Medicine humbug gotten up to dupe the ignorant and credulous, nor is it represented as being "composed of rare and precious substances brought from the four corners of the earth, carried seven times across the Great Desert of Sahara on the backs of fourteen camels, and brought across the Atlantic Ocean on two ships." It is a simple, mild, soothing, pleasant Remedy—a perfect specific for Chronic Nasal Catarrh, "Cold in the head," and kindred diseases. The proerietor, R. V. Pierce, M. D., 123 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y., offers a reward of $500 for a case of Catarrh that he cannot cure. Sold by druggists, or sent by mail for sixty cents.

Among the Annuals to appear with the opening of the year, this will be one of the most useful and may be had for the asking. The proprietors, Messrs. DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that consumptives should pursue to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel may be kept there by Peterson. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and invigorating. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville: it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the cure is sure to follow.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southerly point is decidedly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined much in advanced life incurable patients; and, in my practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, I has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to make a cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southerly point is decidedly recommended.

Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southerly point is decidedly recommended.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold feet, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs. As the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate the patient, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and I ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will hear of certain cures of some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a cathartic medicine is required. If you do not partaken too freely of fruit, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water, and eat water-melons, pears, apples, plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will prevent those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9, A.M., to 3, P.M. Those who wish a thoroughexamination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being used strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

Temple—Ada Tosman's Female Minstrels.
Town Hall, Greenland—Festival and Fair.

☞ There will be services in St. John's Church Sunday evening at 7 1-4 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Clark will preach.

☞ We are requested to say that there will be no services at the Christian Church on Court Street, to-morrow.

☞ Schooner Onward, with a cargo of fish, in coming up river on Wednesday, went ashore on Pull-and-be-Damned Point, nearly at high water.

☞ Charlie Wilkinson's Dramatic Company perform again at the Temple this evening, Lillie Wilkinson appearing in "Josie, or was he a woman?" which was written especially for her by G. L. Aiken.

☞ We acknowledge the receipt of a very handsome ornamental match-box and cigar holder combined, carved in wood, from the Congress Block Book and Fancy Goods Store of Foster Shores & Co., whose advertisement of Presents for the Holidays may be found in another column.

—The New Hampshire Gazette, Portsmouth, having completed its 114th year, claims to be the oldest living paper in the country; the Williamsburgh Gazette of Va., disputes the claim, because it started in 1736, twenty years previous to the issue of the Portsmouth paper. The New Hampshire Gazette from its commencement has been issued uninterruptedly, while the Williamsburgh Gazette has been repeatedly suspended during its history, and one of those suspensions lasted six years. For these reasons Portsmouth holds on to its claim of having the oldest living journal in the country.—N. Y. Printer.

☞ Mr. Ichabod Cole of Eliot, Me., a writer in the Bureau of Steam Engineering on the Navy Yard, has been discharged, and Mr. John Frost of Eliot is appointed in his place.

Mr. Thomas J. Winslow, Foreman Blacksmith in the Department of Construction, has been removed and Mr. Eben F. Neally of So. Berwick appointed in his place.

Mr. George Shapleigh, a writer in the Chief Engineer's Office, has resigned his position and is succeeded by Mr. Robert M. Otis.

ON EARTH PEACE.—Almost nineteen hundred years ago, "a multitude of the heavenly host" sang to the shepherds of Judea, "on earth peace, gobd will toward men;" and to-morrow exultant services will be held in thousands of draped and decorated churches throughout all Christendom, in honor of the event which caused the angels' song—the birth of a son to humble parents, in a stable in Bethlehem. The child whose birth was so announced, after a short life spent in warring, with precept and example, against sin and wrong in every shape, was put to death by violence; but the conflict which he inaugurated between right and wrong is not yet ended, nor is the angels salutation to the shepherds everywhere echoed.

As the people of our land are assembling at their homes or in the churches to celebrate the birth of the Prince of Peace, vast armies are wasting and desolating the fields and cities of France, pouring out their blood and laying down their lives in hate and rage; and nations not yet engaged in the work of destruction and woe stand looking grimly on, uncertain whether or not to increase the horror and extent of the struggle. How long it will last none can tell; but it should be an additional source of thankfulness to every one who on this Christmas Day rejoices in the event it commemorates, that war no longer scourges our land, and that peace again prevails.

Friends and Patrons! We wish for all A MERRY CHRISTMAS.

New Publications Received.

The Chistmas Locket, a holiday number of "Old and New," contains beautiful Christmas Carols, with the music by Mendelssohn, and bright Stories and Poems for the Holidays. It comprises ninety-six octavo pages with an illuminated cover, and is for sale by all book and news dealers. Price 25 cents, for which it will be mailed, post-paid, by addressing Geo. A. Coolidge, Business Agent for "Old and New," care of Roberts Brothers, Publishers, 143 Washington Street, Boston, Blackwood's Magazine for December; Leonard Scott Pub. Co., New York. $4 a year.

—When a Brooklyn dry-goods clerk gets intoxicated he goes to the theatre and, if there is a drinking scene in the play, buys champagne and has all the actors' glasses slyly filled with it. The look of astonishment which the actors put on is very amusing, but the drinking scenes are sometimes unnecessarily prolonged. The sport costs the clerk about $20 a time, and he says it is richly worth it. His employer has thus far expressed no opinion in the premises.

New Hampshire Items.

A road has been cut from Warren Summit through the notch between Black Mountains and Moosilauke to East Randall. It runs through an immense lumber region, and affords the shortest route for the people in that region to railroad facilities. Several saw mills have been recently built there, and without doubt large quantities of lumber will be sent to market the coming season.

George Gleason of Charlestown committed suicide a few days since because he was not allowed to go to Sunday school.

Mrs. Jared Sparks of Cambridge, Mass., has opened the subscription for rebuilding Phillips Academy with the sum of $100.

Mr. Laurel D. C. Hayes, of this city, died suddenly at St. Paul, Minn., on Sunday last, of congestion of the bowels, aged about twenty-two years. Mr. Hayes was well known in many parts of the country as a correspondent for several American and foreign journals, furnishing very many readable articles of that character for our paper. He was a young man of much promise, of excellent character and habits, and highly esteemed by a large circle of friends and acquaintances.—Dover Enq.

The Exeter News Letter says it has been discovered that the Academy fire was accidental.

The Baptist Church at Nottingham has been removed to the centre of the town—a mile and a half.

☞ Over 100 persons were killed or drowned by the wrecking of the Nick Wall.

—Contracts have been made with the roughs of Chicago to supply the medical colleges of several other cities with subjects, thus combining profit with pleasure.

—A cotemporary concludes an affectionate obituary notice of a lamented townsman, by saying, "He has filled many offices of public trust, and fills his grave with perfect satisfaction to his fellow-citizens."

—Altered Richmond even tolerates a woman's suffrage association of its own, the "leading lady" of which, a Mrs. Bodaker, who occupies a high and respectable position in society there, and is young, pretty and vivacious, fairly took the wind out of Miss Anthony's sails at the meeting at the capitol by her superior eloquence and radicalism.

—A. T. Stewart is soon to have a house-warming at his new marble dwelling, to which all his employes will be invited. Some idea of the magnificence of the appointments of the dwelling, says the New York Standard, may be formed when it is stated that the carpet from the drawing room was purchased in Brussels at a cost of $27,000. This magnificent work of art is in a single piece, and was woven upon a loom constructed expressly for the manufacture of the gem.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents,—in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier

OF IOWA,

Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

☞ This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION

——OF THE——

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of

90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.

2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.

3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.

4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.

5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.

6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.

7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

THE ANGEL'S PORTION.

A CHRISTMAS LYRIC.

The Finland Christmas moon was cold;
A peasant trudged across the wold;
Behind his back the town-dogs' bay,
Painter and hinter died away:
Till nought upon his ear there fell,
But cat-a-mountain's hungry yell.

Through snow he urged his heavy feet,
For wife and bairns he longed to greet;
To naked hut they made their bed,
And Birchwood bark was half their bread;
But now a festive treat he bore,
The bounty of a rich man's door.

The drifted snow he skirted round,
What seen he crouching on the ground?
Dumb with the cold, a childish form,
Blowing its hands to keep them warm;
And lift by gleaming snow alone,
Half changed it seems to ghastly stone;

"What brought thee here, poor lad?" quoth he;
"Thou must go warm thyself with me"
His arms upheld the frozen weight;
He reached at length his homestead gate;
And deemed he entered, doubly blest,
With cheering fool and starving guest.

The comfort of his days was there;
The youngest at her breast she bare;
"Long hast thou tramped about the snow;
Come where the hearth is all a-glow!
And thou the same!" like mother mild
She welcomed in the outcast child.

And soon, beneath her busy hand,
A brighter life was in the brand;
She thought of grinding want no more;
So pleased she took her husband's store;
And spread it out for supperticle,
With scanty bowl of milk beside.

From scattered straw upon the ground
The children crossed the narrow bound
Twixt bed and board, a merry pack;
Only the stranger boy hung back;
The mother forward drew her guest;
And found him room among the rest.

And, when an evening grace was said,
She shared around the festal bread,
The boy returned a soft reply,
Breaking the crust; and in his eye,
The while he spoke, a tear there stood;
"Blest are the offerings of the good!"

With bread in hand she stood, prepared
To share herself, as she had shared;
But, at that solemn tone, amazed,
Upon her tender guest she gazed;
And looked and wondered more and more,
He seemed no longer as before.

His eyes were like the stars of light;
His cheeks were glowing rosy-bright;
The rags of earth away were borne,
Like mists before the breath of morn;
It was an angel smiling there,
And fair as only heaven is fair.

Beamed brighter still the seraph boy;
Best every heart with holy joy,
Long to the peasants' hut may cleave
The memory of that Christmas Eve;
For nobler board was never dress'd—
The angel stayed to be their guest.

* * * * * * * * * *

It chanced, when many a year had fled,
One Christmas Eve I reached the shed;
The good folks' hearth was still the same;
But seated in its glowing flame
With early winter on his brow,
Their grandson was the father now.

'Twas all so glad; 'twas all so good
His gentle mate, his ruddy brood;
'Twas all as though on every face
There lay the calm of evening grace;
'Twas all as though indeed they felt
That in a hallowed home they dwelt.

High on the board one taper light
(Their only one) was burning bright;
And milk and wheaten bread was there,
But no one touched that dainter fair;
I asked whose portion yonder lay—
"Tis the good angel's," answered they.

SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ETNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

LONG SKIRTS.—Gail Hamilton thus frees her mind on the subject of trailing skirts:

And here come the costumers, and flaunt long skirts in our faces once more. Do I blame the costumers? Not I. They have their living to get, and must invent or select continually. But if the women of this country, having once tasted the freedom of short dresses, shall be mean spirited enough to go into long ones again at the dictate of any costumer under the sun, they have themselves and nobody else to blame. A pretty thing it will be for them to talk about making laws, if they have not sense enough and spirit to keep out of the mud! A fine thing to be a republican sovereign when you have not independence enough to resist the fiat of a foreign tyrant as to the cut of your gown! For here is no question of thinking or not thinking about your dress. You can walk just as well with three flounces as with none; but a long dress interferes with the energies, the activities, the safety and the health of every day. A long dress in the street means inconvenience, untidiness, discomfort, waste, indolence, repression, cramped muscles, subordination and slavery.

If women reinvest themselves in trailing skirts they deserve all the evils which may befall them. If women relinquish their short suits, may their husbands tyrranize over them and abuse them forever. May the women's rights women be forever forced to see men legislate and women sit still! May the anti-women's rights women be forced to vote at the polls and serve in the jury box! May husbands ever control all the incomes of their wives, and may wives be forever disabled from disposing of their own property! May the courts always have the power of dispossessing a mother of her child, and imposing upon it a guardianship foreign to her will! May Bridget in the kitchen forever prick the pies with her hair pin, and John Chinaman moisten the piecrust from his mouth! May Mr. Thomas Nast portray the coming woman doing general house-work, and Dr. Nathan Allen continue to publish in the religious newspapers cheerful statistical articles on the decrease of the population in New England! May Laura ever be obliged to pave the way to Frederick's purse with toothsome viands, and never know what it is to be joint sovereign of the woman's kingdom! May sewing-machines be broken past remedy, and ruffles come in like a flood, and men wear seven bosoms to one shirt, and the bosom factories stop work, and all the laundries dry up! May women receive one-quarter the wages of men and do twice the work, and kid gloves go up to five dollars a pair, and tear out on the back of the hand the first time they are put on!

In short, may women be held a subject race when they shall have proved themselves one, and be oppressed and spoiled evermore; for they will surely deserve it if they go back to the leeks and onions of Egypt after having eaten the manna and quails of the promised land!

Long skirts indeed!

ASHES AS A CATTLE FEED. — The Maine Farmer says: One of our substantial subscribers—in a recent conversation — gave his experience in training neat stock affected this way. They became thin in flesh, refusing to eat hay, and presenting a sickly appearance. He had an impression that their food lacked the constituents for making bone, but his neighbors used bone meal without noticing any good results whatever. Last spring he put about four bushels of leached ashes into his barnyard, and threw out to them about a shovelful each day. They all ate as if with evident relish. After turning them out to pasture, he put one peck of dry ashes a week on the ground in the pasture. They ate it all up, and gnawed off the grass where it had peen lying. The cattle began to improve, gaining flesh and looking better than they had for several years. He says this morbid appetite was unnoticed years ago, from the fact that the land was new and ashy from the burning of the woods and land clearing. He has another proof of the value of ashes for stock from this incident. He had a very large tub full of leached ashes which remained in it some time. It was afterward used as a watering tub; and when the cattle drank from it, they would lick and gnaw the sides and bottom of the tub; actually bitting out pieces and eating them. Latterly he gives one quart of ashes mixed with the same quantity of salt, to twelve head of cattle, about once a week, and finds it to agree with them wonderfully.

A CHEAP ICE-HOUSE.—A farmer thus tells how he had constructed an ice-house: I sat posts in the ground, so as to make a house twelve feet square, (three posts on each side,) then board or plank it up eight feet high on the inside. The surface is then dug out six inches deep, sawdust filled above the level of the earth. The ice is packed nine feet square and six feet high, leaving a space of eighteen inches between the ice and boards closely packed with sawdust, and the same old-fashioned board roof. The space above the sawdust is left open so that the air can circulate through. The result is that we have used the ice daily the entire summer and have a stock left.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopaes, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT of BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

MONDAY, DEC. 26, 1870.

THE WAR.—There was a sharp engagement on Tuesday near Monnaie, eight miles north of Tours, which resulted in the capture of that place by the Prussians, the French retreating toward the south. The Prussians followed, and one French despatch says they entered Tours, but subsequently evacuated it. Another despatch says that they proceeded toward Blois without attacking Tours. There are also no particulars given of the force engaged or the loss on either side. The French claim to have been successful, but the Prussians say that the French were driven back at nightfall.

During the great sortie from Paris on Wednesday, Gen. Ducrot took many hundred prisoners. The general situation is more encouraging for the French.

Gen. Manteuffel has moved his forces for the purpose of opposing the march of Gen. Faidherbe.

EUROPE.—The decree confirming the Roman plebiscite has been ratified.

The Duke of Aosta is to enter Madrid on the 1st of January.

Turkey has sent out an expedition against the Arabs.

CHANGED ITS OPINION.—The London Times again editorially discusses the question of the Alabama claims. It says that "the Americans are ready to fight, (although they appreciate the value of peace,) because their exposed points are few and their resources unbounded. While they do not seek war, they are not likely to decline a challenge, whereas England is always averse to war for converse reasons." The Times has a very different opinion, or at least talks very differently, of the Americans, from what it did a few years ago—about the time of the "Trent outrage," for instance, when England made so much bluster because an American naval officer captured the rebel traitors Mason and Slidell on board a British steamer. Time works great changes, sometimes.

☞ The ship Tennessee has been ordered to the Brooklyn navy yard to be fitted out in readiness to take the investigating commission to San Domingo, in case the resolution should pass the House, and Captain William G. Temple, judge advocate of the Navy department, will command her.—Ensign Sidney H. May of New Hampshire has been ordered to the Tennessee.

☞ The preliminary meeting in aid of the proposed world's peace congress of women was held in New York Friday. Letters were read and speeches were made in furtherance of the movement.

☞ The entire business part of the town of Bradenburgh, Mead county, Kentucky, was burned on Thursday morning. Only three business houses were saved. The fire commenced in a hotel. Loss estimated at $100,000 insurance, $50,000.

☞ Rev. Collins Stone, of the American Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb in Hartford, was killed by the cars on the Hartford and New Haven Railroad, Friday, and Rev. James W. Strong, pastor of the Congregational church at Faribault, Minnesota, was badly injured and is in a critical condition.

☞ The steamer Aries, from Boston for Philadelphia is ashore on Hereford but will probably come off. The first officer, Mr. J. B. Sears, and four men were drowned while getting soundings.

☞ Returns from the Georgia election come in slowly, and it is impossible to tell how the State has gone. Both parties claim a victory.

☞ A grand banquet was tended to Miss Nilsson at Chicago, Ill., on Thursday night, by a number of prominent citizens, at which she was presented with a gold wreath valued at $2000.

☞ A blast containing 62,500 pounds of powder will be fired at the Blue Grand gold mine, at Suckers' Flat, California, next week.

☞ It is reported that Sir John Rose is on his way to Canada, entrusted with a mission from the British government regarding the fishery question.

☞ A number of prisoners attempted to break and escape from the prison, at Nashville, Friday. Shelton, the jailor, shot and killed one of the prisoners, and the remainder were then secured and ironed.

☞ The new census returns from a number of the assembly districts in New York city present very little change from the previous enumerations. Twelve of the districts show an aggregate falling off of fifty.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

A GOOD LECTURE.—We abstained from noticing the temperance lecture delivered by Rev. Geo. M. Adams some two weeks ago, in the North Church, intending to procure the lecture for publication, if possible. A press of other business has prevented us doing so; but we have read the lecture with much interest and pleasure. Mr. Adams comes out boldly and squarely for total abstinence from all intoxicating drinks, including cider, ale, wines and the so-called cordials; and he gives convincing reasons for so doing.

He opposes the moderate indulgence in spirits, because it is useless, giving neither warmth nor power—at the best but enabling the drinker to borrow today what he must pay back to-morrow with interest—and because of the bad example to others, as well as the danger to the drinker of his becoming a slave to intemperance. Mr. Adams regards the incredulity with which almost all drinkers—moderate or other—treat any expression of fear that intemperance and slavery to drink may come from moderate indulgence—the belief of every drinker that "I can leave it off whenever I choose"—as one of the greatest dangers; and quotes copiously from the writings of men who have lived in wine countries, or have struggled vainly against the degrading vice of drunkenness in their own persons, to show that "wine is a mocker" indeed, and that neither it, nor shame nor intellectual power, will save the moderate drinker from often becoming the drunkard. We understand that the lecture is to be repeated shortly; and it is well worthy a repetition—we regard it as one of the best and strongest temperance arguments we have ever read.

☞ Dearborn S. F. Engine Co. gave their third annual ball at Congress Hall, Friday night. The attendance was not so large as on some previous occasions, but the boys went in for a good time and had it. At intermission Ex-Foreman Tucker presented to Foreman E. E. McIntire, for the Company, a beautiful silver badge, with gold lettering, which Mr. McIntire accepted with appropriate remarks. The badge is to always remain with the foreman of the company for the time being.

NAVY YARD.—Dr. Robert M. Otis of Kittery is appointed writer in the Steam Engineering Store, vice Ichabod Cole removed.

John D. Frost is appointed writer in Asst. Naval Constructor's office, vice Daniel A. Hills, removed.

Richard H. Goding is appointed writer in Chief Engineer Macomb's office, to fill vacancy caused by resignation of Mr. Shapleigh.

☞ The delegates to the County Convention, from Portsmouth and every town in the vicinity, voted for Mr. F. W. Miller for Commissioner, with entire unanimity; and not a man left him until he withdrew his name. Portsmouth people think we are entitled to one of the Board, and it was though at the Convention that Mr. Miller's chance for the succession next year is good.

☞ Several mechanics of this place propose to buy a large lot of land a little out of the city, and combine their work to build several low priced dwellings, for sale. One gentlemen we learn has offered to sell them the land and furnish all the stock, to be paid for when the houses shall be sold. We hope the plan will be put in operation, for more houses are needed.

☞ Charlie Wilkinson's Dramatic Company gave really good theatrical entertainments at the Temple on Friday and Saturday evenings, though the attendance was not nearly so large as the performances merited. Lillie Wilkinson is a very pleasing actress.

FESTIVAL AND FAIR.—The Ladies' Church Aid Society of Greenland hold a Festival and Fair at the Town Hall in Greenland, on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, Dec. 27 and 28. Singing, tableaux, &c., will form part of the attractions.

☞ The following dialogue took place between a well known gentleman of the legal profession, and a citizen: "Ah, Tom, how's you hand? heard you'd cut it badly." "Well, yes, I did most awfully—Hackett."

☞ We understand that the old brick vestry on Fleet Street, which was advertised to be sold at auction last week, has been disposed of at private sale.

☞ Fifteen hundred pounds of nitroglycerine exploded at the Hoosac Tunnel, Friday, blowing the superintendent, named John Velair, to atoms.

☞ Gen. Schenck's commission as minister to England was signed by the President on Friday.

THE HARMONIOUS DEMOCRACY.—In accordance with previous arrangements, about seventy-five of the leading men of the democratic party, from all sections of the State, assembled in Concord Friday evening for the purpose of devising measures to heal the differences which have existed in that party for some time past. The existence of two rival organs there, the Patriot and People, is the alleged cause of the differences, and their consolidation into one paper in the new direction is thought to be an essential step for the restoration of harmony. With a view to the accomplishment of this object, a committee, consisting of one from each county, was appointed to confer with the proprietors of each paper and ascertain on what terms and conditions they will surrender their papers to a third party, to be consolidated under a new management.

The two papers differ as to what are true democratic principles; one thinks secession and treason are played out, and the other doesn't—so they fight and tell unpalatable truths about each other and the grand conglomeration of copperheads, and of course the latter don't like it. Hence this attempt to silence their indiscreet organs. It's fun for the Republicans, though, and may be profitable to them, for "when rogues fall out, honest men get their due."

☞ The Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol has decided that lay-preachers cannot be allowed in the Established Church of England.

☞ Three steamers have arrived from Spain at Havana, bringing 2500 troops.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

POVERTY IS BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as anybody." Try it.

PROSPECTUS FOR 1871.

FOURTH YEAR.

Size of Page Changed, and Attractions vastly Increased.

THE ALDINE:

An Illustrated Monthly Journal of 16 pages, claimed to be the handsomest Paper in the World.

"Give my love to the artist workmen of The Aldine who are striving to make their profession worthy of admiration for beauty, as it has always been for usefulness."—Henry Ward Beecher.

The object of The Aldine is to furnish a medium which shall be a fit exponent of progress, and of the beautiful in PRINTING and the kindred arts. The latest and most improved machinery and the very highest order of mechanical and artistic talent shall be taxed to the utmost to produce a sheet—as nearly as possible—perfect in typography and illustration. While it is intended that the appearance shall be unexceptionable, no pains will be spared to keep the literary matter, original and selected, equal to the best.

THE UNEQUALLED EXCELLENCE of the WOOD-CUT ILLUSTRATIONS published in the pages of The Aldine has elicited the commendations of the European as well as the American press and has been hailed as the commencement of a new era in the history of Illustrated Journalism.

During the ensuing year the publishers will present in profusion, and in the highest style, the rarest specimens from the pencils and gravers of the foremost artists of the world; and, while the illustrations may be consulted as a GUIDE, the volume shall contain nothing that is not of permanent value as a work of art.

The experience of the past year demonstrates that there are many persons throughout the country whose cultivated taste in matters literary and artistic lead them to a peculiar appreciation of the enterprise, and the publishers appeal to that class for the active sympathy and financial support so necessary to success, and to a full realization of the proposed scope and usefulness of The Aldine. Let each well-wisher send in at least one subscription and influence others to do likewise.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Temple—P. M. L. A.

THE CHURCHES.—On Sunday the various churches of the city were dressed in holiday apparel of evergreens and flowers, and the services had special reference to the event which Christmas commemorates. We have space only for a brief mention of the decorations in some of them.

St. John's (Episcopal) church was heavily festooned from centre of ceiling to lower corners with evergreen, with a large pendant of the same from the centre. The pillars were twined with evergreen, with wreaths at the tops; the organ was festooned; on the front of the gallery, on opposite sides, were a cup and cross, in evergreen; in centre of chancel a cross four or five feet high, and suspended from the top a large star, both of evergreen. The gallery was lettered all around in gold, velvet and green, with the legend, "The only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth, the son of Mary." The effect of the whole was very fine. The Episcopal Society have their Christmas Tree and Festival at Congress Hall on Tuesday evening.

St. Mary's (Roman Catholic) Church was extensively ornamented. The pillars were twined and wreathed with evergreen; the altar, and the pictures representing scenes in the life of Christ, which hang around the walls, were beautifully dressed; and crosses, large and small, with a large harp and numerous stars, all in evergreen, occupied the places not covered by the festoons. High mass was celebrated at this church Sunday forenoon, by the pastor, Rev. Canon Walsh.

The Unitarian Church was elaborately dressed. Heavy festoons of evergreen reached from the centre of the ceiling to the lower corners of the house; the chandelier was ornamented with the same material, and an evergreen arch surmounted the communion table, a large evergreen bell being suspended over the preacher's desk. On the front of the gallery was the legend, "Glory to God in the highest, on earth peace, good will toward men;" and at the opposite end of the church, "Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord," worked in green leather. Crosses, stars and anchors, with the words "Faith," "Love," "Charity," etc., worked in green leather, with large evergreen wreaths, occupied the spaces between the windows; and heavy festoons of evergreen extended along the sides of the church, near the ceiling. The forenoon service had especial reference to the occasion of the holiday of Christmas; and in the evening Rev. Mr. DeNormandie gave a lecture to the young.

At all these churches bright colored flowers were used with greater or less profusion to set off the heavier evergreen, and greatly heightened the general effect of the whole.

The Methodist Church was tastefully but not extensively decorated. This Society had a Christmas Festival on Saturday evening, and some $500 worth of presents were distributed from the Tree. The descent of Santa Claus from somewhere up aloft occasioned much delight to the children. On Sunday forenoon a Christmas sermon was preached by the pastor, Rev. C. H. Dinsmore.

The Universalist Society had their Christmas Tree Saturday evening, in their church. Their pastor, Rev. Geo. W. Bicknell, was presented with an elegant hat tree. The exercises consisted of singing, declamations and dialogues. The declamation by Miss Flora Fitts was finely rendered. A pleasing duet by Misses Locke and Hanscom was a feature of the evening's enjoyment.

At the Middle St. Baptist, the desk was tastefully decorated with flowers, and in the morning a Christmas sermon was preached by the pastor from Luke 2:14; "Glory to God in the highest, on earth peace, good will toward men."

The children of the Pearl Street Society had a Festival and Christmas Tree at their Vestry on Saturday evening, with a distribution of presents.

A HOLIDAY.—Ry the Revised Statutes of the States of New Hampshire we find that the following are legal holidays: Thanksgiving, Fast and Christmas Days, the 4th of July and the 22d of February,—so we are entitled to five holidays each year. Not feeling disposed to give up one of this large number just because Christmas Day occurs on Sunday, and considering that printers and editors are as well entitled to a holiday as any other people, we shall issue no paper from this office on Tuesday. To-day (Monday) will be generally observed as a holiday; the Navy Yard shuts down, the schools shut up, and the Post Office will only keep open the regular holiday hours—from 8 A. M. to 12 M.

Communication.

THE CITY MISSIONARY.—Messrs. Editors:—Your correspondent may be a constant "Reader" of the Chronicle, but cannot have read any one of the reports of our City Missionary for the last ten or twelve years, or he would know that "the disbursement of two hundred dollars" is not what the "missionary is paid $800 or $900 per diem" (annually?) for; any more than the writing of 50 or 75 sermons is what our churches pay their ministers' salaries for. His distribution of money has amounted to nearly double the sum named, besides large quantities of valuable clothing, bedding and provisions; independent of the amounts drawn by him from the Howard Benevolent and other societies, who have found this the most efficient means of distributing their charities, and assuring themselves of the deserving nature of the claims made upon them. Let me also refer "Reader" to the report of the remarks of Ex-Mayor Simes (printed in your paper last December) in which he states the great service which Mr. Medbury rendered him when he held the position of Mayor and chairman of the Overseers of the Poor. This, next to, and parallel with, the spiritual services rendered by a City Missionary to those unconnected with any of our religious societies, is the great use of such a man, and would be cheaply purchased at double his salary.

His office is a central point at which all charitably disposed persons can make inquiries, and know how and where worthily to bestow their alms. All who remember how infested our streets and doorsteps were, a few years ago, by children begging for cold victuals, and know how completely this nuisance was done away with by the efforts of Mr. Medbury, will recognize one of the results of the mission, beyond dispensing 200 dollars. The city of Boston has at great expense recently organized a "Central Bureau of Charities," to give concert of action among the various bodies existing for charitable operations. The same result has been attained among us at a very small comparative cost by the city mission. We are very sorry that the directors of the society have been compelled by the indifference of the public to discontinue the office; and we trust that they will soon find themselves enabled by the renewal of subscriptions for the missionary's salary to appoint some one to whom we can look as the minister of the poor. H

SILVER WEDDING.—Capt. and Mrs. Nathan White, of Newcastle, celebrated their silver wedding on Friday evening, Dec. 23d. Rev. Joseph W. White of Portsmouth made an appropriate and most pleasing address, and Mr. Meshach Bell of Portsmouth offered prayer. An elegant and costly silver tea-service was presented to Mrs. White, Rev. John Albee making a neat presentation speech, which was responded to by Mr. White. The company, numbering about one hundred and thirty, then sat down to a bounteous and elegant repast, at which John P. Cooper, Esq., presided; and the party finally broke up, after an evening of unalloyed enjoyment.

P. M. L. A. LYCEUM.—The next lecture of the P. M. L. A. Lyceum course will be delivered to-morrow (Tuesday) evening, by Rev. Geo. W. Bicknell; subject, "Enthusiasm." Mr. Bicknell has delivered this lecture in Biddeford and Portland, where it was spoken of by the press in the highest terms of praise.

CENTRAL RAILROAD

OF IOWA,

Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION

——OF THE——

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of

90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.

2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.

3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.

4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.

5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.

6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.

7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

Subscriptions will be received in PORTSMOUTH by

JOHN CHRISTIE, Esq.,

Treasurer Rockingham 10 Cents Savings Bank,

SAMUEL LORD, Esq.,

Cashier First National Bank,

Of whom pamphlets and full information may be had.

W. B. SHATTUCK, Treasurer,

32 Pine Street, New York.

After a full examination, we have accepted an Agency for the Sale of the above First Mortgage Bonds, and desire to recommend them to our customers AS A THOROUGHLY SAFE, AS WELL AS PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

Our Correspondence.

BOSTON, Dec. 24.

Persons who pass over a road very often are rarely judges of the improvements thereon. Don't imagine me to imply, per contra, that those who pass over the same road at very long intervals, are of necessity the best judges of any change for the better on such route. The first, from constant watching of a slow process, grow impatient; the latter, from lack of memory or want of observation, fancy there has not been much change; and so the two classes arrive at precisely the same conclusion—that not much progress is being made.

The opinion of the occasional and semi-occasional travellers over a single route may be taken as the best criterion of the growth and enterprise of the same. Is it a railroad? then the depot they saw in embryo a fortnight since is completed on their present trip, while the man who passes it twice daily is wearied at the slow rate at which masons lay bricks, and carpenters affix clapboards and shingles, and the man who passes twice a twelvemonth fondly imagines he has seen that building often before.

In my early childhood, even while the spanking teams guided by Somerby, by Barnabee, by Rice, and by Marden, dashed into Portsmouth with their rumbling stages, I delighted to watch the building of the first railroad to your city—the Eastern. The piling for the bridges at the Creek and near the depot, (now, alas! bridges no more,) the construction trains bearing dirt and laborers, all had a charm that was not second to any fairy tale,—and when a train ran over a dog or cow I think the fairy tales were eclipsed.

Since then I have wandered pretty well over the net.work of railroads that binds our country so closely together with its iron web, but my heart has ever remained true to its first love, and the 56 miles of iron that connect old Strawberry Bank with the Hub of the Universe are to me "El Comeno del Rey"—the road of the King.

Costlier bridges, heavier grades, more ponderous engines, finer station buildings, busier traffic, lower and higher fares, I have seen time and time again, but my heart always warms as I feel that I can point to the road of my earliest knowledge and say with truth, "You can find no better engineers, no more active baggage masters and brakemen, no more courteous conductors, than on this same old Eastern Railroad. True, the road is short, but its equipment might well shame some of the long-route lines whose bonds in millions flood the market. Slowly (it may be,) but surely, the old stations disappear and light, airy, even elegant buildings replace them for the accommodation of the public. A live Superintendent, a working Board of Directors, a judicious and liberal management, have not only enabled the Eastern Road to surmount the heavy burdens imposed upon it by malfeasance of long ago, but have won it a rank as one of the best managed roads in the country.

To recapitulate the improvements of the year would trespass on my limits as a correspondent. The past is the best guarantee for the future. Master workman Somerby will continue to build the elegant passenger coaches for which the car-shop at Salem has become noted; the active employes in the running of the trains will remain substantially the same; the double track will be pushed forward from Beverly to Wenham, and, if the winter be open, even to Ipswich; new appliances for the comfort of passengers will be tested, and if found of value readily adopted. Evidently the management are alive to the wants of the public, and the enormous travel over this favorite road shows that the public are ready to appreciate the efforts made in their behalf. M.

—Two rather suggestive lines appear in juxtaposition in announcing a Sunday school book:—

"THE WALKING STICK."

"It is more blessed to give than to receive."

The school boys think so, too.

☞ Supervisor Emery, of the eighth Tennessee district, reports the seizure of three copper stills, and 170 acres of land, and the breaking up of two illicit distilleries in his district.

☞ The Paris crew and their supporters have resolved to bring about another match with the Tyne crew, and $4000 has been subscribed for that purpose.

☞ The work of filling the Brooklyn caisson of the East River bridge began Friday. The caisson sunk three months earlier than the engineers anticipated.

—In Kansas several vigilance committees are reported to be "doing a good and efficient work."

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1870.

TERRIBLE DISASTER.—The Spotswood Hotel at Richmond, Va., was burned shortly after 2 o'clock on the morning of the 25th, and many lives and much property were destroyed. Men and women, barefooted and nearly naked, fled into the snow-covered streets. The steam engines were promptly on hand, but the water being frozen, it was some time before any could be thrown upon the building. The weather was so intensely cold that the telegraph wires in front of the burning buildings were covered with ice, and the fire steamers were encased in ice an inch thick. In twenty minutes the flames spread to such an extent that the escape by the staircase was cut off. The guests then began leaping from the windows. The steward of the hotel leaped from the third story, receiving fatal injuries.

A man who was in the fourth story, escaped by dropping from window cornice to window cornice until he reached the ground. He was badly burned. The correspondent of the New York Herald had a narrow escape. The guests lost all their clothing and the ladies had to walk bare-footed over the snow to places of shelter.

The most fearful scene of the disaster was the appearance of Mrs. Emily Kennearly at a window in the fifth story, with one or two other ladies, screaming for help. The ladders failed to reach the windows, and while the firemen were endeavoring to lengthen them the crying women disappeared and were lost, the room lighting up a moment after with the flames.

One incident of the fire was a man appearing at one of the upper windows, paralyzed by fear, who sat tearing paper into small pieces and throwing them out of the window till he fell back into the flames.

Among those known to have been burned are Erasmus Ross, clerk of Libby Prison during the war, H. A Thomas, agent for the panorama of the "Pilgrim's Progress," and ten or twelve others. The hotel register has been found, and only six strangers are unaccountered for. The hotel was valued at $140,000; insured $60,000. The only building in the block that escaped the flames is the corner store that stopped the conflagration at the time of the evacuation of Richmond by the Confederate troops.

THE ODIOUS INCOME TAX.—At a recent election in Philadelphia the Democratic nominee was chosen, the Republican vote showing a falling off of nearly one thousand since October. In explanation the Philadelphia Inquirer says the people had been led to suppose that taxation would be reduced, and especially the income tax would be abolished as soon as Congress assembled; and the paper adds:

"They were, however, informed that their Representatives in Congress had voted against a repeal of the income tax law, and that the acknowledged heads of the party, President Grant and Secretary Boutwell were both using their influence to prevent its repeal. The consequence was, the candidate of the Income Tax party was defeated. This is the lesson that politicians may learn from the election in the First District."

Considering the fact that this Republican defeat was mainly owing to the defection of colored voters, some of whom voted the copperhead ticket and others not at all, the Inquirer's explanation of the reasons for the defeat does seem open to question; for that the negroes are in love with taxation of the poor rather than the rich is hard to swallow.

There was an earthquake in California a short time ago, and a Maine barque has just been lost at sea, with nearly all hands—all the effect of that "odious income tax," which also occasioned an eclipse of the sun in England, Friday, and made nitro-glycerine blow up the Hoosac Tunnel the same day. The income tax also caused the falling of Christmas Day on a Sunday, this year, and will do other fearful things if it is not at once repealed, and the wealthy relieved from paying their proportionate share towards defraying the national expenses.

DEMOCRATIC RECONSTRUCTION.—The committee appointed by the democratic meeting at Concord on Friday night, waited upon the proprietors of the Patriot and People Saturday morning, and it is understood that the publishers of the Patriot expressed a willingness to sell out their paper, unconditionally, for the purpose named—a union of the two papers—the terms to be left to the referees; but from the publishers of the People no satisfactory answer was received.

Our Correspondence.

RYE, Dec. 26.

At the Baptist church, Saturday evening, a large assemblage gathered to see the Christmas Tree, and to listen to declamations by several young ladies and gentlemen, and singing by the Choir and Sunday School. The tree was well filled with presents, which were distributed at the close of the other exercises.

Rev. Mr. Leach has terminated his connection with the Congregational Society, and will soon leave town. He has received a call from the Congregational Society in Lempster to supply their pulpit, and holds the matter under consideration. A very pleasant occurrence took place at the parsonage on Christmas eve, whereby Miss Clara A. Leach, daughter of the pastor, was made the recipient of an elegant silver cake basket, and a purse of greenbacks presented by the ladies of the Society. A meeting of the Society is called Monday evening, to take action about getting a minister.

Your correspondent would like to acknowledge the receipt of a package of papers from the Rand Brothers, of the St. Cloud Hotel N. Y., in which were notices of the hop lately given at their hotel. Copious extracts were given in the Chronicle Saturday, of the affair, but perhaps the description of the personel of the three brothers,—reported in one of the papers—might be recognized and prove interesting to many of their old acquaintances who have not seen them for some time. It is somewhat thusly: "Tom's yellow mustache is waxed and stretches nine inches from point to point; as a blonde he is admired by the lady guests with black hair, while John is acceptable to the light-haired beauties. George is brown haired. As a happy medium between both, he is viewed benignantly by a wide range of the gentler sex whose hirsute charms are not of extreme hues." It is also announced that Tom is engaged to a widow, and her "curls are of the richest and deepest black." So that is all right, as far as complexion is concerned, and as the captain is of age, it would be of no use to remind him of the advice given by the elder Weller to the younger scion of the family, on a certain occasion, to "beware, etc. etc." May he be happy, and may fortune smile on them all, and the St. Cloud flourish. R.

☞ Schooner Georgia Todd, of Calais, Me., has been at sea, waterlogged. The captain's wife and three men were lost. The British schooner Victoria fell in with the wreck, and though their own vessel was disabled and leaking, her crew made an effort to save the survivors of the Georgia Todd. The brave fellows succeeded in getting two men from the wreck, but their boat was then stove, which prevented them doing more. The Victoria however, still, stuck by the wreck, until the British ship Euxine appeared and took off the other men, two in number. The Euxine, with the four survivors of the wreck, reached Boston, Sunday. The Georgia Todd was owned in Calais.

☞ The candidate for Railroad Commissioner, to be nominated at the State Convention of the Republican party, comes by time-honored usage, from the Third Congressional District. D. W. Buckminster, Esq., of Keene was appointed to fill the vacancy in the Board caused by the resignation of James W. Johnson of Enfield last summer, and doubtless Mr. Buckminster will be nominated to the office, for which he has proved himself to be well qualified.

New Hampshire Items.

On Sunday week, Benjamin Kimball of Wolfboro' attempted to cross Smith's pond on skates for the purpose of attending a meeting. Not returning, search was made for him, and on Friday his body was found in water 18 feet deep. His age was 27 years.

☞ The steamer Aries, Capt. Wiley, from Boston, which was ashore on Hereford beach, was got off Sunday morning all right, and proceeded for Philadelphia.

☞ The 1st Congregational Church of Lynn, Mass., was burned on Christmas night.

ALSIKE CLOVER.—An Aroostook correspondent of the Bee Journal, from a four years' trial of this clover pronounces it as good a forage crop as either white or red, besides giving a good feed for bees.

—Kettles are cleansed of onion and other odors, by dissolving a teaspoonful of pearlash or saleratus in water, and washing them.

—A lady who was acting as gratuitous amanuensis in writing a letter for a lady friend last week, had the impudence to throw the letter in the fire when nearly finished, for the simple reason that the lady for whom she was writing modestly requested her to close the letter by saying: "Please excuse bad spelling and writing."

☞ There is an immense excitement in London consequent on the alarming intelligence that the Prussians have virtually committed an act of belligerency that in the former days of English pluck have been sufficient to provoke a war, six English trading vessels having been sunk in the Seine by the Prussians, for the avowed purpose of obstructing the navigation of the river.

THE LABOR REFORM STATE CONVENTION, at Concord, Tuesday, nominated Lemuel P. Cooper of Croydon for Governor. Mr. Cooper had 70 votes and Mayor Weston of Manchester 52. Mr. Samuel Flint, the candidate of last year declined a renomination. A resolution was passed thanking Hon. Jacob H. Ela for his able and vigilant opposition to the extravagance and frauds introduced into Congress during the late session.

THE FLIGHT OF THE BIRDS.

BY HARRIET M'EWEN KIMBALL.

O wise little birds, how do you know
The way to go,
Southward and northward, to and fro?
Far up in the ether piped they;
"We but obey
One who calleth us far away.
He calleth and calleth year by year,
Now there, now here;
Ever he maketh the way appear."
Dear little birds. He calleth me
Who calleth ye;
Would that I might as trusting be.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

POVERTY IS BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as anybody." Try it.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is no Patent Medicine humbug gotten up to dupe the ignorant and credulous, nor is it represented as being "composed of rare and precious substances brought from the four corners of the earth, carried seven times across the Great Desert of Sahara on the backs of fourteen camels, and brought across the Atlantic Ocean on two ships." It is a simple, mild, soothing, pleasant Remedy—a perfect specific for Chronic Nasal Catarrh, "Cold in the head," and kindred diseases. The proprietor, R. V. Pierce, M. D., 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y., offers a reward of $500 for a case of Catarrh that he cannot cure. Sold by druggists, or sent by mail for sixty cents.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

Dramatic Readings—James P. Bartlett.

☞ The Republican Senatorial Convention for this District will meet at South Newmarket to day.

☞ The Episcopal Society had their Christmas Tree and Festival at Congress Hall on Tuesday evening, at which the hearts of old and young were made glad.

☞ By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that J. P. Bartlett, Esq., is to give a series of four Readings at Congress Hall, commencing with "The Rival," on Monday evening next.

☞ This (Wednesday) evening is the close of the Festival and Fair of the Ladies' Church Aid Society of Greenland, at which there is to be music by the Old Folks' Choir, Tableaux, an Antiquarian Room, &c. See advertisement.

☞ Mr. S. C. Berry has butchered a pig 8 months old, weighed 351 lbs., that girted 5 feet, 4 inches. He weighed less than 10 lbs. when 4 weeks old. He came from the stock at the Peirce farm in Greenland. This beats the Stratham pig of the same age.

ADA TESMAN'S FEMALE MINSTRELS advertise one performance this evening under the management of Billy Pastor. The programme announced is an original one and the proprietor claims that the performances are of an unobjectionable character. Misses Alice Somers, the clog and song and dance artiste, and Addie Bushnell, the slack wire performer, are with the company.

☞ A story obtained currency last week that a robbery of $10,000 had taken place at the Togus Military Asylum, Maine. The report grew out of the reception of a dispatch by the City Marshal, requesting the arrest of one J. C. Howe, a soldier who had left the Asylum with a large sum of money. The amount stolen was $450, with which it is supposed the thief managed to escape to New York. He has not yet been arrested.

☞ The Dayton (Ohio) Journal says that Mr. E. A. Mudge, son of Mr. Aaron B. Mudge of this city, was knocked down and robbed while going home from his jewelry store on the evening of the 19th. He had in a satchel watches and diamonds valued at $1,600, which he was carrying home for safe keeping. Mr. Mudge made a desperate fight with the three ruffians who attacked him, and was only overpowered after being severely cut in the head. A blow from a slug shot, which was found near where he was left bleeding and senseless, ended the struggle. The highwaymen escaped with their booty. Mr. Mudge's wounds are not considered dangerous. A portion of the property belonged to his customers.

BREVITIES.—The poor ye have always with you—don't forget them.

The days lengthen.

Another billiard exhibition is talked of. We hope it may prove more of a pecuniary success than the first—which was the last.

It is stated that the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Union will be in Thacher's building, corner of Vaughan and Congress Streets.

The interior of the Post Office is in a wretched condition of improvement and repair, but a good man conducts the repairs—which his name is Lynch.

An editor's sanctum is no place for loafers.

Now is the time to subscribe for the DAILY CHRONICLE and the NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE.

The new city government will be inaugurated on Tuesday, Jan. 3, 1871.

That talked of afternoon train for Boston (to leave Portsmouth about 3 o'clock) would be a great convenience, Supt. Prescott.

Portsmouth has no singing school for old or young, we are sorry to say.

How about the proposed aid to the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad, Messrs. City Fathers?

Mr. Stavers' bowling alley at the Temple is a popular resort for ladies and gentlemen.

The sample of St. Domingo salt sent us by Comdr. Badger, U. S. N., causes favorable comment among judges of salt. The tasters are so many that we havehopes of converting Strawberry Bankto the S. D. policy of President Grant.

Pension Agent Daniel J. Vaughan is to occupy [illegible] House, formerly used by the U. S. Marshal, and will remove from his quarters in Exchange Building during the first week in January. Mr. E. A. Joy is to occupy the apartment to be vacated by Mr. Vaughan, for a sewing machine repository and exhibition room.

☞ The Portland Argus states that the Swedish colony of 100 persons which settled in Water Valley, Mississippi, last May, don't like the climate there, and have sent a communication to W. W. Thomas, Jr., Commissioner of Immigration, for Maine asking that they may be provided for in Aroostook county. Mr. Thomas has replied to them, inviting them to come and join the colony. He is also constantly in receipt of letters from Swedes in all parts of the United States, inquiring about the Maine colony; and some from Illinois, and one from West of the Mississippi, have already joined it. The West and South have not all the attractions and advantages by any means.

CENTRAL RAILROAD

OF IOWA,

Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

☞ This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION

——OF THE——

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of

90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.

2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.

3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.

4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.

5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.

6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.

7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

Subscriptions will be received in PORTSMOUTH by

JOHN CHRISTIE, Esq.,

Treasurer Rockingham 10 Cents Savings Bank,

Of whom pamphlets and full information may be had.

TRESSILIAN COURT;

The Baronet's Son.

CHAPTER I.

A FATEFUL CATASTROPHE.

A wild storm was raging upon the Mediterranean Sea, near the close of a dreary November day, and sky and waters were black with the gloom of the sudden and furious tempest, before which a small sailing vessel was scudding under bare poles. Her build and rigging proclaimed her Sardinian. She was The Gull, Captain Varino master, on her way from Cagliari to Palermo.

She had on board two seamen, and two passengers.

These passengers were Englishmen, who had procured passage on The Gull to Palermo, whence they intended to embark by steamer to Marseilles, the following day.

While the Captain and his assistants were attending to their duties, and expressing apprehensions as to their safety, the two Englishmen stood apart, leaning against the low bulwarks, and surveying the wild scene around them.

These men were both young, apparently of the same age, about three and twenty, but evidently they were not of the same station in life.

One, the more striking of the two, was aristocratic in his bearing, tall, slender, and handsome, with a frank, smiling mouth, a pair of fearless blue eyes, set under a wide and massive forehead, and tawny hair blowing back from his face. Noble, generous and kind hearted, he had an adventurous disposition and a dauntless courage.

He was Guy Tressilian, the only son and heir of Sir Arthur Tressilian, of Tressilian Court, England.

His companion presented a remarkable resemblance to him, being also tall, slender and fair, and tawny hair and mustache, but he had not the frank smile, the bright, fearless look, or the joyous spirit that characterized young Tressilian. Young as he was, he had seen much of the dark side of life, and his experiences had been such as to develop in him some of the worst qualities of his nature.

He was Jasper Lowder, Guy Tressilian's hired travelling companion and bosom-friend.

The meeting and connection of the two had a touch of romance. Young Tressilian had spent four years in a German university, whence he had been graduated with honor. On leaving the university, it obedience to his father's written command, he had undertaken a tour of the countries inclosing the Mediterranean Sea, in company with one of his late tutors. The gentlemen being unexpectly promoted to a professorship, abandoned Tressilian at Baden, leaving him to find another travelling companion.

On the evening of the very day after this desertion, as Guy Tressilian was sauntering through the streets of Baden, he had been assaulted by a trio of his own countrymen, all more or less intoxicated. It was apparent that they took him for another, and intended to wreak vengeance upon him. Without allowing him to speak, they forced him to defend himself. Guy was getting the worst of the conflict, when a stranger came running to his assistance, and in a few moments the two had put the ruffians to flight.

This stranger who came so opportunely to Guy's assistance was Jasper Lowder. His resemblance to young Tressilian awakened in the latter a romantic interest. He questioned Lowder, learned that he was poor and alone in the world, and took him with him to his hotel. Believing that the similarity of features indicated a similarity of tastes and natures, he engaged Lowder as his travelling companion, and the past year they had spent together more like brothers than like employer and employed.

"This storm is a regular Levanter," said Lowder, clinging with both hands to the bulwarks. "Do you think the craft will stand it, Tressilian?"

"Oh, yes," answered young Tressilian, wiping the salt spray from his face. "The Captain knows the Sicilian coast perfectly. In two hours, or less, we shall be in the bay of Palermo. In three hours we shall be domiciled in the best rooms of the hotel Trinacria, with the best supper which Messrs Ragusa can furnish. And to-morrow, at noon," he added, "we shall embark for Marseilles in a Messageries steamer."

"And from Marseilles you will proceed to England and to Tressilian Court," said Lowder, with some bitterness. "And I—what is to become of me? I have had a year of unalloyed happiness, and now comes back the drudgery, the hopeless toil, the anxieties of the wretched old life. You picked me up at Baden, a poor adventurer seeking to gain a living by teaching English, and the same destiny is open to me now."

Tressilian turned his handsome face upon his companion in surprise and affectionate reproach.

"Jasper!" he exclaimed, "you talk strangely. Do you suppose I have called you friend and brother so long, and loved you so well, to lose you now? I meant to have written to my father concerning you and your future, Jasper, but his sudden recall, received [illegible] without warning, I shall telegraph from Marseilles that you will come home with me. And you will,—you will not abandon me, my friend? I will charge myself with your future. I will see that you obtain the position to which your talents entitle you. You have no ties to keep you on the Continent?"

A strange expression passed over Jasper Lowder's face.

"No, I have no ties," he said huskily.

"And you will go home with me?"

"What will your father say to my coming?," demanded Lowder. "He will think your generosity Quixotic. He will dismiss from his house the hired companion who dares to resemble his son—"

A sudden lurch of the little vessel, a wave sweeping over the deck, interrupted the sentence.

"You wrong my father," said Tressilian, his blue eyes kindling, when the vessel had righted. "He is the noblest man in the world. He will welcome my friends as his own. You will love him, Jasper, as I do, when you known him."

"He doesn't seem very affectionate," remarked Lowder. "You have been away from your home for five years, and he has but just recalled you!"

Young Tressilian's cheeks flushed, as Lowder saw in the lurid glow that momentarily lighted up the tempestuous scene.

"You know, or can guess, the reason, Jasper," he said, with something of an effort. "My father has a ward, the daughter of an old friend,—Ah! hear that wind shriek! The gale is increasing!"

"Yes," assented Lowder. "And the ward is Miss Irby—the golden-haired Blanche of whom you have talked so much, and with whom you have exchanged letters?"

"Yes. My father formed a project to have me marry Blanche. He did not wish us to grow up together, lest we should learn to regard each other as brother and sister. When Blanche came to live at the Court my father sent me to Germany. The night before I left home, he called me into his library and told me all his hopes and plans for my future, and entreated me to continue worthy of his innocent ward, and to keep my heart pure for her. I have done so, Jasper. I have never yet loved any woman. And yesterday I received my father's summons to come home. He has recalled me after 5 years of absence. I know the wish that lies nearest his heart. He wants me to return and marry Blanche. I shrink from the proposed marriage. I dread going home. And I dread offending my dear father, whom I love better than any woman. It is hard, Jasper, to revolt against the hopes and plans of a kind and generous father, whose very love for me causes him to urge on his marriage!"

"Is it?" said Lowder dryly, and with a strange smile full of sneering bitterness. "My experience has been widely different from yours, Tressilian. Did I ever tell you of my father?"

"No. I took it for granted that he is dead."

"Perhaps he is. I don't know," said Lowder, with a reckless laugh. "But if he is living he is a scoundrel. Don't start, Tressilian, at my unfilial speech. Wait till you hear my story. I am in a desperate mood to-night. This storm stirs up all the bad within me. As nearly as I can discover, my father was the younger son of a proud old county family—"

"You do not know, then?" asked Tressilian, pressing his companion's hand.

"I have no proofs of it. All I positively know is this. My mother was of humble station, pretty, with blue eyes and an apple-blossom face, and tender, appealing ways. She was the daughter of a widow, residing at Brighton. The widow, my grandmother, kept a lodging-house, and my father, a gay, dashing young fellow came to lodge with her. As might have been expected, he fell in love with his landlady's daughter. He offered the young girl marriage, on condition that the union should be kept secret until his affairs brightened and he chose to divulge it. The young girl loved him. Her mother was ambitious and penurious. The result was the lover had his way, and married the daughter of his landlady quietly, almost secretly. Then he took his bride to London, to cheap and obscure lodgings, where, a year later, I was born."

The wind for a moment drowned his voice. A [illegible] passed recklessly, and with passionate bitterness.

"For years my mother and I lived in those stuffy, obscure lodgings until her bloom had faded, and she had grown thin and wan and nervous. My father visited us at stated seasons, once or twice a week, but he never brought any of his family to call upon us. I doubt if his aristocratic relatives even suspected the existence of the faded wife and son of whom he was secretly ashamed. I have good reason to believe that he had fine lodgings at the West End, where he was supposed to be a bachelor, and that he went into fashionable society, while my poor mother and I lived obscurely. He was a profligate and a roue, but he had an air of fashion that awakened my boyish admiration, and aroused my mother's affectionate pride in him. She was always pleading to be introduced to his relatives, and to have her son publicly acknowledged. But my father always put her off, saying that he was not yet ready. Worn out and despairing, my mother died when I was ten years old."

Again the wind shrieked past, again the little vessel lurched, the sea sweeping her deck.

The captain screamed his orders to his men, and for a few minutes disorder reigned.

"A nasty bit of weather!" said Lowder. "[illegible]

"[illegible] Tressilian. "We shall make port all right, never fear. We must be well on toward the Cape di Gallo. And it's only seven miles from the Cape to Palermo."

"But the seven miles in this storm are worse than seventy in good weather. These coasts are dangerous, Tressilian."

Lowder shuddered as he surveyed sea and sky.

"But about your father, Jasper?" said Tressilian, who had become deeply interested in his companion's story. "What did he do after your mother's death?"

"I remained at the old lodgings with our single old servant a month or more, my father visiting me several times, and expressing anxiety as to what he should do with me. A week after my mother's death, he told me that his brother was dead. A month later, his father was killed by being thrown from his horse. My father came into riches and honors by these deaths. At last, deciding to rid himself of me, he took me down to Brighton, to my old grandmother. Her sons were dead; she had given up keeping lodgers, and was grown miserly. He promised her five hundred pounds a year to keep me, and to keep also the secret of my paternity, solemnly promising to acknowledge me some day as his son and heir. The old woman agreed to carry out his wishes. She would have done anything for money. I never saw my father again. I went to school, grew up, and at the age of twenty-one came into my grandmother's money, the fruits of years of saving, she dying at that time. My father had deliberately abandoned me. I did not know where to seek him, if I had wished to. I took my money and came abroad. I had been two years on the Continent, and had spent my little fortune when I met you. The rest you know."

"An odd, romantic story! But why did your father abandon you?"

"That he might be freed of encumbrance to make a grand marriage. From what my grandmother said at different times, I conclude that my father was in love with a titled lady before my mother's death. No doubt he married this lady. If he lives, this lady's son may be his acknowledged heir. My father has utterly disowned the son of his first hasty, ill-starred marriage. I have a fancy that I shall meet him some day," and Jasper's brow darkened to deeper blackness. "However, I stand no chance of ever receiving justice at his hands."

"What is your father's name, Jasper?" asked Tressilian.

Lowder's face darkened. He bit his lip savagely.

"What I have told you about myself I learned from my own observation, or from chance words of my parents and grandmother. My mother's maiden name was Jeanette Lowder. At our London lodgings, my father bore the name of Lowder. I don't know his real name, but I should know his face anywhere, although I have not seen him in thirteen years. My mother was actually married, Tressilian, but I never heard my father's name. The clergyman who married my mother was dead; the witnesses also. When my grandmother was dying she tried to tell me the story. She had put it off too long. All that I could understand of her mumblings was the 'name of Devereux. I shall never forget that name —'DEVEREUX!' Probably that was my father's name—my own rightful name. But as I should never find him if I sought him, and as he would repulse me if I did find him, I stand no chance of inheriting his property. He may be dead. He may have other sons who have succeeded him. It is all a mystery, but the prominent truth is that I am an outcast, poor, disowned and friendless."

He leaned over the bulwark, the spray dashing over his face violently.

Tressilian's heart warmed to him.

"My poor friend!" he said. "Must I say again you are not friendless while I live. My father has influence enough to obtain for you a government appointment. This tangle may straighten itself out some day. But if it don't, you are resolute enough to make your own happiness."

He grasped Lowder's hand, and looked with warm bright eyes, full of sympathy, into Lowder's lowering face.

There had been a temporary lull in the storm. But as the two stood there, the tempest revived and swept over the wild sea in maddened rage.

There was no time for talking now. The wind rose so high that words would scarcely have been distinguished. The storm that had gone before had been but play to this awful outburst. The vessel drove on, creaking and groaning, a mere cockle shell on the billows.

"Mother of Mercies!" wailed the captain. "It's all up with us, signores. I can't make out the Cape in this darkness. We shall go on the rocks. St. Anthony save us!"

The seamen echoed his cries.

The two young Englishmen, comprehending their peril, clasped hands in silence.

For the next few minutes it seemed that a Pandemonium reigned.

Then a noise like the report of a cannon suddenly boomed through the storm and darkness. The little vessel sheered, staggered, and careened upon her side.

She had struck upon a rock.

A moment later crew and passengers were struggling in the waters.

A few moments of buffetings and tossings, of vain struggles and agonized, involuntary prayer, and then Jasper Lowder felt his senses slip from him, and became unconscious.

When he came to himself, he was lying upon a rocky beach of the Sicilian shore, bruised, and weak as a child.

He opened his eyes. The wind had spent its fury, and now moaned along the coast with a desolate, despairing [illegible]

Lowder struggled to his elbow.

"Wrecked!" he muttered. "I am cast ashore, while the others are drowned! Oh, this is terrible! I have lost my best friend to-night!"

He moaned and wrung his hands.

"He is dead, who would have done so much for me, and I so worthless am saved! All my hopes of an easy and luxurious life must be resigned now!"

At that moment he beheld a dark object at a little distance in the water. The waves hurled this object against the projecting head of a sunken rock. At the same instant Lowder recognized it as the body of a man.

He crept toward it, and the waters dashed the body on the shore at his feet. He put his hands on the face. How cold and wet it was! It felt like the face of a dead man! Lowder's fingers came in contact with the soft, silken mustache, and he knew that the body was that of Guy Tressilian!

Of the five who had stood on the sloop's deck a half-hour earlier, these two alone were left. The captain and his crew had found their deaths among the cruel, yawning waters.

Lowder thrust his hand under the waistcoat of his friend, but he could not perceive the beating of his heart. Despair took possession of him.

"Dead!" he said surilly. "Dead! And he would have done so much for me if he had lived! And his father and the young girl he was to have married will walk in vain for his coming! His place at Tressilian Court is empty. Who can fill it?"

It seemed to him that some demon at his side echoed the question: Who can fill the place left vacant by the noble Guy Tressilian?

A thought came to him—a thought so strange and sinister that he shivered involuntarily. Again he felt of Tressilian's heart. It gave no throb against his hand. He passed his hand over Tressilian's head and discovered a gaping wound in the skull. The hair was clotted with blood.

Putting his hand into his breast pocket, Lowder drew out his little waterproof match-safe. He opened it with trembling fingers and struck a light. The red flicker danced on young Tressilian's face.

How ghastly and terrible it looked! The eyes were closed, the smile was gone. The seal of death seemed set on the whole features.

Lowder examined the wound. It had been made by contact with the sharp rock, and even Lowder perceived its terrible character.

"If he is not dead, he soon will be," he muttered. "His brain has received an awful injury. He will never know who he is again. He won't live till morning, and he is perhaps dead already. He must be dead!"

Again it seemed to him as though some demon echoed his words.

The match dropped from his fingers into the water. For a little while he crouched on the wet stones in silence, battling it may be with the better and nobler instincts of his nature.

At last, with sudden and abrupt stealthiness, his hands stole into the breast pocket of Tressilian and drew out his private note-book, a packet of letters, a few trinkets. He secured these among his own wet garments. Their possession seemed to give him courage, and his face hardened, and he knelt beside the body of his friend and rifled his garments of all that they contained, bestowing his plunder on his own person.

Then he took his own purse, his note-book, a few receipts and trifles from his own pockets, and put them in the pockets of Tressilian.

"It is done!" he whispered to himself, looking with wild defiant eyes through the darkness. "No one is harmed. He is dead. If he had lived, he would have provided for me. As he is dying or dead, I must provide for myself. This likeness between us will make my fortune. His friends will be spared a terrible grief, and I—I shall live at last! Fortune gives me a chance to gain name and wealth at one lucky stroke!"

As if to give himself no chance for repentance, he arose to his feet and turned his searching glances in an inland direction. A light, as from a cottage window, glimmering faintly through the thick haze, caught his gaze.

Raising his voice, he called loudly:

"Help! Ho, there! help!"

The wind had abated, and his cries rang out through the night with startling distinctness. The light he had seen moved and disappeared. A minute later, answering cries reached Lowder's ears, and he heard hasty steps, and saw the approaching light of a lantern, borne aloft by a man's upraised arm.

"This way!" shouted Lowder. "We are wrecked on the rocks! For the love of Heaven, hasten!"

The bearer of the lantern, attended by a male companion, came running to him, and was soon at his side. The lantern bearer was a rough Sicilian fisherman, a grade above his class. His companion was also Sicilian, but evidently of somewhat higher degree. Both were all excitement, astonishment and sympathy.

In as few words as possible Lowder told the story of the shipwreck, and called attention to the condition of his noble young employer.

"I think he is dead!" he said, in a choking voice. "Carry him up to your cabin. Let everything be done that can be done to save him. I will pay you well for any kindness to him. Poor fellow! He was my travelling companion. I loved him as if he had been my brother instead of only my hired attendant! Poor Jasper!"

The two Sicilians lifted the helpless form of poor young Tressilian, and carried it between them toward their cottage. Jasper Lowder followed them, bewailing his loss. The above we publish as a specimen chapter; but the Ledger will publish none but the very, very best. Its moral tone is the purest, and its circulation the largest. Everybody who takes it is happier for having it.

SLOW-FRUITING TREES.—It is a common belief that dwarf pear-trees come into bearing earlier than the standard. With us this has not been the case. Our standards are equally as early. We have several varieties of standard that commenced bearing the second year and have borne ever since. We have dwarfs planted from four to fourteen years that have never borne a single specimen. We have other dwarfs that fruited the second year and then stopped. We have the standard Buerre d' Anjou, planted in 1858 and for two years only have given us a few specimens.

We have often been asked of late if we were tired of dwarfs and had changed our opinion about them, and our answer has uniformly been negative. We think as much of them now as we ever did, but we should not plant them promiscuously. We would not select many varieties, as some never bear at all, and others give but poor satisfaction. The list published periodically in the Germantown Telegraph is selected from an experience of twenty-five years, and can scarcely be improved on. We shall continue to cultivate dwarfs along borders and little spare spots where a standard would be too large, and give them the same care that we would a crop of cabbage; but we shall set out only such varieties as have proved to be long-lived and productive. But where room is abundant and the object is profit, we should certainly grow standards in preference, and it needs no argument to prove their superiority.—Germantown Telegraph.

CLUB-FOOT IN CABBAGES.—A. G. Peabody, Machias, Me., writes to the New York Farmers' Club, that Club-foot is caused by worms which devour the small fibers of the root of the cabbage plant. These worms come from eggs which are laid at the point where the plant touches the ground, just beneath the surface of the earth, by a fly like the house-fly. Any one, by scraping away the earth a week after the plant is set, can see the eggs. A sure remedy is to put a tablespoonful of air-slaked lime around the cabbage plant when it is set out, and cover it with a quarter of an inch of pulverized earth. The fly lays the egg in the lime, and the egg, being moist, absorbs the lime and is killed. If the worm is once hatched it dives into the ground, and is then out of reach of any remedy.

Mr. R. G. Kimer, Penn Yan, writes: —I never fail in cabbage. My plan is to set the plants in a hollow, such as a wash-bowl pressed in soft earth would make; give them good cultivation, and keep the soil in the same shape, always dishing around the plant. My reason—the stalk of the plant will be shaded, the top will conform to the shape of the place where the plant is set, the leaves being upright, the more readily conveying the dew directly to the roots, thus supplying itself with moisture daily.

MEAN PEOPLE.—Mark Twain and Mortimer Doesticks are having a match telling stories about mean people. This is Doesticks' story:

Captain Asa T. Mann of this town used to own and command a pickaninny, bull-headed, mud-turtle-shaped craft of a schooner, that hailed from Perth Amboy. Old Mann used to prance out of his little cove where he kept his three-cent craft, and steal along the coast of the dangerous Kill von Kull, on the larboard side of Staten Island, to smouch oysters from unguarded beds, or pick clams off sloops where the watch had gone to bed drunk. Well, once old Mann went on a long voyage—for him. He went to Virginia, taking his wife and little boy with him. The old rapscallion put on all sorts of airs, and pretended to keep up as strict discipline as if his craft was a man-of-war. One day his darling baby tumbled overboard. A sailor named Jones jumped over after him, and after cavorting around about an hour or so, succeeded in getting the miserable little scion of a worthless sire on board again. Then old Mann got right up on his dignity—he put on all the dig he had handy—and in two minutes he had Jones into double irons, and there he kept him three weeks, in the forehold, for leaving the ship without orders.

The invincible Twain retorts with this anecdote, which, he pretends, is founded on fact:

In this village there lived, and continue to live, two chaps, who in their bachelor days were chums. S., one of the chaps, tiring of single blessedness, took unto himself a wife and a wedding, with numerous pieces of silver ware and things from congratulating friends. C., the other chap, sent in a handsome silver ladle, costing several dollars or more. Their friendship continued. A year later, C. also entered into partnership for life with one of the fair Eves; and he also had a wedding. S., being worth something less than $20,000, thought he ought to return the compliment of a wedding present, and a happy thought stuck him. He took that ladle down to the jeweller from whom it was purchased by C. the year before, and traded it off for silver salt dishes to present to C. and his bride.

WAR NOTES.—The victory of Manteuffel over Faidherbe in the north appears to have been complete, though the loss of the Prussians was nearly equal to that of the French.

The French accuse the Prussians of committing great outrages at Blois and Tours, which, if true, would show the Prussian soldiers to be little better than barbarians.

Bismark, having scared Luxembourg, has warned Switzerland that that power must maintain a more strict neutrality.

In reply to a patriotic address from the people, Prince Henry of Luxembourg expressed his confidence in their ability to defend the rights of the duchy.

It is reported that a scheme to assassinate King Bill and Von Moltke has been discovered.

A despatch from the Saxon commander before Paris says the bombardment of Fort Avron began Monday.

A French man-of-war has captured the German ships August from Hamburg, and Gazette from California. Both were taken to Tahiti.

The bombardment of Paris was opened Tuesday morning at sunrise, and was continued throughout the day. From the Saxon side shells of immense dimensions were thrown from the largest siege mortars into Fort Avron. The fort replied promptly, and kept up a steady fire all day. The city has not been touched as yet.

☞ Surratt's reappearance to public notice has brought out a fact concerning him which has never heretofore been published. It is stated on most responsible authority that when Surratt's mother was on trial Judge-Advocate Holt consented to release her if the former would give himself up to trial. Surratt was informed of this by friends who were in communication with him, and, instead of at once complying, thereby securing the release of his mother, he immediately absconded, leaving her to her fate.

☞ The report of the officers in charge of the national cemeteries shows that remains of deceased Union soldiers are interred in 73 national cemeteries, and in 316 local, private or post cemeteries. The total number of bodies of Union soldiers reported interred throughout is 315,555, of which number the remains of 172,109 can be identified, while those of 143,446 remain unknown. It is estimated that 463 scattered bodies remain yet to be interred in the national cemeteries. The estimated aggregate of expenditures on account of the establishment and maintenance of the national cemeteries, up to January 30, 1869, was reported at $3,226,370. The estimated expenditures for these cemeteries for the next fiscal year is $300,000.

☞ The tug Port Fire went to Cutts Beach, Me., on Wednesday, to tow schooner Col. Higgins (in distress) to the lower harbor. The vessel was towed to Trefethen's wharf, Kittery, where her cargo of lumber will be discharged and the vessel repaired. The Col. Higgins became water-logged on her way from Bangor and has been off Cutts' Beach since Monday.

☞ A partial eclipse of the moon, visible in the United States east of Minnesota, will occur on the 6th of January, beginning at five o'clock in the afternoon, and lasting three-quarters of an hour.

☞ A Detroiter who took a flask of whiskey with him on a shooting trip, struck a race-track in the suburbs on his return, and walked round it all night, wondering why he didn't get to town.

☞ A friend in Strafford County writes that Hon. Horton D. Walker of this city has many delegates from that region favorable to his nomination for Governor.

☞ A statue to Smith O'Brien, the Irish patriot, was unveiled in Dublin, Wednesday, in the presence of an immense assembly.

☞ There will be a Watch Meeting as usual, on Saturday evening, at the Methodist Church. All are cordially invited.

—Miss Pledge of Tennessee had been promised in marriage by her parents, but she preferred to do her own "pledging" and ran off in the night to marry another fellow.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

LETTER TO JOSH BILLINGS,

Editor of his learned Almanac, &c., on the Rotary Motion of the Earth.

My Dear Sir:—I have long been a reader and admirer of your annual treatise on the heavenly and earthly bodies, and though not myself on astronomer of much repute, still an account of my cabbages and lettuce I have made some shrewd calculations in respect of the lunar and planetary influences, and I may say to you confidentially that I have seldom ever known it fail to storm about Friday, and that I have discovered some kind of occult relation between the arrival of a three-masted schooner in our little harbor and the treble star in the left fore foot of the constellation Monocerous, which usually brings rain and keeps the fishermen at home and me busy transplanting my young cabbages. Also I may confide in you that I never kill my pig except at high water on the full of the moon. I find that blood will not run at any other time. In short I am so much of an astronomer that I have come to the conclusion that the moon, and not ourselves, is the cause of all the good and evil in this world.

Your mathematical demonstrations in regard to mules and other similar fixed bodies, I find to be true in this meridian. But what I particularly wished to relate to you were some observations in regard to the rotary motion of the earth as observed in this latitude, in order that you might have the benefit of them in your next Almanac.

As you are well aware, Julius Cæsar (the same who reformed the calendar, which before his day was in the habit of losing much time through political intoxication) discovered the rotary motion of the earth in Britain, whence it was brought to this country in the Mayflower. Though generally accepted by our forefathers, they never made any practical use of it. It was reserved for their descendants in New Hampshire to make an original and truly useful application of the discovery. Here it has become not only a matter of belief but practice. They apply it to all the affairs of life, but especially to politics or the science of government—or rather the science of office-holding. For now for a long time past, the history of the politics of this State would be not the history of wise enactments, and their far-reaching effects upon social and material progress, but a history of persons who have lost or won in the game of personal aggrandisement. The rotary motion of the earth is here considered a sufficient authority for the rotation of offices. There are indeed a few old-fashioned folks who think a good thing need not be up-rooted; but they pass for what they will bring, which is not much above the price of obscurity, and the safety of the Republic is not put in jeopardy by them. In the village caucus to which I beloug, it was unanimously voted, on the question of the Congressional nomination, that it was in contravention of the natural laws as made for New Hampshire by the Divine Providence, that any person should remain in office longer than a period sufficient to make him well acquainted with his duties, and useful to his country. Whereby, my dear sir, you will perceive we do not mean to have any mess gather on our rolling public men. Our ship of State being a cheap and somewhat rough job (though the pay is good,) let the apprentices try their hands upon it.

In short, if any star would naturally become a planet of the first magnitude, though it might not wear the brilliant colors of Venus or Mars, let it move on into night and space, and make room for the nebulous and milky atoms which are continually struggling into the political heavens.

I do not wish, my dear Joshua, that like your namesake you had power to make the sun and moon stand still, but I could wish you might encamp for a while on this part of the earth's surface with your Almanac to observe the physological effect of a belief in Rotary motion. It is my observation that the result of this faith, which copying the earthly motion would naturally carry men round and round, always landing them in the same place, does not in fact, but leaves them some way behind. How can you account for this? Please put it down as a problem in pons asinorum for your Almanac.

I anticipate that before long you will be obliged, like your great predecessor, Julius Cæsar, to reform the calendar for New Hampshire by the insertion of a large number of lost days which have slipped out in mistaking the signs of the political year for those of the true Solar. But how you will get the citizens back into their right minds and places seems to me a more difficult problem than any you have hitherto attempted in your celebrated Almanac. Perhaps you may think it best to suspend awhile the Rotary motion and allow us to pick up some of our old apprentices, or even some of our wise men who, tired of the too swift revolutions, might be found in quiet and out-of-the-way places.

Very Truly Yours, J. A.

In the year of Rotation 1870.

MORE INSANITY.—In Arkansas, last week, a boy named Butler, aged fourteen, shot and killed instantly the wife of his brother, who had just arrived at the homestead after the wedding. Previous to the marriage, the boy threatened to kill the young woman if she should become the wife of his brother. The murderer has been arrested, and asserts that his father encouraged him to shoot his sister-in-law.

H. C. McLaughlin, editor of the Murfresborough (Tennessee) Monitor, was shot and killed at Smyrna on Saturday by Robert Cattel.

On Friday last, in Alcorn county, Mississippi, a difficulty accurred between E. M. Nichols and his brother; weapons were drawn, and one fell, wounded twice. Mr. Shœpe, a brother-in-law, interfered to stop further bloodshed, but immediately was assailed and shot dead. The murderer was arrested and committed.

☞ Robert Young of Boston attempted to murder his wife with hatchet and razor, Wednesday evening, and to kill himself with the razor. He failed in the first attempt, but succeeded as to the suicide. Jealousy.

☞ The Pall Mall Gazette is anxious that Americans should know that England is heartily tired of the Alabama controversy, and ready to pay any impartial money award if an adjustment can be confined thereto.

☞ The Republicans concede that Georgia has gone democratic by 35,000 to 40,000. Thus far only two Republican senators have been elected, and they are both colored.

☞ There is every reason to believe that the movement to change the Senate committee on foreign relations will prove a failure.

☞ Three cold-blooded murders were committed in the southern States Tuesday.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Among the Annuals to appear with the opening of the year, this will be one of the most useful and may be had for the asking. The proprietors, Messrs. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT and LUNGS, such as COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

For a Cough and Cold, no better remedy can be had. Take small doses three times a day and put the feet in warm water at night, until the disease is broken up.

For Influenza, when it affects the throat or lungs, take the same course.

For Whooping Cough, give small doses three or four times a day.

For Croup, give large and frequent doses until the disease is overcome.

No family should be without the Cherry Pectoral on hand to protect them, in case of attack, from the above complaints. Its timely use often spares the patient a great amount of suffering and risk, which he would incur by waiting until he could get other aid. Parents, keep it in your houses for the exigencies that arise. Lives dear to you may be saved by it.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that the best qualities it ever possessed are strictly maintained.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

HON. WILLIAM CLAGGETT died in this city, about 12 o'clock, Wednesday morning, at the age of 80 years, 8 months and 20 days. He was the son of Hon. Clifton Claggett of Amherst, and grandson of Hon. Wyseman Claggett of Litchfield, who died in 1784.

He was born in Litchfield, April 8th, 1790; graduated at Dartmouth College in 1808; was admitted to the practice of law in Hillsborough county in 1811, and a few months later commenced practice in Portsmouth; was elected Representative to the State Legislature in 1814, and was often re-elected, up to 1859; in 1820 was Clerk of the State Senate, and in 1825 was Senator from the First District; from 1821 to 1825 was Clerk of the District and Circuit Courts of the United States for the District of New Hampshire, and from 1830 to 1838 was Naval Officer in the custom house at Portsmouth; and was Notary Public, and a Justice of the Peace throughout the State for more than forty years.

He was twice married, the first time to Miss Sarah F. Plumer, only daughter of Gov. Plumer, who died in 1818, leaving no issue; and the second time in 1819, to Miss Mary Thompson, daughter of Col. E. Thompson of this city, by whom he had five children, three sons and two daughters, all of whom are dead except the youngest son, William, now a merchant in New York city. She died in 1863, at the age of 70 years.

Mr. Claggett at one time had an extensive practice as a lawyer, and accumulated considerable property, but finally lost it all—as he claimed, much of it by fraud. He was Town Agent of Portsmouth for 2 years prior to the adoption of the city charter, a result which he greatly assisted to bring about; but he prided himself most because he succeeded, after contending for many years against popular prejudices, in getting the Farm system adopted for the benefit of the poor.

He was a voluminous writer on various subjects and delivered a Fourth of July oration in the North Church in 1812, Daniel Webster occupying the desk at the Universalist Church the same day,—both buildings being crowded.

Mr. Claggett was one of the most prominent and influential political men in the State, when in his prime. In 1823, Samuel Dinsmoor was the democratic candidate for Governor, and Isaac Hill seemed to have the political control of the whole State. Mr. Claggett had a quarrel with Hill, partly political and partly personal, and resolved to break down his influence, and that of Plumer, his patron. Having carefully laid his plans, he got up a Convention at Exeter to nominate a new candidate for Governor, hoping to effect the nomination of Arthur Livermore; but much to his astonishment he was himself chosen,—but declined, knowing that no other would carry out his plans. Mr. Claggett afterwards got up a Convention in Portsmouth, at which, by a previous agreement, Levi Woodbury was nominated; and by a singular chain of circumstances, in six weeks after he was elected Governor of the State. Josiah Butler and Mr. C. established the New Hampshire Statesman to assist in effecting this, and Mr. C. edited it until after the election, besides furnishing matter to two other papers. The Federal party and part of the Democratic party united under Mr. Claggett's leadership to elect Mr. Woodbury.

For many years, towards the close of his life, Mr. Claggett lived in poverty; and in his last days the college graduate and once successful lawyer,—the noted political leader who fifty years ago exercised a controlling influence in affairs of the State—depended on the charitable kindness of strangers for the necessaries of life.

☞ We hear it stated that Mr. Wm. F. Fernald has sold his ship, now on the stocks at the Raynes Yard, to Messrs. Horton D. Walker and others of this city and vicinity, for $36,000. Mr. Fernald has built 25 vessels here within the past 11 years. We hear that Capt. Jacobs, late of ship Merrimac, is one of the new owners and will probably command her.

Congressional—District 1, Ellery A. Hibbard, of Laconia; 2, W. H. Gove, Weare; 3, E. D. Baker, of Claremont. Councillor—District 1, Jeremiah S. Noyes of Concord. Senator—District 1, Edward P. Sherburne of Portsmouth. Mr. Sherburne is a Democrat. The Congressional convention in the First District was anything but harmonious, and many of the convention threatened to bolt, avowing the nominee not a member of the party.

CENTRAL RAILROAD

OF IOWA,

Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

☞ This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION

—OF THE—

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of

90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are:—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.

2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.

3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.

4th. It has great advantages in carrying corn to North and bringing lumber South.

5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.

6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.

7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

Subscriptions will be received in PORTSMOUTH by

JOHN CHRISTIE, Esq.,

Treasurer Rockingham 10 Cents Savings Bank,

Of whom pamphlets and full information may be had.

"Our Boys and Girls," for January, has many new and attractive features. Four chapters are given of Oliver Optic's new story, "Cringle and Cross-tree; or, the Sea Swashes of a Sailor," with two illustrations; a fine poem by Alice Carey; the opening chapter of a new serial for girls, by Sophie May, called "The Doctor's Daughter," illustrated; four chapters of Elijah Kellogg's new story, "The Spark of Genius," illustrated; a treatise on "Window Gardening;" Dicken's "Christmas Carol," arranged as an entertainment by Geo. M. Baker; one of Oliver Optic's capital letters from abroad; and a great variety of miscellaneous matter. Published by Lee & Shepard, 149 Washington Street, Boston, at $2.50 a year.

SCRATCHES IN HORSES.—The following ointment is claimed to be a sure cure:

"Take four ounces ointment of rosin, one half ounce finely ground verdigris, two ounces turpentine, one-half ounce oil of organum, one half ounce tincture of iodine, one and one-half pounds of mutton tallow. Mix all well together. Wash the foot clean with castile soap and soft water, and apply the ointment after the foot becomes dry. Once a day will be sufficient to apply the ointment."

GREENHOUSE PESTS.—The Mealy-bug and Red Spider as we hear from the best authority, will stand any amount of tobacco smoke, while Plant-lice (Aphis) are thus easily killed. The red spider, however, may be got rid of by exposing the infested plants to the rain, and the mealy-bug by a wash of Cresylic soap, sufficiently diluted not to injure vegetation. Cresylic soap is a very useful agent for the destruction of many kinds of insects.—Am. Entomologist.

—The following, from a village church-yard in Georgia, is touching:—

"Open your eyes,
For here lies
All that can rot,
Right where she sot,
When she was happy,
Our Eliza Jane,
Called home again.
To join her papy."

POTATO EXPERIENCE.—My experience in growing the potato has shown me the fallacy of some of the theories advanced in regard to the production of seedballs, and rot, and planting whole potatoes.

1. It is not true that the reason why the old varieties fail to produce seed-balls is because from frequent and long continued planting, they have become exhausted, as some assert; for these samples which I send you are but two or three years from the seed, and although they blossomed, not a single seed-ball did I find in the entire patch.

2. I have found four or five potatoes afflicted by the rot, proving that new varieties do not always escape the disease; my opinion is that it depends more upon soil and weather.

3. I have frequently planted both the whole and cut potato, and I could perceive no difference in the condition of each; I have come to the conclusion that the results from one eye in a hill are the most satisfactory.—Cor. Rural New Yorker.

—Lillie Peckham, the Wisconsin lecturer, asks: "Now, candidly, don't you think a woman receiving ten dollars a day for six hours' work, as a public officer, could care for her children much better than if she were compelled to work hard all day long as a washer-woman or sewing-woman?"

A CARD.
A CLERGYMAN, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the Cure of Nervous Weakness, Early Decay, Diseases of the Urinary and Seminal Organs, and the whole train of disorders brought on by boastful and vicious habits. Great numbers have been cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the recipe for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it. Free of charge. Address JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, Bible House, New York city.

TINGLEY'S AUTOMATIC HEAT GOVERNOR FOR HOT AIR FURNACES.
This invention has now been thoroughly tested for Four Years, and is offered to the Public as a perfect remedy for the Inconveniences, Dangers and Annoyances arising from Furnaces as ordinarily managed. Some of its advantages are.
1st. A sure Remedy for the Escape of Gas or Smoke through the House.
2d. An Economy in the use of Coal.
3d. It prevents Clinkers and the necessity of Sifting Ashes.
4th. Insures all Danger against Fire from an overheated Furnace.
5th. Gives uniformity of Temperature with every change of the Weather, saving care and time in the Management of the Furnace.
In order to gain these advantages, it is only necessary to kindle the fire, supply the coal and leave the Furnace, without regard to the Drafts, to the "GOVERNOR."

Interest payable May and November.
J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.
The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.
The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.
The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the land only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.
The Bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4¼ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 8½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after the date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.
All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?
IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the
AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.
It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint now offered. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.
It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it is ready for use, and retains its shade perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a smooth and durable finish which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.
One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.50, and will only cover 20 square yds.; 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats,—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.
The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.
The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the

HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. This hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

PROPHECY OF NOSTRADAMUS, A PROVENCIAL PROPHET, WHO DIED ABOUT 1565, A. D.

When the figures of the century,
Added and doubled both agree
And seven tens the years decree—
Appollyon in the West shall rise,
His haughty head in grand empire;
Reins shall mark his fierce advance,
War in his mien, death in his glance;
His engines of destruction dire,
Shall fill the air with bolts of fire,
His metal ships shall scour the flood,
And turn the river's course with blood.

Two Kings in Gaul and Italy,
Three crowns shall bear, thrice chosen be,
The eagle empires then shall war,
And spread their desolation far;
And one that most on others preyed,
Shall be defeated and dismayed.
The one that warred for fancied fame,
Shall lose his Kingdom and his name:
The North shall come like beasts of prey,
The South shall mingle in the fray;
The East shall Mennon's statute raise;
The West shall see her cities blaze;
The Crescent waning shall decay,
Before the beams of the new day.

From the waters hear the roar
Of the Lion's rock-bound shore,
And on the green western isle,
See the tearful maiden smile.
One is caged and one is free,
Hear the shouts of liberty,
From the isles and from the plains,
Scythian youths and Gaelic swains;
Thunder shakes the hills no more,
Cascades over mountains pour;
From the land where broods the dove,
Words of cheer on chords of love,
Through the ocean's shiny bed,
Life shall triumph o'er the dead;
Heaven shall then in broad outspread wings,
Fold o'er all sublunar things;
Men united know no war,
Liberty their beacon star,
O'er the land and o'er the seas,
Shall be one universal peace.

Then Appollyon's legions dead,
Then the King with triple head,
Shall no more his fatal sway,
Over men hold day by day;
Their sun in blood forever set,
They'll be forgot as they forget.

"The "figures of the century" are 18. "Added and doubled" they are 1x2—9 and 9x2—18. The "seven tens" are 70. Thus we have the present year 1870.

GET LEATHER BITS.—One of the cruelest things done to dumb beasts is putting hard frozen iron bits into a horse's mouth. It is not only a painful, but a dangerous act. For every time living flesh touches a metal much below the freezing point, the latter extracts the heat from the former and freezes it. Thus a horse's mouth becomes frozen by the cold iron several times a day put into it, each time causing these freezings to go deeper, to end at last in extensive ulceration. With such a sore mouth the poor horse refuses to eat and pines away, which calls the horse doctor in. They call it bots, glanders, horse-ail, etc., and go cramming down poisonous, drugs, in doses; and the next you know of the poor abused creature, he is trotted off to be food for fish or the crows. Many a valuable horse has been "mysteriously" lost in just that way.

Thinking and humane people avoid this by first warming the bits; but this is much trouble and sometimes impossible, as in night work like staging and physician's work. Now all this trouble is entirely avoided, as we have found on large trial, by getting of the harness makers leather bits for winter use, so made that no metal substance can touch the flesh. They are durable and cost only half a dollar. We wouldn't exchange ours for a gold one, if it couldn't be replaced. Don't fail to try it.—Rural World.

LITTERING YARDS.—Strawing or otherwise littering sheep yards in winter, in the most thorough manner, is a matter of prime importance. If sheep are compelled to stand or move about in mud or water whenever out of doors, the most liberal feeding and good management in every other particular, will hardly preserve them in the best condition. They should have a comparatively dry out-door bed to stand on in wet weather. The sheep—or at least all the upland breeds of sheep—find one of the worst enemies of their health and thrift in habitual wetness under foot.

Muddy yards prevent sheep from moving about out of doors and spending a portion of the time in the sun and fresh air, in pleasant winter weather, promote fouls, render hoof rot incurable, and cause lameness and annoyance to sheep which have sound feet, when a sudden freeze converts the small pellets of mud which adhere to the hairs in the foward part of the cleft of the foot, into pellets of stone. A little straw is excellent feed for sheep, If it is scattered over the yard they will "pick it over," eating the best parts, and leaving enough to keep the littering constantly renewed.

—The population of Nevada has decreased since the State was admitted to the Union.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ABOUT SEWING MACHINES.

"The Best Fruit Gets the Most Stones!"

It is not always the article that is sold the most which is the best, oft-times proving the greatest humbugs in the end.

THE ÆTNA

is not one of the last named, as is demonstrated to a fact, and it does not depend on the amount of its "blows" to introduce it, but upon its merits. I do not advertise Ten Dollars discount on Machines sold before January 1st, 1871, thereby to make it sell, because it has needed no such propelling motion since its introduction here. Call and see this Wonderful Machine—"a silent monitor of its own perfection"—and satisfy yourself as to price and quality in comparison with all others advertised.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1870.

TERRIBLE CRUELTIES ON BOARD THE U. S. FRIGATE CONGRESS.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Sun has obtained news of a horrible outrage committed two weeks ago upon a sailor of the frigate Congress, lying at Key West. An officer just returned from Key West brings information that Commander William K. Mayo of the Congress, for some trifling infraction of disciple on the part of a seaman of his ship, placed the man in double irons with his hands behind him and around a stanchion. He then caused a line to be made fast to the man's wrists and rove through an eyebolt in the beam above. The line, acting as a small tackle, was then hauled taut, which forced the man's arms up backward, until the joints fairly snapped in their sockets. The officer who brings the information witnessed the affair with a face burning with indignation, but was powerless to prevent it.

The poor fellow lingered in excruciating agony for hours, till finally he was cut down, and next day the same operation was gone through with. On that day, while writhing in agonies indescribable, and uttering cries which could be heard from truck to keleson, he gathered all his strength, and with one convulsive effort sought to free himself from the terrible punishment. With muscles of his face rigidly set, and with his teeth closed like a vise, he threw his whole weight backward on the tautened line, but it would not give. Something else did however. The man's right arm turned backward over his shoulder, and with a shriek which almost palsied the heart of those unwilling witnesses, the poor fellow fainted away.

Dr. E. S. Bogert, the surgeon of the vessel, who was present, and who had protested in the strongest manner against this outrageous cruelty, cut the line and removed the irons from the man's wrist, announced to the brutal commander that the right shoulder was dislocated, and told him that a renewal of the punishment would certainly result in death. The man was then taken to the sick bay, and the shoulder set, whereupon Mayo ordered him to duty. Dr. Bogert again protested, and explained to the ignorant fool the necessities of such a serious surgical case. At first Mayo would not listen to him, but finally withdrew his order, and took his revenge upon the doctor by ordering him to watch constantly by the man's cot until he could report him again ready for duty.

The Navy Department will order an investigation at once.

WAR NOTES.—Fort Avron, the point in the Paris fortifications to be first bombarded by the Germans, is a new work, mounting naval guns reaching the towns of Chelles, Montferivace and Chichy. The fire from the fort, in reply to the Saxon guns, was accurate but not destructive.

The news of opening fire on the fortifications of Paris was received in Berlin with public rejoicing.

Gen. Manteuffel has taken Albert, a town on the railway Du Nord. Most of the garrison were captured.

The Prussians cannonaded the town of St. Cobain on the 25th, and then entered the place, where they committed many disorders. General Chanzy sent a formal project to the Prussian general.

A fight has taken place near Havre, in which the French were the assailants. It was not a very bloody affair,—500 men lost on both sides. Each side fell back after the fight.

Advices from Paris state that new fortifications have been completed by the French beyond Mont Valerien, which throw shells beyond Versailles, and which is now considered untenable for the Prussians.

☞ A billiard match for $2000—2000 points—between Cyrille Dion and Rudolphe, the latter giving Dion 100 points, was played in New York, Wednesday evening, and was won by Dion—2001 to 1592 for Rudolphe, in 95 innings. The game occupied five and a half hours. Rudolphe's opening run of 315 points was the largest of the game. Dion's largest run was 142.

☞ The Pall Mall Gazette warns Englishmen that they cannot do worse than persist in the idea that the people of the United States are friendly to England. The fact is dismetrically otherwise. At any moment the Americans may inflict an intolerable insult on the British people.

☞ Rear Admiral C. S. Boggs, U. S. N., has sailed for Europe to take command of our forces in those waters.

☞ At a fire in Logan township, Illinois, a few nights since, several children were rescued from being burnt to death by a young girl named Clara Montgomery, who subsequently had to walk half a mile to the nearest neighbor, in the snow, barefoot. Both of her feet were so badly frozen that they had to be amputated.

☞ Further particulars received of the sinking of the Nick Wall show the disaster to be due entirely to the avarice of the captain, who allowed the steamer to be loaded much more heavily than it was able to bear.

☞ Mr. Charles E. Smith of South Newmarket has purchased the Kimball House at Dover. Mr. Pike, the proprietor, is to keep the house at South Newmarket.

☞ An accident on the Atlantic and Great Western Railway, near Cleveland, Wednesday, resulted in the death of one man and the injury of twenty or thirty more.

☞ A girl named Mary Gibson was fatally burned at Poughkeepsie by the explosion of a lamp containing Danforth's non-explosive oil.

☞ A serious riot occurred last week among the laborers on the Northern Pacific Railroad, owing to some trouble about their pay.

☞ The funeral of Rev. Dr. Barnes at Philadelphia, and Rev. Collins Stone at Hartford, took place Wednesday.

☞ The new Swedish minister presented his credentials at Washington, Wednesday.

☞ Mrs. Secretary Belknap is hopelessly ill at Washington.

SAD CHRISTMAS.—Our reporter, James O. Adams, Esq., has been visited by death twice within a few days. On the 23d it took away Susie Bell, a charming little girl close upon five summers, and two days after it cut down a little boy, Willis Everett, but a little over a single year old. Half of his children he followed to the grave on Monday. How sad is Christmas to him and the partner of his grief, only those can properly tell who know the bitter anguish of parents when they hear the dead earth fall upon the coffin of one of the tender lambs of their flock. Children bind themselves so closely to our hearts that it seems almost like taking life to take away one. But two in two days—two so young and beautiful, make all parents thoughtful and sympathizing. —Manchester Mirror.

A SCIENTIFIC CURIOSITY OF THE WAR.—A Parisian took a dozen columns of news from the Paris journals, pasted them upon one sheet, photographed the whole "in little" and sent the photograph (one inch square) to London by balloon, where it was read by means of a powerful microscope, translated verbatim and sent to the New York press. This is a significant illustration of the latest progress and discoveries in science.—Pioneer.

New Publications Received.

The People's Literary Companion, a large eight page monthly, containing more reading matter than any illustrated publication in America; published by E. C. Allen & Co., Augusta, Me. A fine steel engraving representing the voyage of life from Childhood to old age is given free to each subscriber. Terms 75 cents. per year.—send for it.

SHEEP.—Forty sheep are enough for one flock, and as many as should be housed and fed together. Oftentimes what appeared to be old and poor sheep, taken from a large flock, will thrive and do well for two or three years, and with but little more care when separated into small flocks. Sheep, unlike cattle, will do much better in open sheds, thereby having a good amount of air and light, which is very essential to a strong and thrifty flock. They should not be confined in small yards and pens, but allowed to have abundance of room, and in early winter let them roam about in the field or pasture, taking care to yard them when the snows become deep; and in the spring time they will do much better if allowed to go out a little every day as soon as the ground becomes bare. Sheep do better (like all stock) with clean pens and a good amount of straw or poor hay for bedding, which helps to make the best of dressing. A good supply of pure water is very necessary for sheep as well as cattle, and they should not be without it. Boiled potatos will help to make sheep do well, and is not only a change of food from grain, but a saving of hay. Do not keep poor sheep and get little profit from them, but rather a well selected flock well cared for, with a good profit in the end.—Maine Farmer.

—Six hundred and forty-five schoolhouses have been built in Ohio during the past year. The Buckeyes evidently mean to keep abreast the age in educational progress.

—General Trochu is said to be descended from the great dramatic writer and poet, Racine.

A BREED OF WALKING HORSES.—What use are fast horses to farmers? Can they put them to work in the plow, harrow, cultivator, roller, reaping-machine, cart or wagon? No. A storm might arise and the whole crop of hay be ruined, if they had to depend on 2.40 horses to haul it in. There is but one use that we can see that a farmer might put them to—sending for a doctor; but as farmers have very little occasion for this professional gentlemen, and never get very sick, a slower and surer horse will answer better. Why then parade these horses at the head of the lists at Agricultural Fairs, and give them the biggest premiums? No wonder our practical farmers complain of this, while there is no premium at all for walking horses, which are more useful.—Germantown Telegraph.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

POVERTY IS BAD, but the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man "poor indeed," for it takes away his strength, courage and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element, Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron,) and you will feel rich and "as good as anybody." Try it.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is no Patent Medicine humbug gotten up to dupe the ignorant and credulous, nor is it represented as being "composed of precious and rare substances brought from the four corners of the earth, carried seven times across the Great Desert of Sahara on the backs of fourteen camels, and brought across the Atlantic Ocean on two ships." It is a simple, mild, soothing, pleasant Remedy — a perfect specific for Chronic Nasal Catarrh, "Cold in the head," and kindred diseases. The proprietor, R. V. Pierce, M. D., 133 Seventh street, Buffalo, N. Y., offers a reward of $500 for a case of Catarrh that he cannot cure. Sold by druggists, or sent by mail for sixty cents.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Great Pictorial Annual.

Hostetter's United States Almanac for 1871, for distribution gratis, throughout the United States, and all civilized countries of the Western Hemisphere, will be published about the first of January, in the English, German, French, Norwegian, Welsh, Swedish, Holland, Bohemian and Spanish languages, and all who wish to understand the true philosophy of health should read and ponder the valuable suggestions it contains. In addition to an admirable medical treatise on the cause, prevention and cure of a great variety of diseases, it embraces a large amount of information interesting to the merchant, the mechanic, the farmer, the planter, and professional man; and the calculations have been made for such meridians and latitudes as are most suitable for a correct and comprehensive NATIONAL CALENDAR.

The nature, uses, and extraordinary sanitary effects of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the staple tonic and alterative of more than half the Christian world, are fully set forth in its pages, which are also interspersed with pictorial illustrations, valuable receipes for the household and farm, humorous anecdotes, and other instructive and amusing reading matter, original and selected. Among the Annuals to appear with the opening of the year, this will be one of the most useful and may be had for the asking. The proprietors, Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa., on receipt of a two cent stamp, will forward a copy by mail to any person who cannot procure one in his neighborhood. DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to remove a miserably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid a cold climate, and the best places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the south, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is there kept by Chapman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Melleville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellenville; it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times, but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than anywhere else in a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly; therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing winds, and, if you do so, you may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup," Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. I have well-established facts, that thousands of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of deaths there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about a scattet fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not; they take what they form a little cold, which, when the weather is cloudy enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and stronger still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with them. I know from that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to ride or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; I have hopes of such. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and ceases, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer; and, if they can, take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and I have no doubt that consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The last medicines I mentioned in writing this, Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver, better than calomel, and have none of its horrible effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have costiveness, or feel dull, or have diarrhoea causes, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water, and eat water-melons, peaches, apples, plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fever. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office No. 9 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9. A.M., to 3, P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But it must be distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one who has diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

Spectacles & Eye-Glasses—Lazarus & Morris'.

☞ Mr. A. T. Bricher, the popular artist, of Boston, is a native of Portsmouth.

☞ The Rockingham House is closed until further notice, in order to complete the alterations and improvements in the edifice.

☞ The Funeral of Hon. William Claggett will take place at the North Church on Saturday afternoon at half-past 2 o'clock.

☞ We understand that arrangements are being made by competent parties, to open both a Juvenile and an Evening Singing School in this city. Both are needed.

☞ John Albee, Esq., of Newcastle, has a hot-house full of winter Lettuce, the first we know of being raised for market in this vicinity. It takes about six weeks from the time of transplanting, to head up well.

☞ The snow came down finely, Wednesday evening, and gladdened the hearts of our livery stable keepers and the lovers of sleighing; but the wind arose, and Thursday morning found the sleighing all blown out of the roads into the fields, outside of the city, though there was a little of it left in our city streets. The merry sleigh bells do not make much music in our thoroughfares as yet.

☞ Portsmouth is again complimented by the nomination of one of her well known citizens for State Senator. Mr. Martin is an experienced legislator, having represented Ward One repeatedly at Concord. He is personally popular and will receive the support of scores of Democrats. The friends of Mr. Emmons B. Philbrick of Rye are quite pleased at the complimentary vote their candidate received in the Convention, which places Mr. Philbrick among the leading candidates after the close of Mr. Martin's term. The majority for Senator Small in the District last March was 666.

☞ Messrs. Harris & Mathes have got their new Brewery, on Bow Street, in operation, having made several brewings of XXX ale of fine quality. Mr. Harris is a skillful and experienced brewer, from New York, and has made several improvements in the machinery now used in the business,—among others, Harris' Patent Masher, being very effective. Mr. N. F. Mathes is a well known merchant of this city, and has had experience in the business. The new works are of five stories, and in shape what is termed a tower brewery, and everything is of the most complete, compact and convenient kind. It will be known as the Spring Hill Brewery, and it would seem can scarcely fail of success.

Mr. Jones and Messrs. Eldredge have also recently enlarged the capacity of both their works, and Portsmouth is coming to be quite noted for its breweries. The great purity of the aqueduct water here, is an attraction, for in order to make good ale, everything must be of the nicest quality, and the works kept as neat as a first-class dairy.

DIDN'T DO IT.—The New York Telegram called Weston's repeated and futile endeavors to do more than he was able to, "noble efforts in the cause of science." Portsmouth has had a specimen of similar noble efforts recently, though they did not make so much noise as Weston's fizzles. A few weeks ago a young Englishman came down here from Dover, and walked for 36 consecutive hours without rest, at Union Hall,—the "wonderful exhibition" closing with a dance, which was not a brilliant success. That speculation paid very poorly.

Last Monday morning the same walk-ist commenced an attempt to walk 100 hours without rest, at the same hall, and a fee of 10 cents was charged for a look. The first day, we are informed, the treasury was bloated by the receipt of 70 cents. In behalf of science, however, the devotee kept on,—either till he was tired, and laid down to rest, as one story has it, or till the proprietors of the hall closed it, as others say, for non-payment of the rent; at any rate, the walk didn't last 100 hours.

One thing is pretty evident, and that is, that the people of Portsmouth are not devoted to the cause of science as thus put before them; and we see no reason why they should be, for what good it would do to the walkist or anybody else to have him use himself up by keeping on his feet till he was nearly dead, we are at a loss to conjecture. If he was to shovel sand or chop wood for a week at a time, without rest, it might be different, as some one would be benefitted by his exertions.

☞ Two discourses will be delivered at the Methodist Watch Meeting, on Saturday evening; one by Rev. G. M. Adams at 8 o'clock and the other by Rev. C. M. Dinsmore at 10 o'clock.

☞ We learn that the total receipts at the Levee and Sale of the ladies of the North Parish, last week, were about $800; of which about $700 will be netted for the furnishing of the elegant new Vestry.

☞ The indications are that the course of Dramatic Readings, at Congress Hall, by James P. Bartlett, Esq. will be well attended. Those intending to hear the Readings should secure their tickets early, as the number is limited. For sale by Preston, Shores, Joy and Thacher.

A CAPITAL NOMINATION.—The Republicans of the second District acted wisely in re-nominating Gen. A. F. Stevens for Congress. His career there has justified the expectations of his friends in and out of the District. He has been a firm friend of the staff of the Navy and his position on the House Naval Committee has enabled him to be of great service to the only democratic branch of the Navy. Gen. Stevens had a plurality of 955 votes in 1867 and a plurality of 1647 in 1869, running ahead of his ticket largely. He is a man of the people, labors for the people and deserves what he will assuredly receive, a triumphant re-election.

☞ The Nashua Gazette thinks it significant that the Republican papers favor the re-election of Hon. E. H. Rollins as chairman of the Republican State Committee. The Gazette is right. The indefatigable Chairman of the Republican State Committee is the most untiring worker in the State, and his selection for the Chairmanship for 1871 would signify an earnest contest on the part of the Republicans in every school district in the State, and such thorough organization that the Republican hosts will rally at the polls as they have done for 16 years and add another to the long list of victories already recorded.

☞ The U. S. steam-tug Blue Light, from Charlestown navy yard to Washington, arrived at the Brooklyn yard on Tuesday, after a perilous voyage of ten days.

JUST SO.—The man who, troubled with the cacoethes scribendi, "takes his pen in hand" when in the vein, and indites a paragraph or a communication to the press, thinks, as he complacently reads his effusion the next morning, that after all it is no such great work to write up a newspaper. But let him bend down to it for a month, or a year, and be obliged to furnish matter for the types every day, and he will begin to feel some charity for the editor, and instead of judging him harshly, will rather fall to wondering that he repeats himself so seldom—says so little that is not absolute trash, and finds so many topics to write upon.—Boise News.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents.—in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier

CENTRAL RAILROAD

OF IOWA,

Connecting St. Louis and St. Paul.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This road is built by a Company of strong capitalists, who have pushed their work forward at a rapid rate.

ONE MILLION

——OF THE——

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

of the Company remain, which are offered at the very low rate of

90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.

2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.

3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.

4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.

5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.

6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.

7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and buy really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

Subscriptions will be received in PORTSMOUTH by

JOHN CHRISTIE, Esq.,

Treasurer Rockingham 10 Cents Savings Bank,

SAMUEL LORD, Esq.,

Cashier First National Bank,

Of whom pamphlets and full information may be had.

W. B. SHATTUCK, Treasurer.

32 Pine Street, New York.

After a full examination, we have accepted an Agency for the Sale of the above First Mortgage Bonds, and desire to recommend them to our customers AS A THOROUGHLY SAFE, AS WELL AS PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

WOMEN AND WINE.—Woman has never been associated with wine without disgrace and disaster. The toast and the bacchanal that, with musical alliteration, couple these two words, spring from the hot lips of sensuality, and are burdened with shame. A man who can sing of wine and woman in the same breath is one whose presence is disgrace and whose touch is pollution. A man who can forget mother and sister, or wife and daughter, and wantonly engage in a revel in which the name of woman is invoked to heighten the pleasures of the intoxicating cup, is, beyond controversy and without mitigation, a beast. "Dost thou thinks because thou art virtuous, there shall be no more cakes and ale?" Ay, cakes and ale, if you will, but let it be cakes and ale. Let not the name by which we call the pure and precious ones at home be brought in to illuminate a degrading feast.

Of the worst foes that woman has ever had to encounter, wine stands at the head. The appetite for strong drink in man has spoiled the lives of more women—ruined more hopes for them, scattered more fortunes for them, brought to them more shame, sorrow, and hardship—than any other evil that lives. The country numbers tens of thousands—nay, hundreds of thousands—of women who are widows to-day, and sit in hopeless weeds, because their husbands have been slain by strong drink. There are hundreds of thousands of homes, scattered all over the land, in which women live lives of torture, going through all the changes of suffering that lie between the extremes of fear and despair, because those whom they love, love wine better than they do the women they have sworn to love. There are women by thousands who dread to hear at the door the step that once thrilled them with pleasure, because that step has learned to reel under the influence of the seductive poison. There are women groaning with pain, while we write these words, from bruises and brutalities inflicted by husbands made mad by drink. There can be no exaggeration in any statement made in regard to this matter, because no human imagination can create anything worse than the truth, and no pen is capable of portraying the truth. The sorrows and the horrors of a wife with a drunken husband, or a mother with a drunken son, are as near the realization of hell as can be reached in this world, at least. The shame, the indignation, the sorrow, the sense of disgrace for herself and her children, the poverty—and not unfrequently the beggary—the fear and the fact of violence, the lingering, life-long struggle and despair of countless women with drunken husbands, are enough to make all women curse wine, and engage unitedly to oppose it everywhere as the worst enemy to their sex.

And now what shall we see on the New Year's Day, 1871? Women, all over the City of New York—women here and there, all over the country, where like social customs prevail—setting out upon their tables the well-filled decanters which, before night shall close down, will be emptied into the brains of young men and old men, who will go reeling to darker orgies, or to homes that will feel ashamed of them. Woman's lips will give the invitation, woman's hand will fill and present the glass, woman's careless voice will laugh at the effects of the mischievous draught upon their friends, and, having done all this, woman will retire to balmy rest, previously having reckoned the number of those to whom she has, during the day, presented a dangerous temptation, and rejoiced over it in the degree of its magnitude.

O woman! woman! Is it not about time that this thing was stopped? Have you a husband, a brother, a son? Are they stronger than their neighbors who have, one after another, dropped into the graves of drunkards? Look around you and see the desolations that drink has wrought among your acquaintances, and then decide whether you have a right to place temptation in any man's way, or do aught to make a social custom respectable which leads hundreds of thousands of men into bondage and death. Why must the bottle come out everywhere? Why can there not be a festal occasion without this vulgar guzzling of strong drink?

Woman, there are some things that you can do, and this is one; you can make drinking unpopular and disgraceful among the young. You can utterly discountenance all drinking in your own house, and you can hold in suspicion every young man who touches the cup. You know that no young man who drinks can safely be trusted with the happiness of any woman, and that he is as unfit as a man can be for woman's society. Have this understood: that every young man who drinks is socially proscribed. Bring up your children to regard drinking as not only dangerous but disgraceful. Place temptation in no man's way. If men will make beasts of themselves, let them do it in other society than yours. If your mercenary husbands treat their customers from private stores kept in their counting-rooms, shame them into decency by your regard for the honor of your home. Recognize the living, terrible fact that wine has always been, and is to-day, the curse; that it dries up your prosperity, that it endangers your safety, that it can only bring you evil. If social custom compels you to present wine at your feasts, rebel against it, and make a social custom in the interests of virtue and purity. The matter is very much in your own hands. The women of the country, in what is called polite society, can do more to make the nation temperate than all the legislators and temperance reformers that are struggling and blundering in their efforts to this end. At any rate, if they will try, they shall have Scribner's Monthly to help them.—Dr. Holland in Scribner's Monthly for January.

7 PER CENT. GOLD

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, COUPON OR REGISTERED, AND

Principal and Interest Payable in Gold, ISSUED BY THE Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Minnesota Railroad Co.

The small remaining balance of the Loan for sale

At 90 and Accrued Interest in Currency.

Interest payable May and November.

J. EDGAR THOMPSON, CHARLES L. FROST, } Trustees.

The Bonds are issued at $20,000 per mile against the portion only of the line fully completed and equipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending the bonds to investors, as, in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscription price may be looked for.

The Bonds have 30 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at an early day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties, at present prices, return only 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these Bonds pay 7 per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security for any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we feel obliged ourselves to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us after this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

All marketable Securities taken in payment free of Commission and Express charges.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

A KISS AT THE DOOR.

We were standing in the doorway—
My little wife and I—
The golden sun upon her hair,
Fell down so silently.
A small white hand upon my arm,
What could I ask for more,
Than the kindly glance of loving eyes,
As she kissed me at the door?

I know she loves with all her heart,
The one who stands besides!
And the years have been so joyous,
Since first I called her bride!
We've had so much of happiness,
Since we met in years before,
But the happiest time of all was
When she kissed me at the door.

Who cares for wealth of land or gold,
For fame or matchless power?
It does not give the happiness,
Of just one little hour.
With one who loves me as her life—
She says she loves me more—
And I thought she did this morning,
When she kissed me at the door.

At times it seems that all the world,
With all its wealth of gold,
Is very small and poor indeed,
Compared with what I hold!
And when the clouds hang grim and dark,
I only think the more,
Of one who waits the coming step,
To kiss me at the door.

If she lives till age shall scatter
Its frosts upon her head,
I know she'll love me just the same,
As the morning we were wed;
But if the angels call her,
And she goes to heaven before,
I shall know her when I meet her,
For she'll kiss me at the door.

BONE MEAL FOR POULTRY.—The following is an extract from the Report of the Poultry Committee of the Bristol (Mass.) County Fair:

"Last winter I procured two barrels of bone, intending to use it for Irish potatoes and other garden crops. My wife appropriated some of it for her roses in the flower garden, by simply strewing it on the surface of the ground around the bushes. The fowls have free access to the garden, and were discovered eating the meal very eagerly. Thinking it might be of service to them, we gave them some for several weeks, and I assure you it was but a short time before the eggs began to come in such numbers as we had never known before. If a nest was broken up to prevent a hen from sitting, it was but a few days before she was laying again, and thus it has continued to the present time. One hen has taken possession of a barrel that has some bone meal in it, and is laying in the meal. Whether she will lay the barrel full or not, time will show. My wife thinks that care and bone meal are great institutions for her poultry yard, and very extraordinary in their effect, but as the hen has an unusual amount of cackling to do, fears it may bring down bronchitis. The manuring of hens to make them lay we think is original, but we have no idea of taking out a patent for it, and hence leave the discovery open to the use of all who may choose to try it."

DIFFERENCE IN THE QUALITY OF EGGS.—The Journal of Agriculture says, though most farmers keep fowls and raise their own eggs, there are many who have not learned the difference there is in the richness and flavor of eggs produced by well fed-hens, and those from birds that have been half starved through our winters. There will be some difference in the size, but far more in the quality. The yolk of one would be large, fine colored, and of good substance, and the albumen, or white, clear and pure; while the contents of the other will be watery and meagre, as in the parent fowl, to properly carry out and complete the work nature has sketched.

In order, therefore to have good eggs, the fowls should be well fed, and also provided, during the months they are unable to come to ground, with a box containing an abundance of fine gravel, that they may be able to grind and prepare their food for digestion. Of eggs, those from the domestic hen are decidedly the best, but those of ducks and geese may be used for some of the purpose of domestic cookery.

—Rev. T. K. Beecher, of Elmira, N. Y., said some unpleasant things about H. B. Smith, just elected to Congress from the Elmira district. Smith remarked to him that those statements were conspicuously inexact. Beecher exclaimed, in decided tones: "Do you want to get up a quarrel with the Beecher family?" "No, sir," said Smith, "but I want to know if you intend to get up a fight with the Smith family?" An armistice was declared.

—Mr. Charles Allen Perkins, assistant secretary of the American legation at Lisbon, Portugal, was married on the 12th of November to Princess Dofia Maria Isabel Francisco de Bourbony Bourbon, daughter of her Royal Highness the Infanta of Spain, and a niece of the ex-Queen Donna Isabel II. and the ex-King Francisco de Assis of Spain. Gorry!

—The "Union Reform party" in South Carolina has been formally dissolved and declared a failure. The negroes would not support it.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, AUG. 15th, 1868.

ALLOW ME TO CALL your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo, Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any other in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle,) leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopaea, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 19 Years' Experience.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil; in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The constitution once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

Use HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Address Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway N. Y.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the glossy and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the person, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1870.

WAR.—Dijon has been entirely evacuated by the Prussians. Gen. Bourbaki was marching on the city with a French force so much superior in numbers to the Prussians, that General Von Werder deemed it prudent to withdraw his forces, and evacuated the city accordingly. Soon after the evacuation by the Prussians, Garibaldi entered the city, and his troops now occupy it.

The Prussians have lost heavily in battles and from sickness in the north and northeast of France. The villages are encumbered with German wounded. Great numbers of German soldiers are suffering from ophthalmia. There are 18,000 sick and wounded Germans at Chalons-sur-Marne.

The Prussians have captured Mont Avron, 5 miles from Paris.

The Times' special correspondent at Tours estimates the entire number of French troops now under arms and in the field acting on the defence at 750,000 men.

Gen. Bourbaki's command has been charged with special duty of revictualling Paris, and he has already on hand vast supplies of live stock and provisions for this purpose. At the proper moment this army will make a desperate effort to join Gen. Chanzy's force, thus reuniting the army of the Loire, which will then, with great energy, push forward for Paris.

New Hampshire Items.

On the 24th, at Milton Three Ponds, a fire broke out in the grocery store of Mr. John E. Twombly, also occupied as a post and telegraph office, which was completely destroyed, with all Mr. T.'s goods, books and papers. The fire caught from a defective chimney. Total loss $4000; insured for $1700.

Mr. George Bean of Candia lately killed a cow and found in one of her kidneys a yellow metallic deposit like gold.

A large portion of the Cocheco Mills, Dover, stopped on the 27th, for the lack of water.

Mr. Benj. French of Pittsfield brought to Colebrook on the 20th the hide of an animal which no one can name. It has somewhat the appearance of a caribou but is covered with a very close, heavy coat of hair much resembling fur. Its ears are much like those of a sheep only broader at the base, and a kind of mane grew under the neck. The front and shoulders are very light and the sides clouded with dark and light like many common house cats. Mr. French states that he found the animal with his sheep, that it seemed quite reluctant to leave them and followed them into his yard, where it was dispatched.

On the 24th, Mark Jones, a fireman on the Cheshire Road, fell from the locomotive while oiling it and was so badly injured that he died the same evening.

Keene has seventy-three names of soldiers who died in the war, to be put on its soldiers' monument.

Lyme has 25 residents aged over 80, and 98 aged over seventy, in a population of 1358.

An invalid daughter of Dana Sargent of Nashua attempted suicide on Tuesday, by cutting her throat with a butcher knife.

Dover had a real prize fight on Tuesday.

New Hampshire had fifteen country school houses burned this year by incendiarism.

☞ The dwelling of Emanuel Helpman in Allegan county, Michigan, was burned last Saturday, and three of his children perished in the fire. The wife and two other children were rescued through a window with their clothes mostly burned off. The father covered them with hay in the barn and rode a mile in the cold, absolutely naked, to awaken the neighbors and obtain assistance, when he fell senseless. He now lies in a critical condition, being partly frozen.

STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—The annual meeting of this Society was held in Manchester on the 28th, the President in the chair. The following officers were elected:—President, Natt Head, Hooksett; Secretary, Aaron Young, Portsmouth; Treasurer, George W. Riddle, Manchester; Directors—Warren F. Daniell, Franklin; Peter W. Jones, Amherst; J. W. Cogswell, Gilmantown; Robert Elwell, Langdon; Charles H. Hayes, Portsmouth; S. S. Chick, Great Falls; Nathan B. Perkins, Jefferson; D. F. Tillotson, Orford; Natt Hubbard, Tamworth; Noah Hardy, Nelson. The Treasurer's report was read and a resolution favoring a farmer's meeting passed.

"THE OTHER SIDE OF THE STORY." Under this caption, the Portland Argus publishes a communication from a seacaptain of that port, in which he says a word in favor of captains and mates, from which we make a few extracts. He says:—

I notice, nearly every day, an account in the papers of some captain or mate of a vessel being arrested or tried for ill treating sailors; and for an officer of a vessel to be tried now for assault and battery, is to be convicted. New, after sailing on the salt water for fifteen years, in every class of vessels and with all sorts of men, I have come to the conclusion that the fault is not all on one side, and I wish to state a few facts in favor of masters of vessels, which do not seem to be generally understood. A large proportion of sailors in American vessels are foreigners, many of them men of the very worst class. They come on board a vessel which is ready for sea, some intoxicated and full of fight, and with liquor enough in their luggage to keep them so for a day or two. Often they have the liquor without the luggage.

He pictures the troubles which officers experience in getting prompt obedience from their crews, and exposes the sneaking villainy of the thieving "sailors' lawyers"—the miserable pettifoggers who infest our large seaports by impartially robbing both masters and seamen, and closes as follows:—

Now what are masters of vessels to do? Cannot some law be made that will give the captain a right to enforce obedience in his crew? I do not believe in harsh usage to sailors—far from it. But I do believe the master of a vessel should have authority given him to enforce obedience to his orders, and not be obliged to pay over his hard earned wages for the support of such a set of land sharks. The picture I have drawn is not too highly colored. Every sea faring man in Portland knows it to be true.

We also know that the statement is true, and the picture not overdrawn; and we are very glad to have assertions that have been repeatedly made in this paper, vouched for publicly by a master mariner.

That the "American sailor" has ceased to inhabit our merchant navy, and that his place has been filled by just about the worst and most useless kind of a foreigner, is patent to all who go down to the sea in ships; and also that moral suasion will not maintain discipline among such crews as now man our vessels. As to the number of officers convicted of brutality and abuse of seamen, that fact goes farther to prove the amount of such work that is carried on than it does to show any prejudice in favor of the sailors—for not one such case in a hundred is brought before the courts, and even then every advantage that "striking the first blow" gives is on the side of the officer.

The Portland captain justly complains that most seamen are unruly, vicious and degraded, and not to be managed by fair means; and he asks if something cannot be done to help captains as well as to protect sailors. We answer, "Yes; annul the vicious laws that have driven Americans,—and all other manly, trusty and honorable men—out of the service, and left only the worst class of seamen to be slaves, and more will have been done to help good officers (by giving them good men) than if fifty new laws were made to still further degrade and brutalize the sailors under their command." There is some hope of justice being yet done to seamen, when even shipmasters complain that under our present maritime laws only the very worst men will go to sea.

—The lecture of Rev. Canon Walsh at St. Mary's church last Sunday evening, was one of the finest efforts of the reverend gentleman. The subject was wholly of an historical nature and gave additional evidences of the speaker's intimate acquaintance with history, giving many important facts connected with the great mystery of the birth of Christ, not generally known. A large audience was present, comprising some of our most intelligent citizens.—Exchange.

Prices Beef Cattle—Extra $12 50 @ $13 00; first quality $12 00 @ $12 25; second quality $11 25 @ $11 75; third quality $10 00 @$11 00; poorest grade of coarse Oxen, Bulls, &c., $6 50 @ $9 50 ℔ cwt, (the total weight of hides, tallow and dressed beef.)

Sheep and Lamb Skins $1 @ 1 37½ each; Calf Skins 16 @ 18c ℔ lb.

The trade this week for all kinds of Cattle has been dull and the quality mostly of an ordinary grade. There were a few Cattle which were very nice Beeves, and will cost nearly, if not quite, 14c ℔ lb, but with the exception of a few of that class there were but few extra lots in market. Prices remain unchanged and but few lots sold for more than 12½c ℔ lb, dressed weight. From Maine most of the Cattle were Working Oxen and Stores for which there has not been much call. The Beef trade at Boston has been dull for the past week, and butchers did not buy so readily as they do when the market are good.

Store Cattle—Yearlings $8 @ $21; two year olds $13 @ $45; three year olds $45 @ $65 ℔ head. Most of the small Cattle that are in a fair condition are bought up to slaughter. There has not been much call for Cattle to feed.

Working Oxen—There was a good supply of Working Oxen in market, the trade for which has not been very good of late. We quote sales at $165, $135, $180 $175, $145, $210 @ $230 ℔ pair.

Milch Cows—Most of the Cows in market were of an ordinary grade, ranging from $25 @ $110 ℔ head. Most of the Store Cows are bought up for Beef.

Sheep and Lambs—Extra and select lots $4 50 @ $6 50; ordinary lots $1 50 @ $3 75: Lambs $3 @ $6 50 ℔ head, or from 3 @ 7½c ℔ lb. The supply from the West was larger than has been brought from that section for several weeks; all owned by butchers. One lot of 130 Sheep and Lambs averaged 138 lbs each, and cost 7½c ℔ lb in Albany.

Swine—Store Pigs, wholesale 9¼ @ 10½c ℔ lb; retail 10 @ 13c ℔ lb. Fat Hogs—8000 at market; prices 7¼ @ 7½c ℔ lb.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Body and Its Needs.

Considering the extreme sensitiveness of the human body, and, that it is unprotected except by artificial covering, from the action of cold, it is not strange that at this season it is liable to many disorders. The skin exercises a powerful influence over the stomach and bowels, and when its functions are interrupted by sudden chills that seal the pores and prevent evaporation from the surface, internal congestion is apt to ensue. The digestive organs never perform their office properly when this is the case, and the waste matter of the system, which should be discharged in part through the perspiratory glands, having no other outlet than the bowels and the kidneys, constipation and a variety of renal diseases are more or less prevalent. Dyspepsia, where it exists, is also aggravated by these causes. The most effective preventive of, and remedy for, disturbances of this nature is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Acting as a stimulant and tonic, it rouses the stomach and the intestines, imparting to those important organs both activity and regularity. It also operates as a sudorific, by toning the skin and pores and promoting the free passage of exhausted matter through that natural sieve of the system. Being a mild diuretic, it gives a healthful impulse to the action of the kidneys, where there is a tendency to dropsy, and as a blood depurent and nervine, has a highly beneficial effect in rheumatic cases. It combines in happy proportions the tonic, alterative, aperient, antiseptic, diaphoretic and anthilious properties requisite for the restoration of a system generally disordered, and has no equal as a winter medicine.

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

HAVING for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is for the patient to avoid taking cold; and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even, and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville. It is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The cables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My advice for saving so many, that patients are liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly; therefore my advice is, go where you can be out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have mentioned, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or coughing; for those who have got very diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw an examination on average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the diseases fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take a vast quantity of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Philadelphia, nearly every day, using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c.! but they are not; they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know, that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and at the same time advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a free use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; it lays hopes of health. With a relish for food, and the gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a lessening of the lungs, and the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient is well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida, the question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking or mild exercise such as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The facts and testimonials published on record, that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured many hundreds, who seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will find almost every town some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

As far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its horrific effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have a bilious attack, too freely of fruit, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, or one very free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water, and eat watermelons, pears, apples, peaches, &c., or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live on salt provisions against scurvy and bile fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office in North Second St., Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9, A.M., to 3, P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can really learn whether they are curable or not. But it must be distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and the system is brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold; yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR. — With the present issue, THE DAILY CHRONICLE closes its record of the year 1870, and enters upon another year with fairer prospects than ever before. Our circulation has steadily increased, and we are pleased to know that our efforts to make the CHRONICLE a complete record of passing events, general and local, and our endeavors to discuss all questions of interest with fairness and boldness, are approved by our patrons and the public. We shall strive to keep the paper up to its previous standard as a family journal, and to still further improve it; and ask of our subscribers that they will assist us to keep prosperously on, by recommending the CHRONICLE to their friends as its merits deserve—we ask no more, feeling confident that we are not boasting when we claim that for the many who can afford to take but one daily paper, the CHRONICLE is the best that can be taken in this region.

Since 1870 came in, many changes have occurred,—great ones in this office. One honest and kindly old man, well known to our readers—Uncle Toby—has laid down his pen forever; but he was able to say, "I am ready—I feel that my life's work is done." His record needs no higher eulogy—his life's work was well done, and not soon will his memory fade.

A change of proprietors has also taken place since the beginning of the year, Mr. Frank W. Miller, to whose energy and ability Portsmouth is indebted for the establishment of a daily paper, having disposed of his entire interest in the DAILY CHRONICLE and THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE to the present publishers.

In the great world, vast changes have occurred. Spain has banished her dissolute queen, and an Italian prince wears the Spanish crown. Napoleon has lost his throne, and France has been humbled as no proud nation was ever humbled before, while German success has led to German unity and to placing an Imperial crown on the head of the Prussian king; and even as we write, the contest between republican France and imperial Germany goes on—for what, and how to end, we shall not presume to say.

Earthquakes, storms and other convulsions of nature have taken place, men and women have married and been given in marriage, children have been born, and death has rendered desolate many a home; wrong has sometimes seemed to triumph and right to be defeated,—and still the world rolls on, unheeding the petty strifes and joys and sorrows of mankind. What the coming year will bring forth, who can tell?

We close the year with no feeling other than that of satisfaction with the course taken in the past and of steady determination to continue the advocacy of what we deem right in the future. To our patrons and friends we offer the compliments of the season, hoping that 1871 will prove to all A HAPPY NEW YEAR.

I. O. O. F.—At a meeting of New Hampshire Lodge, No. 17, Wednesday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term:—N. G., Willard Sears; V. G., George W. Clark; R. S., Fred D. Akerman; Treas., John M. Clark. These officers will be installed on Wednesday evening, Jan. 4, by Moses H. Tilton, D. D. G. M.

At the regular meeting of Strawberry Bank Encampment, No. 5, held on Friday evening, Dec. 23, the following persons were elected as officers for the ensuing term:—C. P., Edwin H. Leslie; H. P., George W. Clark; S. W., John H. Locke; J. W., Daniel Perry; Scribe, George Annable; Treas., Isaac Dow; Trustees, Joseph B. Adams, George Annable, William W. Cotton.

☞ Work is suspended in the Constructor's Department at the Navy Yard to-day and all work will be suspended on the Yard on Monday.

We regret to hear that Chief Engineer D. B. Macomb has been detached from the yard and is ordered to the U. S. S. Tennessee at the Brooklyn Yard. The Tennessee is to sail for St. Domingo.

The order for discharging Mr. Daniel A. Hill, writer in Constructor's Department, has been revoked.

☞ Sleighs slipped about the city merrily on Friday, but out of town the roads are mostly bare of snow.

☞ Speaking of Streets, the Journal last week said that some of our city highways are not so good as country roads. Well, anybody well posted in such matters, knows that it is much more difficult to make or keep in repair, city streets, than roads in the country.

☞ The Christian Society held a Festival at their Church in Court Street on Thursday evening. There were two Christmas trees hung with presents, and the Church was finely decorated with evergreens. Santa Claus appeared and afforded the children an opportunity to see their Christmas benefactor.

☞ The new City Government will be inaugurated next Tuesday. Probably most of the present officials will be retained—at any rate, we see little gain in changing them. If the incoming Boards of the City Councils perform their duty as well as the last, we are sure their constituents and the public may well be satisfied.

☞ The Home Insurance Co. of New Haven has suspended. The officers have misrepresented matters and gulled the people. The concern is $200,000 out. The Home Co. of New York, of which John Sise, Esq., is Agent, should not be confounded with the New Haven concern. The New York Company is one of the strongest in the country.

City Council—Thursday Evening.

Petition of Hill & Carr for repairing part of Market Street was referred to next Board.

Annual reports of City Solicitor and Chief Engineer were received and accepted.

Voted, that Committee on Printing be authorized to have City Book printed as heretofore.

A motion to reinstate James D. Maloon as police officer was referred to Committee on Police, to report at next meeting.

Adjourned to Monday evening, at 7 1-2.

Common Council not in session.

☞ The absurd lies told by the Democratic organ in this city have become so frequent that scarcely any notice is taken of them. It has lately out-done itself in the lying line, and its own Exeter correspondent, who is also a correspondent of the Boston Traveller, in referring to it in the Traveller says:—"though the persistent perversion of the truth by that paper, in relation to the affairs of the Republican party, has become proverbial, few were prepared for the unblushing and palpable falsehood displayed throughout the article. It says:

The Radicals of this region held three nominating conventions in Exeter yesterday, and the stock of whiskey in that town was fearfully diminished. Citizens of that generally quiet place tell us that so many noisy drunkards have not been seen there since the war closed, as were drifting about their streets that afternoon. A number of the most excruciatingly loyal of them all, were so drunk that they could not or dare not go home.

Without comment, I do not hesitate to state that more brazen falsehoods never appeared in print, not even in the columns of the" ——.

And the correspondent tells the truth.

☞ JOB AND CARD PRINTING is neatly, promptly and cheaply done at the Chronicle and Gazette Office; and the patronage of friends in this line is respectfully solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

☞ ADVERTISEMENTS, whether transient notices or by yearly contracts, are inserted in both the Daily Chronicle and Weekly Gazette, or in either one of these papers only, as desired. And while there is no better advertising medium in this County, our rates are reasonable, especially to regular yearly patrons.

☞ THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE for this week, is now ready for delivery, at the Chronicle Office. Each number contains all the reading matter of the week's Dailies. Price $2 a year; single copies 5 cents,—in wrappers for mailing, if desired. Six copies for $10 per year, to Clubs—per mail or city carrier

90 and Accrued Interest.

Among their advantages are—

1st. The road is nearly finished, and the cars are expected to run across the State in 60 days.

2d. The road has been built only of the best material, the iron having been manufactured expressly for it, at a much higher cost than that usually paid.

3d. It runs through a most superb agricultural country.

4th. It has great advantages in carrying coal North and bringing lumber South.

5th. The Mortgage is only $16,000 per mile, while many other roads are bonded to double this amount.

6th. The road is principally owned by bankers and other capitalists, who have invested a large sum in its construction, and who have every reason to take care of its obligations.

7th. A First Mortgage for so small an amount, upon a road so near completion, and in such strong hands, may well be considered a perfectly safe security.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments, and but really First-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present. With any further decline in Gold, Governments must decline also.

Morning Chronicle.

Our Correspondence.

BOSTON, Dec. 29.

The "good old times" have been sung so often that our ears weary of hearing the praises of those semi-barbarous days when men lived in log-houses and wore sandals or sabots to protect their feet. For one, I must confess that I cling to the delusion (if delusion it be,) that the world is progressive. The inventive genius of our country is shown no more forcibly in its labor-saving machines than in the numerous appliances for the comfort of the human race that are being continually brought to public notice.

A small card in your paper advertises the Cable Screw Wire Boots and Shoes. I wish you might spare space enough for me to describe the various ingenious machines which are necessary to the production of this line of goods—goods that have won a high character for excellence on the Pacific Coast and in the more Western States, the manufacture having been first confined to the heavier lines of goods.

The wire, which is of brass, is made with four concave sides, and is transformed into a clear cut-screw by passing from one reel to another through a set of grooved rolls,—the reels each having a side rotary motion in opposite directions. The screw thus formed is very perfect and is of immense length.

The machines for soling boots and shoes with this wire are simple and compact, doing their work with a nicety and celerity that is marvellous to contemplate; but only to be made understandable by a personal inspection or a lengthy description. The advantages claimed for the cable screw wire are manifold. Being a continuous screw there is no ripping or gaping of seams as in the case of sewed work when the stitches are worn, until the boot is worn out; being of metal, the screws do not swell and shrink, as in pegged work. As each screw is independent, there is an angle for pliability between every two screws, and the stiffness of sole which is so irksome in heavy sewed goods is almost entirely obviated thereby. I say nothing of the saving in cost, though most people are eager to consider that point. The Shoe and Leather Record says of these goods that they are "not only superseding pegged and nailed work to a great extent, but are also assuming the position of a formidable rival to machine-sewed goods." The invention is now applied to the finest of work, and the demand for wire-screwed boots has been quintupled in the last ten months.

The thud of the ice-pick and the ring of the shovel has been heard on our streets all day; the sleigh-bells have jingled, and the carts have been busy in hauling snow from our crowded thoroughfares to the open space of the Common. Despite the frigidity of December and the bustling warnings of Boreas, old Winter settled down upon us easily last night, making phantom tracery of the most delicate nature of every tree and shrub; but the strong wind and driving snow of this morning robbed said winter of much credit.

Our stores have done a brisk holiday business, and the keepers thereof are jubilant, but their work is not done, for many who neglect or forget the Christmas festivities make good the omission on New Year's.

Among the really choice little gifts for a lady, the "Lady's Almanac for 1871," with its tasteful getting-up in blue and gold, its beautiful illustrations, and its convenient memorandum pages, is really worth more than a passing mention. It is published by Geo. Coolidge, 289 Washington street, Boston, and is sent postpaid for only 50 cents. Every lady will be pleased to receive this Almanac.

Fairs and dances, lectures and parties,—the whole round of winter gayeties,—are now in order. Our new city government comes in next week. Merchants are balancing their accounts of the year's business. Thousands are making the ever-made resolves for the better, ever-made to be, alas, too often broken. And so we look for the new year with bright hopes, high spirits, and confident hearts. How many of us shall look on its close with satisfaction? M.

—"Can I see you home?" said a Peoria chap to a young lady at a party, the other night. "No, sir," she replied, and the handsome he took kept a stomach pump going all night.—Detroit Free Press.

—A woman in Terre Haute glues her husband's eyelids together when he gets drunk, and when he promises better things she soaks them in warm water and restores his vision.

—Louis Joseph Papineau, a well known French Canadian agitator, has written a letter in advocacy of annexation and the unification of North America.
